MARKET PRICES CONTINUE PLUNGE

Truman Fears Crash Unless Prices Curbed

"Dollar Rationing" Urged By Anderson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5(AP)—President Truman warned the nation today that a crash is inevitable unless some way is found to curb prices.

At the same time Secretary of Agriculture Anderson asked all consumers to "ration their food dollars" voluntarily to bring down the cost of living.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that consumers have had to pay more and more for daily necessities since he asked Congress last November for standby powers to check inflation. As graphic evidence, he brought out a chart showing how living costs have spiraled.

For that reason, the President declared he asked Congress last November for standby powers to check inflation. As graphic evidence, he brought out a chart showing how living costs have spiraled.

Still Wants Standby Authority

The President declared he feels as strongly as ever that Congress should give the administration authority to deal with the situation. But leaders on Capitol Hill have shown no inclination to grant his requests for rationing and wage-price controls, maintaining that voluntary action by the public will accomplish the same objectives.

The President spoke against this background of events:

1. Prices on the nation's commodity and stock markets dropped for the second straight day. The President did not link his crash prediction with this development, saying that he did not know enough about it yet to comment.

2. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson met with representatives of 18 food producer and distributor groups to work out a voluntary rationing program.

Not only was the neighborhood butcher and grocer represented, but also the big operators—and the consumer.

Brannan to Direct Program

Specific recommendations are expected to come from the closed session on how buyers and sellers can best meet the problem of holding prices in line.

Anderson told the group that if consumers would voluntarily "ration" the dollars they spend on food items they could contribute materially to reduction in living costs. He placed special emphasis on meat purchases, saying that because of its relative scarcity meat is leading the upward march of prices.

No specific program of voluntary food rationing will be announced until after Agriculture Department officials have had time to study suggestions from today's meeting, Anderson said. When put into effect, it will be under the direction of his assistant secretary, Charles F. Brannan.

Senate Votes To Extend Oil Experimental Setup

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate voted today for another three year government experimental program of getting oil from coal and shale.

It passed and sent to the House a measure by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) which authorizes $30,000,000 for the work.

The Bureau of Mines has been carrying out such a program since 1944.

Spirit Of Mardi Gras Takes Over New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5 (AP)—The spirit of Mardi Gras gripped New Orleans tonight as the mirthful monarch of Momus led his 15-float parade through cheering, shouting throngs.

The bespangled pageantry marked the 78th annual appearance of Momus and his court. The gleeful god of raillery and ridicule brought with him a warm night to enhance the celebration.

Relaxation Of Rent Controls Recommended

Senate Group Approves Anti-Discrimination Bill

Wright Calls Meeting Of Mississippi Demos

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — A hotly-argued bill to prevent job discrimination against negroes and other minority groups won 1 to 5 approval today from the Senate Labor Committee.

It thus was started toward Senate debate, but may not get there until after anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills are considered.

All three of these have been bitterly fought by southerners, who were angered further by President Truman's backing of them in his civil rights message Monday.

The Senate Labor Committee action came as:

1. Mr. Truman chose to ignore, at his news conference, the attacks made by many in the South against his stand on racial issues. He left comment to the press.

Secession Talk Heard

2. Ninety-eight South Carolina legislators urged that southern Democratic leaders meet to "consider the national party question." Some of these leaders have called for secession from the Democratic Party.

3. Gov. Fielding L. Wright, of Mississippi, called on his state's Democrats to meet on February 12—Abraham Lincoln's birthday—to help bulwark "our institutions and our way of life." He said he would disclose at a meeting of southern governors in Florida, starting tomorrow, his plans for a South-wide fight against "the south haters."

4. The Army disclosed it is studying the question of whether negroes and whites should be in the same National Guard units. A new Jersey guard order forbidding negro enlistment in white units has been set aside by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

The Senate Labor Committee action was announced by Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) who voted against the bill.

"More Harm Than Good"

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told reporters he thought the compulsory features of the bill "in the end will do more harm than good to the negro race."

Taft gave this lineup in the committee vote:

For the bill: Sen. Ives, (R-NY); Aiken, (R-VT); Smith, (R-NJ); Morse, (R-ORE); Jenner, (R-Ind); Elbert Thomas, D-Utah), and Murray, (D-Mont).

Taft reported that the same lineup, except that Smith did not vote, rejected 6 to 5 a motion to remove the compulsory enforcement features from the bill.

EAMON DE VALERA . . . His 16 years of unbroken control of Eire's government threatened.

Eamon De Valera Battles To Retain Majority In Dail

Party Loses Four Parliament Seats

DUBLIN, Friday, Feb. (AP) —Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's control of the Dail (parliament) appeared today to have been whittled down by opposition parties.

On the basis of partial returns from almost all districts in Eire in yesterday's general election, De Valera's reigning Fianna Fail Party had lost four seats previously held.

The losses must be recouped in late returns if the American-born Prime Minister is to retain his parliamentary majority. The transfer of four seats seriously endangered his chance of gaining the 74 seats needed to control the 147-member Dail.

Although Fianna Fail retained its title as Eire's largest single party, its loss of a majority would open the way for an opposition coalition. This would include Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael, the chief opposition party; the new Clann Na Poblachta (Republican party) and the other groups.

Partial returns from virtually all 40 constituencies operating under Eire's complicated proportional representation system gave these results early today:

Fianna Fail—46 seats in the Dail.
Fine Gael — 17.
Labor —9.
Clann Na Poblachta — 6.
Independents — 6.
Farmers—4.
National Labor—1.

Action Against Builders Who Cheated GIs Sought

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5. (AP)—United States District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn said today he hopes soon to have the law on house builders who cheated GI buyers.

"I discussed the matter with the Attorney General in Washington last week and it is now under study for the proper action to be taken," Flynn said.

For Men Over 80 Only

BURLINGTON, Ia., Feb. 5 (AP)—Thirty-two Burlington men, whose combined ages total more than 25 centuries, were luncheon guests today of E. M. Denniston on his 90th birthday. Denniston gives the luncheon annually for men 80 or older.

GOP Vow Deep Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Republican lawmakers, with some Democratic support, vowed today to cut government spending by billions despite President Truman's prediction they will get nowhere.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) announced the decision of a Senate-House Budget Subcommittee to set a $37,200,000,000 ceiling on spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Bridges said such a figure, if achieved, would mean far more than a $2,500,000,000 cut in President Truman's $39,700,000,000 budget for the year. The Senator explained:

1. He expects Mr. Truman to ask for several billion dollars for items not now in the budget. He mentioned another possible billion for spending abroad, including aid to China and more help for Greece and Turkey.

2. Congress itself may put in some new items. Bridges noted that already there are in the works proposals for $500,000,000 extra for veterans' benefits and a new $84,000,000 Civil Service retirement fund.

3. To squeeze in new items under the $37,200,000,000 ceiling heavy cuts accordingly would have to be made elsewhere in Mr. Truman's budget.

Bridges and Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, told reporters there has been no decision on how deeply the European recovery program fund might be cut.

The full Senate-House Budget Committee will consider the subcommittee's recommendations tomorrow. Any estimates approved by the committee would still be subject to Senate-House approval.

Taber reported that Rep. Doughton (D-NC), a leading Democrat on money matters, agreed with the $37,200,000,000 target figure.

Bill Would Not Limit Boost If Tenant Agrees

Senate Group Urges 14-Month Extension

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — A Senate subcommittee today recommended a far-reaching revision of the rent control law, with no limit on the size of rent increases where landlord and tenant agree on a long-term lease.

It would run until April 30, 1949, which is 14 months beyond the expiration date of present controls at the end of this month.

Sens. Cain(R-Wash.), Bricker (R-Ohio), Buck (R-Del.) and Fulbright (D-Ark.) voted for it. Sen. Taylor (D-Idaho), fifth member of the Banking Subcommittee on Rents, was absent.

The measure, some details of which remain to be worked out, goes tomorrow to the full Banking Committee, whose approval would send it on to the Senate. The House also would have to act.

Cain, chairman of the subcommittee, was reluctant to discuss the bill before it goes to the full committee. He said, however, that it calls for:

Accent On Local Powers

1. "Improved administration" with more accent on local powers over rent increases and decontrol.

2. Elimination of existing controls over construction of such things as amusement parks and theaters.

3. Continued administration of the program by the Federal Housing Expediter.

Cain said the full committee must decide a number of "controversial points," including formulas for rent increases or decontrols, and whether permanent residential quarters in hotels shall be covered.

He said the four senators who voted for the bill regard the projected extension as the last one Congress will make.

"We are absolutely opposed to extending it any further," he said, referring to the April 30, 1949, termination date.

Under last year's revision of the rent control law, "voluntary" rent increases of up to 15 per cent were sanctioned when landlord and tenant could agree on a lease running through 1948. Some 1,600,000 renters signed up under those conditions, removing themselves from rent control. But 14,000,000 others didn't.

"Sky's Limit" Label Protested

Cain protested against describing the bill as a "sky's-the-limit" measure.

"That is not what we are thinking about," he said, adding that to get the increase, a landlord would have to persuade a tenant it was to his advantage to obtain a lease running at least until December 31, 1949.

He said that all proposals for percentage "across the board" increases were rejected.

"In too many instances they would provide too little," he explained. "In others it would provide too much."

Cain said he didn't expect any 100 per cent increases if the bill became law.

STALIN TURNED DOWN TRUMAN'S INVITATION TO SPEAK IN MISSOURI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Premier Stalin was disclosed today to have turned down an invitation from President Truman in 1946 to speak before an American audience.

The Russian leader had been angered by Winston Churchill's famous speech at Fulton, Mo., in which he criticized what he termed Russia's desire for "expansion." The invitation apparently was intended as an offer to the Russian leader of an equal chance to present his arguments.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross related the two-year old story in response to inquiries.

He said Stalin turned down an offer to come to the United States on the USS Missouri, to travel with President Truman to Columbia, Mo., and to speak at the state university. He was said to have felt the trip was too far.

Mr. Truman had accompanied Churchill to Fulton and had spoken on the same program.

Truman Declares UMT Best Safety Measure For U.S.

Prompt Enactment Urged By President

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. — (INS) — President Truman declared tonight that universal military training is the "surest single measure" the United States can take to guarantee its own safety and keep peace in the world.

The President's strong restatement of his desire for prompt congressional enactment of UMT was contained in a special message to the "Committee for Meeting of Citizens on Universal Military Training" headed by former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts.

Read at a mass meeting in the Seventh Regiment Armory, the Chief Executive's message said:

Anti-Aggression Steps

"The purpose which led me to recommend to the Congress the enactment of a universal training law was the preservation of peace. The future peace of the world can be threatened by an aggressor tempted by the prospect of easy conquest.

"It rests with the United States whether or not such conquest can be easy.

"Adequate measures of national security in this country, especially during the unsettled period of World War II's aftermath, are the one sure means of putting a stop sign on the road that leads to world aggression.

"While it cannot stand alone, universal training is the surest single measure that we can take to serve notice on potential aggressors that this country is prepared—and determined—to defend its freedom.

"By enacting such legislation at this session of Congress, the United States will take the initiative in working for world peace.

Choice Faces Nation Now

"If we wait until war clouds have gathered, we have lost that initiative. Belated national security measures are preparation for war. Timely national security measures are insurance of peace.

"The nation is confronted with that choice now.

"The vigor of our democratic society has safely brought us through two world wars for which we were tragically unprepared.

"May God save us from a final catastrophic conflict by granting our democracy the strength and wisdom to secure enduring peace through adequate preparedness now."

The President's message was read to the rally by former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, who is chairman of the National Security Committee. Patterson presided at the meeting.

Snow And Sleet Storm Expected To Envelop East

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—A wet and icy cover of snow, rain and a combination of the two started a slow move from Texas today, with the Midwest and the Northeast in its path.

The snow and rain mingled to form sleet in some sections as it reached out today to touch Southern Illinois and Indiana.

It will spread out tonight and tomorrow to cover most of Illinois, Iowa and Indiana and parts of Missouri and Kentucky. Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania will get a taste tomorrow night. The East will be affected by Saturday.

German General Plunges To Death

NUERNBERG, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP) — German Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz committed suicide today by leaping from the top catwalk of the Nuernberg prison a short time before he was to go on trial for war crimes.

His death did not delay the trial of 13 of his co-defendants — all of them former German military leaders. They were escorted into a United States tribunal to answer charges of crimes against peace and crimes against humanity.

The 64-year-old Blaskowitz broke away from a file of prisoners on one of the high runways surrounding the prison rotunda. With surprising nimbleness he clambered up a seven-foot wire fence. Then, as the guards watched helplessly, he threw himself over the fence hurtling 30 feet to a tile floor.

Blaskowitz died in the 385th United States Military Hospital. Doctors said his chest was crushed and his lung punctured by ribs fractured in the leap.

He was the ninth prisoner to take his life in the Nuernberg prison since Hermann Goering and other Nazi leaders were brought here in November, 1945. Among the others were Goering; Robert Ley, former Nazi labor boss, and Dr. Leonardo Conti, accused founder of an inhuman medical experiment program.

Pressman Will Resign As CIO General Counsel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—CIO officials said today that Lee Pressman will resign, probably tomorrow, as general counsel of both the CIO and the CIO Steel Workers Union.

Pressman, 41, has for years been prominent in shaping CIO policies and has always been identified with what critics call the labor organization's left wing faction.

The possibility of his resigning has been reported for some time. These reports increased recently after a majority of CIO unions rejected the third party presidential candidacy of Henry Wallace.

ERP Approaches Showdown Stage As Hearings End

Administration Will Ask Funds For China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Marshall plan for European recovery approached the decisive law-making stage today as the administration got ready to ask Congress for $510,000,000 in aid to China.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee wound up public hearings on the aid-Europe program. Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) called a meeting next Monday to begin drafting a bill which will authorize billions in United States assistance to 16 free countries and Western Germany.

Government officials disclosed at the same time that the Chinese aid program was approved yesterday by the National Advisory Council, top financial authority, despite strong objections by some members.

These officials said the program —calling for civilian aid only, in the form of food, raw materials and machinery—was almost ready for submission to Congress by President Truman within a week or 10 days. If approved, it would start April 1.

Council members who opposed it, officials said, argued that military aid also should be sent to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces in their war against Chinese Communists.

The council includes the Secretaries of State, Treasury and Commerce and the heads of the Federal Reserve Board and the Export-Import Bank.

As the senate hearings closed, one thing appeared certain:

The Foreign Relations Committee will recommend a multi-billion dollar recovery program.

The senators, under the leadership of Vandenberg, will write their own bill.

The draft bill submitted weeks ago by Mr. Truman, calling for guaranteed help until June 30, 1952, with a $6,800,000,000 appropriation for the first 15 months, is dead. Parts of it may be used in the Vandenberg bill, however.

Vandenberg hopes to have the measure ready for Senate debate by February 18. It then can serve as work-sheet for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which has been holding hearings on and off without adopting a definite timetable.

Turning Point In Inflationary Spiral Is Seen

Cost Of Living Dealt Long-Range Wallop

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Commodity and stock prices broke again today for the second successive day and some grain and business analysts expresed belief the turning point in the inflationary spiral may have been reached.

As nearly all grains crashed the permissible limit on all North American markets—and the New York stock market retreated to the lowest average level since June,—these were the major developments in the price picture:

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a drop in wholesale prices for the second straight week and the Associated Press wholesale composite of 35 commodities recorded its sharpest daily decline in nine months.

A. W. Zelomek, of the International Statistical Bureau in New York, said the price break may mark the turning point of inflation. He predicted a pronounced price slump might release a hoard of vitally-needed goods held by jittery speculators who had expected a further rise.

Confidence Dealt "Rude Jolt"

Ray Templeman, of Thomason and McKinnon, Chicago grain commission firm, said that "confidence has been dealt a rude jolt, bringing a situation that is not likely to be cleared up overnight." He added that the grain price clump "possibly reflects increasing doubts and apprehension that this might be the signal that the oft-predicted recession has started with our economic structure wobbling."

The commodity price decline dealt a long-range wallop to the high cost of living that will be reflected in retail prices if the trend continues. Wheat generally sets the pace for most food prices. However, livestock prices have held fairly firm and beef prices have been unaffected so far.

The .6-point average decline on the New York Stock Exchange reduced the total market value of all stocks on the exchange by more than $500,000,000. Yesterday's decline had wiped out roughly $1,000,000,000 in market value of stocks.

Manufactured goods should lag behind in any gradual price decline, being ruled by different factors. While raw material costs may be lower, labor and other manufacturing expenses continue high.

Wheat Repeats Performance

Wheat, the kingpin in the nation's commodity price economy, plunged the permissible daily limit of 10 cents a bushel in Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City—repeating Wednesday's performance. Prices took the full fall at the opening, attempted a feeble rally, and then slipped back again.

Nearly all other grains for future delivery broke the full limit in all markets on the North American continent. Rye fell the limit at Winnipeg, Can. Oats and barley however, held up better there.

Both New York stock and bonds continued to slide. While extreme losses were reduced here and there on the New York Stock Exchange, declines of fractions to two or more points were in the majority with

16 Slain In Palestine; Death Toll Now 1,071

JERUSALEM, Feb. 5. (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed today in continued violence in widely scattered areas of Palestine.

An unofficial tabulation showed 1,071 persons have been killed since the United Nations decided November 29 to partition the Holy Land.

Four Arabs who survived a highway accident were slain during the day in a bombing attack near Gaza in the south. Police gave this account of the incident:

A jeep in which the Arabs were riding skidded and overturned While the Arabs were awaiting assistance they were attacked by Jews in an armored car. A fifth member of the Arab party was wounded.

Truman Dodges But Says He'll Back Demo Nominee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — (AP) — President Truman balked today at coming right out and saying he will be in the 1948 presidential race.

He laughingly promised, however, to support the Democratic nominee.

By his stand, Mr. Truman followed the Franklin D. Roosevelt tradition of keeping publicly still at this time in a campaign year—although no other man is being talked of for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Truman was questioned at a news conference that was partly serious, partly jolly.

He was solemn as he said that the nation's economy will come down in a crash if some way is not found to stop the climb of prices.

But it was all good humored, when the discussion turned to politics. Mr. Truman didn't tell anybody to put on a dunce's cap, as Mr. Roosevelt once told a persistent questioner.

Mr. Truman was told that Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, was following the theory that Mr. Truman will be nominated.

The President laughed and said that was a good hunch. He modified this by saying it could be a good hunch. He dodged a question about his being "available for a draft" and laughed heartily at this one:

"Will you support the party nominee?"

He said he certainly would, that he always has.

As for what a reporter called "the jackpot question" on his candidacy, Mr. Truman said he couldn't answer the jackpot question this morning.

Navy Plans To Build 80,000-Ton Flattop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Navy plans to build the largest warship ever—a mammoth aircraft carrier of 80,000 tons.

Secretary John L. Sullivan disclosed this today as he revealed a radical change in the Navy's construction program during the next five years.

Instead of spending $308,000,000 on converting the battleship Kentucky and the large cruiser Hawaii into guided-missile ships, the Navy proposes a $230,000,000 outlay on the following:

1. The super-carrier almost double the size of the present giants—the 45,000-ton Midway, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Coral Sea. Bigger and faster planes will be built for service on the super-carrier.

2. Four extremely fast submarines. These perhaps would be patterned after the German subs credited with three times the submerged speed of American undersea craft.

3. One "hunter-killer" ship, somewhat similar to a destroyer, but larger and equipped with elaborate electronic gadgets to hunt down and destroy fast submarines.

The program also provides for the conversion of a 27,000-ton carrier and two submarines. Details of these changes were not revealed. Sullivan did say that one submarine would be an oil tanker to fuel other subs. But he did not indicate whether this would be a converted one or a new vessel.

Sullivan said the reason for the changed construction program was that the development of guided missiles had not progressed as fast as the Navy expected.

The Navy, however, is not discarding plans for future use of guided missile ships, he indicated. The Kentucky and the Hawaii will be stored. Both vessels are in the preliminary stages of conversion but no machinery has been installed. The Kentucky is now at the Portsmouth, Va., naval shipyard and the Hawaii is at Camden, N. J.

Market Break Developing Into Giant Question Mark

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The two-day price break in the nation's markets was developing into the world's biggest question mark tonight.

It could mean good news — or disaster—for the free nations that depend on this country for many of the things they need to keep going.

It could cause joy—or baffled rage—in Moscow.

But no one in high position ventured to guess in which direction events were likely to turn. It all depended on what prices themselves did—whether they recovered and went up again, levelled off somewhere near the present mark, or skidded rapidly downward.

One cautious opinion in Washington was that the second of those three things would happen — that wheat and the other commodities, along with stocks, might drop farther, but not much farther, and then find solid footing.

This would be welcomed by millions of consumers when the price drop—in food, at least—seeped down to them.

It would tend to cool off the potentially hottest issue of the presidential election campaign: High prices.

Each party has been blaming the other for the high cost of living but the Republicans, on balance, seem likely to gain more than the Democrats if there is moderate price rollback.

President Truman would be deprived of a key argument—that he told Congress what it should do to bring prices down but Congress, under Republican leadership, wouldn't do it.

And the GOP leadship could crow that it was right all along in rejecting price controls—if, that is, prices come down without controls.

Truman Fears Crash Unless Prices Curbed

"Dollar Rationing" Urged By Anderson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman warned the nation today that a crash is inevitable unless some way is found to curb prices.

At the same time Secretary of Agriculture Anderson asked all consumers to "ration their food dollars" voluntarily to bring down the cost of living.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that consumers have had to pay more and more for daily necessities since he asked Congress last November for standby powers to check inflation. As graphic evidence, he brought out a chart showing how living costs have spiraled.

The President declared he feels as strongly as ever that Congress should give the administration authority to deal with the situation. But leaders on Capitol Hill have shown no inclination to grant his requests for rationing and wage-price controls, maintaining that voluntary action by the public will accomplish the same objectives.

The President spoke against this background of events:

Not only was the neighborhood butcher and grocer represented, but also the big operators—and the consumer.

Specific recommendations are expected to come from the closed session on how buyers and sellers can best meet the problem of holding prices in line.

Anderson told the group that if consumers would voluntarily "ration" the dollars they spend on food items they could contribute materially to reduction in living costs. He placed special emphasis on meat purchases, saying that because of its relative scarcity meat is leading the upward march of prices.

No specific program of voluntary food rationing will be announced until after Agriculture Department officials have had time to study suggestions from today's meeting, Anderson said. When put into effect, it will be under the direction of his assistant secretary, Charles F. Brannan.

Senate Votes To Extend Oil Experimental Setup

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate voted today for another three year government experimental program of getting oil from coal and shale.

It passed and sent to the House a measure by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) which authorizes $30,000,000 for the work.

The Bureau of Mines has been carrying out such a program since 1944.

Senate Group Approves Anti-Discrimination Bill

Wright Calls Meeting Of Mississippi Demos

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — A hotly-argued bill to prevent job discrimination against negroes and other minority groups won 1 to 5 approval today from the Senate Labor Committee.

It thus was started toward Senate debate, but may not get there until after anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills are considered.

All three of these have been bitterly fought by southerners, who were angered further by President Truman's backing of them in his civil rights message Monday.

The Senate Labor Committee action came as:

Secession Talk Heard

2. Ninety-eight South Carolina legislators urged that southern Democratic leaders meet to "consider the national party question." Some of these leaders have called for secession from the Democratic Party.

3. Gov. Fielding L. Wright, of Mississippi, called on his state's Democrats to meet on February 12—Abraham Lincoln's birthday—to help bulwark "our institutions and our way of life." He said he would disclose at a meeting of southern governors in Florida, starting tomorrow, his plans for a South-wide fight against "the south haters."

4. The Army disclosed it is studying the question of whether negroes and whites should be in the same National Guard units. A new Jersey guard order forbidding negro enlistment in white units has been set aside by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

The Senate Labor Committee action was announced by Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) who voted against the bill.

"More Harm Than Good"

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told reporters he thought the compulsory features of the bill "in the end will do more harm than good to the negro race."

Taft gave this lineup in the committee vote:

For the bill: Sen. Ives, (R-NY); Aiken, (R-VT); Smith, (R-NJ); Morse, (R-ORE); Jenner, (R-Ind); Elbert Thomas, D-Utah), and Murray, (D-Mont).

Taft reported that the same lineup, except that Smith did not vote, rejected 6 to 5 a motion to remove the compulsory enforcement features from the bill.

Eamon De Valera Battles To Retain Majority In Dail

Party Loses Four Parliament Seats

DUBLIN, Friday, Feb. (AP) —Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's control of the Dail (parliament) appeared today to have been whittled down by opposition parties.

On the basis of partial returns from almost all districts in Eire in yesterday's general election, De Valera's reigning Fianna Fail Party had lost four seats previously held.

The losses must be recouped in late returns if the American-born Prime Minister is to retain his parliamentary majority. The transfer of four seats seriously endangered his chance of gaining the 74 seats needed to control the 147-member Dail.

Although Fianna Fail retained its title as Eire's largest single party, its loss of a majority would open the way for an opposition coalition. This would include Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael, the chief opposition party; the new Clann Na Poblachta (Republican party) and the other groups.

Partial returns from virtually all 40 constituencies operating under Eire's complicated proportional representation system gave these results early today:

Fianna Fail—46 seats in the Dail.
Fine Gael — 17.
Labor —9.
Clann Na Poblachta — 6.
Independents — 6.
Farmers—4.
National Labor—1.

Action Against Builders Who Cheated GIs Sought

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5. (AP)—United States District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn said today he hopes soon to have the law on house builders who cheated GI buyers.

"I discussed the matter with the Attorney General in Washington last week and it is now under study for the proper action to be taken," Flynn said.

For Men Over 80 Only

BURLINGTON, Ia., Feb. 5 (AP)—Thirty-two Burlington men, whose combined ages total more than 25 centuries, were luncheon guests today of E. M. Denniston on his 90th birthday. Denniston gives the luncheon annually for men 80 or older.

GOP Vow Deep Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Republican lawmakers, with some Democratic support, vowed today to cut government spending by billions despite President Truman's prediction they will get nowhere.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) announced the decision of a Senate-House Budget Subcommittee to set a $37,200,000,000 ceiling on spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Bridges said such a figure, if achieved, would mean far more than a $2,500,000,000 cut in President Truman's $39,700,000,000 budget for the year. The Senator explained:

1. He expects Mr. Truman to ask for several billion dollars for items not now in the budget. He mentioned another possible billion for spending abroad, including aid to China and more help for Greece and Turkey.

2. Congress itself may put in some new items. Bridges noted that already there are in the works proposals for $500,000,000 extra for veterans' benefits and a new $84,000,000 Civil Service retirement fund.

3. To squeeze in new items under the $37,200,000,000 ceiling heavy cuts accordingly would have to be made elsewhere in Mr. Truman's budget.

Bridges and Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, told reporters there has been no decision on how deeply the European recovery program fund might be cut.

The full Senate-House Budget Committee will consider the subcommittee's recommendations tomorrow. Any estimates approved by the committee would still be subject to Senate-House approval.

Taber reported that Rep. Doughton (D-NC), a leading Democrat on money matters, agreed with the $37,200,000,000 target figure.

Bill Would Not Limit Boost If Tenant Agrees

Senate Group Urges 14-Month Extension

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — A Senate subcommittee today recommended a far-reaching revision of the rent control law, with no limit on the size of rent increases where landlord and tenant agree on a long-term lease.

It would run until April 30, 1949, which is 14 months beyond the expiration date of present controls at the end of this month.

Sens. Cain(R-Wash.), Bricker (R-Ohio), Buck (R-Del.) and Fulbright (D-Ark.) voted for it. Sen. Taylor (D-Idaho), fifth member of the Banking Subcommittee on Rents, was absent.

The measure, some details of which remain to be worked out, goes tomorrow to the full Banking Committee, whose approval would send it on to the Senate. The House also would have to act.

Cain, chairman of the subcommittee, was reluctant to discuss the bill before it goes to the full committee. He said, however, that it calls for:

Accent On Local Powers

1. "Improved administration" with more accent on local powers over rent increases and decontrol.

2. Elimination of existing controls over construction of such things as amusement parks and theaters.

3. Continued administration of the program by the Federal Housing Expediter.

Cain said the full committee must decide a number of "controversial points," including formulas for rent increases or decontrols, and whether permanent residential quarters in hotels shall be covered.

He said the four senators who voted for the bill regard the projected extension as the last one Congress will make.

"We are absolutely opposed to extending it any further," he said, referring to the April 30, 1949, termination date.

Under last year's revision of the rent control law, "voluntary" rent increases of up to 15 per cent were sanctioned when landlord and tenant could agree on a lease running through 1948. Some 1,600,000 renters signed up under those conditions, removing themselves from rent control. But 14,000,000 others didn't.

"Sky's Limit" Label Protested

Cain protested against describing the bill as a "sky's-the-limit" measure.

"That is not what we are thinking about," he said, adding that to get the increase, a landlord would have to persuade a tenant it was to his advantage to obtain a lease running at least until December 31, 1949.

He said that all proposals for percentage "across the board" increases were rejected.

"In too many instances they would provide too little," he explained. "In others it would provide too much."

Cain said he didn't expect any 100 per cent increases if the bill became law.

STALIN TURNED DOWN TRUMAN'S INVITATION TO SPEAK IN MISSOURI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Premier Stalin was disclosed today to have turned down an invitation from President Truman in 1946 to speak before an American audience.

The Russian leader had been angered by Winston Churchill's famous speech at Fulton, Mo., in which he criticized what he termed Russia's desire for "expansion." The invitation apparently was intended as an offer to the Russian leader of an equal chance to present his arguments.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross related the two-year old story in response to inquiries.

He said Stalin turned down an offer to come to the United States on the USS Missouri, to travel with President Truman to Columbia, Mo., and to speak at the state university. He was said to have felt the trip was too far.

Mr. Truman had accompanied Churchill to Fulton and had spoken on the same program.

Truman Declares UMT Best Safety Measure For U.S.

Prompt Enactment Urged By President

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.— (INS) — President Truman declared tonight that universal military training is the "surest single measure" the United States can take to guarantee its own safety and keep peace in the world.

The President's strong restatement of his desire for prompt congressional enactment of UMT was contained in a special message to the "Committee for Meeting of Citizens on Universal Military Training" headed by former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts.

Read at a mass meeting in the Seventh Regiment Armory, the Chief Executive's message said:

Anti-Aggression Steps

"The purpose which led me to recommend to the Congress the enactment of a universal training law was the preservation of peace. The future peace of the world can be threatened by an aggressor tempted by the prospect of easy conquest.

"It rests with the United States whether or not such conquest can be easy.

"Adequate measures of national security in this country, especially during the unsettled period of World War II's aftermath, are the one sure means of putting a stop sign on the road that leads to world aggression.

"While it cannot stand alone, universal training is the surest single measure that we can take to serve notice on potential aggressors that this country is prepared—and determined—to defend its freedom.

"By enacting such legislation at this session of Congress, the United States will take the initiative in working for world peace.

Choice Faces Nation Now

"If we wait until war clouds have gathered, we have lost that initiative. Belated national security measures are preparation for war. Timely national security measures are insurance of peace.

"The nation is confronted with that choice now.

"The vigor of our democratic society has safely brought us through two world wars for which we were tragically unprepared.

"May God save us from a final catastrophic conflict by granting our democracy the strength and wisdom to secure enduring peace through adequate preparedness now."

The President's message was read to the rally by former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, who is chairman of the National Security Committee. Patterson presided at the meeting.

Snow And Sleet Storm Expected To Envelop East

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—A wet and icy cover of snow, rain and a combination of the two started a slow move from Texas today, with the Midwest and the Northeast in its path.

The snow and rain mingled to form sleet in some sections as it reached out today to touch Southern Illinois and Indiana.

It will spread out tonight and tomorrow to cover most of Illinois, Iowa and Indiana and parts of Missouri and Kentucky. Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania will get a taste tomorrow night. The East will be affected by Saturday.

German General Plunges To Death

NUERNBERG, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP) — German Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz committed suicide today by leaping from the top catwalk of the Nuernberg prison a short time before he was to go on trial for war crimes.

His death did not delay the trial of 13 of his co-defendants — all of them former German military leaders. They were escorted into a United States tribunal to answer charges of crimes against peace and crimes against humanity.

The 64-year-old Blaskowitz broke away from a file of prisoners on one of the high runways surrounding the prison rotunda. With surprising nimbleness he clambered up a seven-foot wire fence. Then, as the guards watched helplessly, he threw himself over the fence hurtling 30 feet to a tile floor.

Blaskowitz died in the 385th United States Military Hospital. Doctors said his chest was crushed and his lung punctured by ribs fractured in the leap.

He was the ninth prisoner to take his life in the Nuernberg prison since Hermann Goering and other Nazi leaders were brought here in November, 1945. Among the others were Goering; Robert Ley, former Nazi labor boss, and Dr. Leonardo Conti, accused founder of an inhuman medical experiment program.

Pressman Will Resign As CIO General Counsel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—CIO officials said today that Lee Pressman will resign, probably tomorrow, as general counsel of both the CIO and the CIO Steel Workers Union.

Pressman, 41, has for years been prominent in shaping CIO policies and has always been identified with what critics call the labor organization's left wing faction.

The possibility of his resigning has been reported for some time. These reports increased recently after a majority of CIO unions rejected the third party presidential candidacy of Henry Wallace.

ERP Approaches Showdown Stage As Hearings End

Administration Will Ask Funds For China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Marshall plan for European recovery approached the decisive lawmaking stage today as the administration got ready to ask Congress for $510,000,000 in aid to China.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee wound up public hearings on the aid-Europe program. Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) called a meeting next Monday to begin drafting a bill which will authorize billions in United States assistance to 16 free countries and Western Germany.

Government officials disclosed at the same time that the Chinese aid program was approved yesterday by the National Advisory Council, top financial authority, despite strong objections by some members.

These officials said the program —calling for civilian aid only, in the form of food, raw materials and machinery—was almost ready for submission to Congress by President Truman within a week or 10 days. If approved, it would start April 1.

Council members who opposed it, officials said, argued that military aid also should be sent to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces in their war against Chinese Communists.

The council includes the Secretaries of State, Treasury and Commerce and the heads of the Federal Reserve Board and the Export-Import Bank.

As the senate hearings closed, one thing appeared certain:

The Foreign Relations Committee will recommend a multi-billion dollar recovery program.

The senators, under the leadership of Vandenberg, will write their own bill.

The draft bill submitted weeks ago by Mr. Truman, calling for guaranteed help until June 30, 1952, with a $6,800,000,000 appropriation for the first 15 months, is dead. Parts of it may be used in the Vandenberg bill, however.

Vandenberg hopes to have the measure ready for Senate debate by February 18. It then can serve as work-sheet for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which has been holding hearings on and off without adopting a definite timetable.

Turning Point In Inflationary Spiral Is Seen

Cost Of Living Dealt Long-Range Wallop

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Commodity and stock prices broke again today for the second successive day and some grain and business analysts expresed belief the turning point in the inflationary spiral may have been reached.

As nearly all grains crashed the permissible limit on all North American markets—and the New York stock market retreated to the lowest average level since June,—these were the major developments in the price picture:

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a drop in wholesale prices for the second straight week and the Associated Press wholesale composite of 35 commodities recorded its sharpest daily decline in nine months.

A. W. Zelomek, of the International Statistical Bureau in New York, said the price break may mark the turning point of inflation. He predicted a pronounced price slump might release a hoard of vitally-needed goods held by jittery speculators who had expected a further rise.

Confidence Dealt "Rude Jolt"

Ray Templeman, of Thomason and McKinnon, Chicago grain commission firm, said that "confidence has been dealt a rude jolt, bringing a situation that is not likely to be cleared up overnight." He added that the grain price clump "possibly reflects increasing doubts and apprehension that this might be the signal that the oft-predicted recession has started with our economic structure wobbling."

The commodity price decline dealt a long-range wallop to the high cost of living that will be reflected in retail prices if the trend continues. Wheat generally sets the pace for most food prices. However, livestock prices have held fairly firm and beef prices have been unaffected so far.

The .6-point average decline on the New York Stock Exchange reduced the total market value of all stocks on the exchange by more than $500,000,000. Yesterday's decline had wiped out roughly $1,000,000,000 in market value of stocks.

Manufactured goods should lag behind in any gradual price decline, being ruled by different factors. While raw material cos's may be lower, labor and other manufacturing expenses continue high.

Wheat Repeats Performance

Wheat, the kingpin in the nation's commodity price economy, plunged the permissible daily limit of 10 cents a bushel in Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City — repeating Wednesday's performance. Prices took the full fall at the opening, attempted a feeble rally, and then slipped back again.

Nearly all other grains for future delivery broke the full limit in all markets on the North American continent. Rye fell the limit at Winnipeg, Can. Oats and barley however, held up better there.

Both New York stock and bonds continued to slide. While extreme losses were reduced here and there on the New York Stock Exchange, declines of fractions to two or more points were in the majority with

16 Slain In Palestine; Death Toll Now 1,071

JERUSALEM, Feb. 5. (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed today in continued violence in widely scattered areas of Palestine.

An unofficial tabulation showed 1,071 persons have been killed since the United Nations decided November 29 to partition the Holy Land.

Four Arabs who survived a highway accident were slain during the day in a bombing attack near Gaza in the south. Police gave this account of the incident:

A jeep in which the Arabs were riding skidded and overturned While the Arabs were awaiting assistance they were attacked by Jews in an armored car. A fifth member of the Arab party was wounded.

Truman Dodges But Says He'll Back Demo Nominee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — (AP) — President Truman balked today at coming right out and saying he will be in the 1948 presidential race.

He laughingly promised, however, to support the Democratic nominee.

By his stand, Mr. Truman followed the Franklin D. Roosevelt tradition of keeping publicly still at this time in a campaign year—although no other man is being talked of for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Truman was questioned at a news conference that was partly serious, partly jolly.

He was solemn as he said that the nation's economy will come down in a crash if some way is not found to stop the climb of prices.

But it was all good humored, when the discussion turned to politics. Mr. Truman didn't tell anybody to put on a dunce's cap, as Mr. Roosevelt once told a persistent questioner.

Mr. Truman was told that Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, was following the theory that Mr. Truman will be nominated.

The President laughed and said that was a good hunch. He modified this by saying it could be a good hunch. He dodged a question about his being "available for a draft" and laughed heartily at this one:

"Will you support the party nominee?"

He said he certainly would, that he always has.

As for what a reporter called "the jackpot question" on his candidacy, Mr. Truman said he couldn't answer the jackpot question this morning.

Navy Plans To Build 80,000-Ton Flattop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Navy plans to build the largest warship ever—a mammoth aircraft carrier of 80,000 tons.

Secretary John L. Sullivan disclosed this today as he revealed a radical change in the Navy's construction program during the next five years.

Instead of spending $308,000,000 on converting the battleship Kentucky and the large cruiser Hawaii into guided-missile ships, the Navy proposes a $230,000,000 outlay on the following:

1. The super-carrier almost double the size of the present giants—the 45,000-ton Midway, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Coral Sea. Bigger and faster planes will be built for service on the super-carrier.

2. Four extremely fast submarines. These perhaps would be patterned after the German subs credited with three times the submerged speed of American undersea craft.

3. One "hunter-killer" ship, somewhat similar to a destroyer, but larger and equipped with elaborate electronic gadgets to hunt down and destroy fast submarines.

The program also provides for the conversion of a 27,000-ton carrier and two submarines. Details of these changes were not revealed. Sullivan did say that one submarine would be an oil tanker to fuel other subs. But he did not indicate whether this would be a converted one or a new vessel.

Sullivan said the reason for the changed construction program was that the development of guided missiles had not progressed as fast as the Navy expected.

The Navy, however, is not discarding plans for future use of guided missile ships, he indicated. The Kentucky and the Hawaii will be stored. Both vessels are in the preliminary stages of conversion but no machinery has been installed. The Kentucky is now at the Portsmouth, Va., naval shipyard and the Hawaii is at Camden, N. J.

Market Break Developing Into Giant Question Mark

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The two-day price break in the nation's markets was developing into the world's biggest question mark tonight.

It could mean good news — or disaster—for the free nations that depend on this country for many of the things they need to keep going.

It could cause joy—or baffled rage—in Moscow.

But no one in high position ventured to guess in which direction events were likely to turn. It all depended on what prices themselves did—whether they recovered and went up again, levelled off somewhere near the present mark, or skidded rapidly downward.

One cautious opinion in Washington was that the second of those three things would happen — that wheat and the other commodities, along with stocks, might drop farther, but not much farther, and then find solid footing.

This would be welcomed by millions of consumers when the price drop—in food, at least—seeped down to them.

It would tend to cool off the potentially hottest issue of the presidential election campaign: High prices.

Each party has been blaming the other for the high cost of living but the Republicans, on balance, seem likely to gain more than the Democrats if there is moderate price rollback.

President Truman would be deprived of a key argument—that he told Congress what it should do to bring prices down but Congress, under Republican leadership, wouldn't do it.

And the GOP leadship could crow that it was right all along in rejecting price controls—if, that is, prices come down without controls.

Youth Is Injured When Hit By Car

Calvin Trail, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Trail, Star Route, Flintstone, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of possible serious injuries suffered when he was struck by a car while crossing Route 40 on Town Hill at 8:30 a. m. to board a school bus.

His condition was reported satisfactory after he was treated for possible fractures of the skull and right arm and multiple lacerations of the face.

State Trooper William F. Baker said the boy alighted from his father's car and started across the road when he was hit by a car driven by J. R. Hess, Hagerstown, who was enroute here to assume his new duties as manager of the Nichol's Insurance Company office on North Centre Street.

After striking the boy, the car crashed against a guard rail, he said.

No charges were filed against Hess pending completion of the investigation.

Mrs. Charles Dick, 44, Route 5, was admitted to the same hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of abrasions of the right knee and left thigh and possible head injuries. Attaches said she fell down several steps at 2:55 a. m.

Reported improving yesterday were Mrs. Marjorie Whitworth, The Dingle, who was injured in a car crash last Friday, and Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., 23, 208 Schley Street, who was hurt in a skiing mishap Sunday.

Wright Brothers' Plane Will Remain In England

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 5—(AP)—The Wright airplane that skipped over the Kitty Hawk sand dunes 44 years ago stays in England.

Orville wright never changed his will to bring back the little flying kite that he and his brother, Wilbur built and flew in 1903 for the first airplane flight by man.

He sent it to the Science Museum at Kensington in 1928 because the Smithsonian Institution put a card on the Langley aerodrome calling this exhibit "the first man-carrying aeroplane in the history of the world capable of sustained free flight."

In 1943, Dr. Charles G. Abbott, head of the institution, apologized and acknowledged the Wright plane to be the first. Wright then promised to have the ship returned. Wright died last Friday with the ship still in England.

His will, dated June 21, 1937, and never changed, was admitted to probate today and showed that he had given the plane to the science museum.

City Mourns Loss Of Outstanding Citizen

In the death of James C. Shriver, Cumberland has lost an outstanding citizen. Throughout his life he was identified in no small way with the advancement of this city through his engineering ability. He felt a responsibility for every activity in which his aid and advice were sought, but it was not only as a worker for the good causes that enlisted his interest that his influence was manifested. As a friend, his warm, genial personality and buoyant optimism were a source of delight.

Throughout his life, Mr. Shriver took an interest in public affairs. As city engineer he played a major role in the construction of the city's sewerage system, which he designed, and as consulting engineer took an active part in the building of the Evitts Creek water system. He participated in many other activities, all of which had much bearing on the city's progressiveness. He is believed to have been the first to advocate smoke control for the city, and during the past two years was a first-rank supporter of the campaign toward that end. His death prevents his seeing this civic undertaking brought to its fruitful result. He also was one of the leaders in paving the way for the Municipal Airport.

His whole career, in business, in public affairs and as the promoter of good and worthy causes, was the product of an aggressive personality. He possessed a spirit of friendliness, of charm, and an unending desire to be helpful to all with whom he came in contact, and it is as a modest, gentle, friendly, helpful person that a legion of friends will remember Mr. Shriver and deplore his passing. It is the realization of these noble qualities on which they will base their sense of loss.

Stalin says he does not believe 60,000,000 Americans are working. And if he could see their pay checks he wouldn't believe them, either.

Nuts To Elmer, That Confounded Groundhog

We are not all satisfied with Elmer, the Groundhog. His forecasts are all right. We don't doubt their accuracy. That's the trouble. We severely object to the kind of weather he has been dishing out.

Monday was a fairly decent day for winter. As a matter of fact, it marked the first time in weeks that the mercury went above the freezing mark, if our memory serves us right. The month of January was downright teeth-chattering cold, with the temperature averaging much below normal. Cumberlanders were beginning to think this was the Arctic, until Monday came along to break the siege.

But Monday was also Groundhog Day, and what did Elmer do? Why, he poked his head out of his hole, saw his shadow, and predicted six more weeks of winter. And judging from the snows which have blanketed this territory in the past two days he appears to have meant what he predicted.

If Elmer had a poor reputation for accuracy, things wouldn't be so bad. But he's too good. Cumberlanders have had enough cold weather for this winter. They want something more mild. In fact, they are good and ready for spring. If they never see another snowfall this year they will be happy. They will also be happy if they never see Elmer or his shadow again.

The Military In Government Of U. S.

Albert Einstein is a great scientist whose judgement on political issues has sometimes been anything by scientific. Yet the report of the Einstein Committee of the influence of the military in our civilian government raises a question that has troubled a good many men in Congress and elsewhere.

The facts are beyond dispute. There are approximately 1,000 Army and Navy men in civilian government service today. Most are in jobs of relatively minor importance but some hold key positions. A General of the Army, George Marshall, is Secretary of State. The President's personal chief of staff is Adm. William D. Leahy. A former Brigadier-General is Assistant Secretary of State.

Generals or Admirals are ambassadors or legation chiefs in Russia, Belgium, South Africa, and Panama. We now have 13 military missions, all exerting political influence, in South Africa. The services exercise a good deal of influence upon public and Congressional opinion. Much of the time of the 1,300 Army public relations men has been spent in working for compulsory universal training.

So much for the facts. But the interpretation of these facts allows for wide differences of opinion. Many of the military men are exceptional public servants. Their training and experience are valuable in some fields under civilian control, like management of the atomic bomb, and indispensable in others, like the occupation of Japan, Korea, Germany and Austria. While a few stupid efforts have been made by military men to control the American press, they have generally been promptly overruled by their superiors.

After past wars the American custom has been to treat the armed services like stepchildren, with grave consequences to the national defense. Luckily, both Congress and the public fully realize the importance of national defense today.

Militarization of our Government would, of course, imperil American liberties. But Congress, in its handling of the Kuter appointment and its coldness toward some phases of universal military training has shown itself not unduly influenced by military opinion. Finally, General Eisenhower seems to have scotched the recent thought that two generals might be candidates for the Republican nomination next June. With his statement, "Ike" not only removed himself from the race but tried to make things difficult for the enthusiastic but unauthorized friends of General MacArthur.

One Congressman says the word "billion" should be eliminated from statements of government expenditures, and 1,000 million used instead, as more impressive. Cutting off the last three ciphers in the first place would be more popular.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

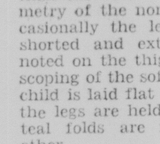
By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Dislocated Hip

MOST mothers and fathers want to give their offspring the best medical care especially if a defect exists that might affect the youngster's future. But all physicians have encountered examples in which the opposite viewpoint was taken.

Allen cites such a case in a 12 year old girl with dislocation of one hip. The child had limped for as long as she could remember and, without the knowledge of her family, decided to visit a clinic. The deformity was not only unsightly but was producback pains and fatigue. According to her story the parents had told her that she was born that way and must accept it and in addition that treatment was too costly for their meager income.



Dr. Van Dellen

Had the disorder been given attention early in life, complete cure might have been possible. But she had been walking for a long time, overstretching the surrounding ligaments, and causing irreparable damage to the bones of the hip. This was only the physical effect. Handicaps of this nature often encourage nervous and emotional disturbances. Furthermore, as soon as a youngster is old enough to realize the fact that the parents have neglected the situation, a feeling of rebellion occurs because of being denied an opportunity to develop normally. No amount of love or devotion can compensate. Sometimes the parents have not been entirely at fault but were victims of poor medical or non-medical advice.

No one knows why some children are born with one or both hips dislocated although many theories have been advanced. Early diagnosis is important; the longer it is delayed the less effective the treatment and the greater the chance that the little one will be lame. The majority come to the attention of the physician in the second year of life because the tot has difficulty in walking. Remedial measures at this time are valuable but if the condition is discovered promptly, the outlook is even better.

If only one side is involved, the dislocated hip is more prominent than the other and lacks the symmetry of the normal structure. Occasionally the leg on that side is shorted and extra skin folds are noted on the thigh due to the telescoping of the soft tissues. When the child is laid flat on his tummy, and the legs are held together, the gluteal folds are not opposite each other.

An X-ray will disclose the cause of these changes. When the child with one dislocated hip learns to walk, a limp is observed and he seems to lurch forward with each step. If weight is borne on the affected extremity it protrudes because it has no support. Should both sides be affected, walking is possible only by waddling back and forth. This is referred to as "sailor's roll." Such a gait leads to fatigue and back strain.

Youngsters less than six years of age can usually be helped by manipulation and casts. Others require surgery. Regardless of the method used, many months of disability can be expected and the type of care required can usually be obtained only in a hospital. This is costly but the expense should never serve as an excuse for not having it done. There are many societies for crippled children that are willing to assist in case of need.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

They are planning an auto show for hot rods in Los Angeles and, as for any other big spectacle, they will pick a queen. She will be known as "Miss Hypoed of 1948."

Hot rod . . . that's California's answer to over-population.

They are going to show some models that go up to a hundred. Of course, they will have the slower models that fly at only 50 feet.

The hot-rodders strip the bodies down to increase speed, and the new models really go to extremes. There is so little body left, the only way they can keep the raccoon tail up is to have a raccoon run in front of the car.

One feature of the show will be a pedestrian-hitting contest. There will be judging in the following groups: Ricochet . . . end over end . . . spiral and jackknife. All contestants will be penalized ten points for hooking or slicing.

I will hate to go to that show because it will be awfully stuffy. Those jalopies will fall apart if they turn on the air conditioning.

Hot rods are driven only by young fellows, and naturally Crosby has one. Of course, before he could buy it he had to get permission from his father, Bing.

A hot-rodder once took me for a ride. I don't know if we were going fast, but I said to him "what building did we just pass?" He said "that was no building . . . that was Long Beach."

Marriner Eccles Mystery Begins To Unravel; West Coast Banker Giannini Fired Fatal Shot; Where Will The United Nations Be?

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The mystery of who killed "cock robin" Marriner Eccles slowly begins to unravel. It now looks af if big, bluff A. P. Giannini, the West Coast banking tycoon, fired the fatal shot. In fact, friends of "A. P." say that when he got word Marriner Eccles was out as Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, he put his large thumbs in the large armholes of his large vest and boasted, "Well, I did it."

The reason for Giannini's hostility to the man who kept the American banking system on an even keel all during the war is well known in banking circles. Eccles, who comes from Utah and whose father owned several banks of his own, long has opposed what he describes as the "banking octopus of the West Coast" — the Giannini chain. To combat this "octopus," Eccles last year helped draft a new Bank Holding Company Bill which Senator Tobey of New Hampshire introduced and which was approved by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

This brought storms of protest from the Gianninis. One telegram sent by A. P. and L. M. Giannini called Eccles: "A bureaucratic despot, who is trying to suppress free institutions through the exercise of dictatorial powers masquerading as administrative discretion."

Eccles, however, was not discouraged. He accused the Gianninis of trying to monopolize West Coast banking. He told Senators that 40 per cent of all banking offices and 38 per cent of all the commercial deposits in California, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon and Washington belonged to the Gianninis. He pointed to 41 banks in the Trans-America group operating the huge total of 619 banking offices, with aggregate deposits of more than 6½ billion dollars. And he demanded of the Senate that this financial stranglehold be broken.

Even manufacturing firms, ranches, shipping, and retail business on the West Coast are beholden to the Gianninis, Eccles claimed. He argued that this is too much power to put in the hands of only two men.

Eccles also has frowned on the approval of Giannini applications for the opening of between 15 and 20 new branch banks in California, now pending before Comptroller of the Currency Preston Delano. Though Eccles has no direct jurisdiction over the applications, he has informed Delano unofficially that the Federal Reserve Board feels that further Giannini expansion would be unfair to independent competitors.

Also, Eccles feels that the Reserve Board has a stake in this latest Giannini move, since the new banks would be national bank branches, and thus automatically become part of the Federal Reserve System, if approved.

Bankers Don't Forget

Naturally, this was not forgotten by the two bankers.

It also happens that these two financiers have been potent backers of the Democratic Party on the West Coast. Their financial influence in party circles is not to be sneezed at. And it was the question of campaign contributions to the Democratic Party which finally tilted the scales against Marriner Eccles.

Sam Husbands, ex-vice president of the Trans-America Corporation, is credited with doing part of the Eccles meat-axing. Husbands, a former member of the RFC, is a close buddy of Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder.

Just how much John Snyder had to do with it isn't known. Truman swore that John was not guilty—which may have meant that John was only acting as messenger boy for the powerful Gianninis.

Note—In the end, the Gianninis won only half their battle. They didn't figure that Eccles would take the embarrassment of being demoted as Chairman and still continue on the Board. Actually, Eccles will still control the balance of votes on the Board, so the Gianninis' battle is a long way from won. In fact, Senator Tobey is now more determined than ever to pass the new Bank Holding Company Bill.

United Nations Back to Geneva?

There is a big hole on the east side of New York City where the United Nations headquarters some day are supposed to be. Meanwhile, a mysterious delay has developed and some say it leads direct to the White House.

One White House caller even came away reporting that the President favors movings the United Nations over to Gepeva —despite the prodigious efforts of Americans to bring the United Nations to the USA. The President complained that too many U.N. pressure groups have been bothering him.

Meanwhile, a hush-hush meeting took place on Long Island the other day at the home of Thomas J. Watson, International Business Machines' tycoon, to thresh out building plans for the United Nations. Present at the meeting were Mayor O'Dwyer; New York Park Commissioner Bob Moses; Bernard Baruch; Nelson Rockefeller, whose family donated the land for the United Nations headquarters; Herbert Bayard Swope; Jim Farley; Byron Price; and Fred Ecker of Metropolitan Life.

Also present were Senators Ives of New York, Hickenlooper of Iowa, and O'Conor of Maryland, the Senate sub-committee in charge of a United Nations appropriation.

Net result of the meeting was a decision that each member of the United Nations would pay up a proportion of the cost of the new buildings. Meanwhile, since the United Nations had no immediate cash on hand, a loan of sixty-eight millions will be necessary from Uncle Sam, to be liquidated out of annual U. N. income. It is now up to President Truman to okay this financial plan and send it to Congress.

Truman Remiss In Failing To Ask Repeal Of One Statute

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—If this is a week devoted to the glorification of civil rights, then President Truman was quite remiss in failing to ask Congress to repeal a statute which, under the guise of regulating "lobbying," really interfers seriously with the constitutional "right of petition."

Also the effect of this same law, passed by a Democratic Congress in 1946, is to permit bureaucracy to propagate propaganda in favor of or in opposition to pending legislation while interposing between private citizens and their government obstacles of harassment and interference.

Only in recent weeks has the far-reaching nature of the so-called "lobbying" law come to public notice. On the surface the statute seems to exempt newspapers and magazines. Actually, it does not, beyond exempting newspapers and periodicals from registration. This exemption, however, covers only one section of the law and leaves the press subject to harassment and interference by Congress in respect to other provisions of the same law, which calls for punishment by fines and imprisonment.

The law requires "every person receiving any contributions" for the purpose of aiding in the "passage or defeat of any legislation by the Congress," or for the purpose of influencing "directly or indirectly the passage or defeat of any legislation by the Congress," to file with the clerk of the House of Representatives an itemized account of all such receipts in excess of ten dollars each and the names and addresses of persons making the expenditure and the purpose of the expenditure.

The word "legislation" is defined as covering "bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House."

This is a sweeping prohibition, as the person who makes an expenditure or receives the money spent must assume that some day almost anything in the way of a public problem could conceivably be "the subject of action by either House."

The term "contribution" is defined as meaning the "deposit of money or anything of value," so if a newspaper receives money for paid advertisements discussing a public issue, it must file details of this item every quarter year with the clerk of the House of Representatives.

This section of the law is an independent entity and is not to be confused with another section, which also stands separately and does contain an exemption for the press from registering as lobbyists if they print an editorial or advertisement urging the passage or defeat of legislation.

But in this very section is a sentence which does tend to harass the press of the country by interferring with the collection of news from all persons involved in public controversies because only the sources which have paid representatives will be publicized and no reference will be made to the fact that organizations without paid representatives were also contacted.

This section of the law requires every paid representatives to file a statement under oath with the clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate, stating "the names of any papers, periodicals, magazines, or other publications in which he has caused to be published any articles or editorials."

The tendency may arise to avoid contact with paid representatives altogether so as to avoid the embarrassments of such unfair records.

The exact purpose of the provision is not clear but the general idea behind the so-called "lobbying" statute appears to have been to make it as difficult as possible for private citizens to get their case before Congress and the press.

Incidentally, public officials are exempted from the necessity of stating what articles or editorials they cause to be published.

There are statutes which forbid public officials from using public funds for lobbying, but they are never enforced.

The lobbying law requires not only the filing with the clerk of the House of all activities of paid representatives of organizations but also that this must all be printed once a year in the congressional record.

The citizen acting by himself is confined to writing letters. Yet it is only by organized effort that the attention of Congress can sometimes be obtained. Under the new law, every item in excess of ten dollars paid for printing stationery and envelopes, for addressing mailing lists, and for public meetings held anywhere in the country to discuss legislation must be accounted for by somebody and recorded. This includes the printers, the owners of auditoriums, newspapers and magazines and anyone who receives money in excess of ten dollars for uses related to the exercise of the right of petition.

There are plenty of laws safeguarding innocent Congressmen and Senators from being asked to take bribes or from attempts at coercion but it seems that the new law is not really intended to protect members of Congress from undue influence. It is palpably designed to restrain the citizen from exercising the right of petition, and this can be accomplished by a capricious and arbitrary law tending to make burdensome the free exercise by citizens of their constitutional right of petition.

People Entitled To Be Told What Is Government's Aims

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Are we already at war, or just a step or two away?

The request to us of the Greek Premier Themistocles Sophoulis for 500 mountain guns follows a familiar pattern. "Give us the guns," he seems to say, "and we will win the war against the Communist guerrillas." What next?

One of England's best informed men in public life, in private conversation, recently said, in substance:

"The United States does not seem to realize that it is at war. You have sent $300,000,000 to Greece, and military officers to help the Greeks win their fight. You recently sent Marines into the Mediterranean. You will have to send more money and military forces to Greece. You can't back out. You can't haul down your flag. Russia and the satellite countries on the North of Greece will resist. They will increase their forces, and some day there will be a clash. Then you will have to pour more men and money into Greece, and you will then have a shooting war on your hands. You will have to send millions of men to Europe. No one can predict when this shooting war will start. But you are in a situation which means that you are now at war because you can't back down. England backed out because she is no longer a first-rate power. You are the defenders of civilization."

That is only one man's opinion, but he has important contacts in and out of the British government.

I am one of those simple souls who believes the people are entitled to be told, with complete honesty, just what are the intentions of our public officials. There seems to be no reason for secrecy.

If we are sending shooting men to the Mediterranean and the Middle East, Russian military intelligence knows it. So why not expose the problem and the danger to the grass-roots judgment of the American people? Maybe they could offer some suggestions of value. Anyhow, they are the ones who pay and die, and have a moral right to be informed.

If our officials had never made a serious mistake in foreign policy, we might think differently. But we have seen the astounding naivete with which a half dozen men built up Russia as a "peace-loving democracy" into a greater threat to our security, possibly, than Hitler's regime.

Leads To Some Skepticism

This leads to some skepticism as to whether a handful of men should have the war-making power (supposed to be in Congress under the Constitution) completely in their hands, without the check or benefit of public opinion.

There was Yalta, Cairo, Teheran, Potsdam, the Morgenthau Plan, the betrayal of Poland, an ally, the forced surrender to Russia by China, another ally, of important territory and interests in Manchuria and Korea, and by Japan in the Kruile Islands. Not so hot. And at the end of three years, no peace anywhere!

Does the pattern repeat?—the 50 destroyers, the arming of Iceland, the "shoot at sight" order—all before Pearl Harbor.

In short, has the power slipped completely out of the hands of Congress and the people? Is the Marshall Plan a charity operation to succor the hungry or helpless, or is it an instrument of war?

If we are now as near to war as this Englishman thinks, the real question is whether we should give priority in the use of our assets to build up American defense or allocate them to international charity.

On that great question of our time, I claim the American people are entitled to full knowledge of the facts and to be heard.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Dear Humphrey Bogart:

Some time ago, I received a mimeographed letter from you in which you confessed to a foolish act.

It seemed to be a letter from a true heart and I accepted it on its face value. So I thought that I would be a good fellow and advertise your virtues. Subsequently, I received a letter signed by Philip Dunne and John Huston in which they assumed full responsibility for your admitted foolishness. They got you on the flying carpet from Hollywood to Washington to picket the Thomas Committee by beauty and glamor.

Now, no one forced you to send out that mimeographed letter. You did it of your own choice. You broke no law when you flew to Washington at the head of your gang. The right of petition is malienable. Every American has that right. In fact, an American may even be a Communist, if he chooses. It is a matter of philosophy and taste, not of law.

But you chose to say:

"I have never in my life been identified with any group which was even sympathetic to Communism.

"My name will not be found on any Communist front organization as a sponsor of anything communistic.

"I went to Washington because I thought fellow Americans were being deprived of their constitutional rights, and for that reason alone.

"That the trip was ill-advised, even foolish, I am very ready to admit. At the time it seemed the thing to do."

Those are very strong words and I assumed that you meant them. They sounded like the honest reaction of an American who had discovered that he had been foxed. And he wasn't having any of it. He seemed to stand up big and true.

So now I come across an item in the "Hollywood Citizen-News" which reads:

"'No one,' said Bogart, 'has proved there is anything wrong with the Committee for the First Amendment. Until such time as it is proved un-American and subversive I shall continue to be a member. If in the future it is proved un-American and subversive I shall resign.'"

Now that, my dear Humphrey Bogart, is begging the question. This organization is the one that contrived to get you to do something which you described as "ill-advised, even foolish." Do you mean to say that you do not resent that? Do you mean to tell me that you have no suspicions at all of an organization that gets you to do something "ill-advised, even foolish?"

You say in the "Hollywood Citizen-News" interview that you know nothing that would definitely describe the Committee for the First Amendment as subversive and un-American. Maybe so. But you, yourself, wrote that the trip to Washington was "ill-advised, even foolish." You said that you were sometimes "a foolish and impetuous American."

Well, there is nothing of impetuosity about continuing to belong to an organization that made a fool of you by your own admission.

I also note that you are to appear in a motion picture, entitled "Key Largo," directed by John Huston. The cast is to include your wife, Lauren Bacall, Edward G. Robinson, and, of course, others. This I take it is the same John Huston who described himself, in a letter to me, as the official spokesman for the Committee for the First Amendment. He made the point in that letter:

"Mr. Bogart and Miss Bacall were not, as you allege, 'stuck out in front,' except by press photographers," while the group was in Washington. In other words, you and Miss Bacall did not really count. You apparently hogged the show. Mr. Huston said:

"The official spokesmen at all press conferences held by the group were the two signers of this letter;" that is, Huston and Dunne.

Maybe it is embarrassing to you to quarrel with the director of your picture. Maybe you feel that if he says that you should stay in that organization, you ought to do it. Maybe your mimeographed circular, telling all, was also "ill-advised, even foolish." Maybe it was an impetuous thing to do.

You sure do get into situations. But don't try to fox me again—or the public.

He

He was always like a breath from Heaven—no matter when, or where, you chanced to meet him. He carried a smile with a proud air. His eyes were clear and always looked into you. He gave you an uplift. Defeat could never, somehow, find a place to lodge within him. There was always something triumphant about him.

Clouds would gather about him, the same as they gather about us all, but the sunshine always shone through! If Nature didn't part those clouds, he would do it himself. That was the way he worked out the magic of his life. There was no book formula about it all. He was the formula!

He always took the side of the "under dog." The short end seemed to him the most humane and exhilarating. It gave warmth to his sympathy and made him akin to the humblest of God's creatures. Both man and beast loved and trusted him. He was a type of friend.

You liked to meet him—and he never stayed too long. And when he left you, something of yourself went with him—and something precious of his self—stayed. There was something universal about him. He spread good influence, like the Sun does its golden, warming, cheering rays.

Stevenson knew him, and said of him: "He had a fresh laugh; it did you good to see him; and, however sad he may have been at heart, he always bore a bold and cheerful countenance and took fortune's worst as if it were the showers of Spring."

When he came into a room the idle chatter lessened, as though greatness had arrived, and instinctively people sought him out, to look into his eyes, to touch something about him, to grasp his hand, or to catch the hearing of some word that had a spiritual lift to it. So pregnant is the personality of one whose character gives birth to hope.

He spurned all tinseled display. He was modest in men, generous and just in judement. To him this was a good world, one in which to be proud to work and strive, and in which to be useful. He took life in its stride, and was happy because he distributed himself.

City Mourns Loss Of Outstanding Citizen

In the death of James C. Shriver, Cumberland has lost an outstanding citizen. Throughout his life he was identified in no small way with the advancement of this city through his engineering ability. He felt a responsibility for every activity in which his aid and advice were sought, but it was not only as a worker for the good causes that enlisted his interest that his influence was manifested. As a friend, his warm, genial personality and buoyant optimism were a source of delight.

Throughout his life, Mr. Shriver took an interest in public affairs. As city engineer he played a major role in the construction of the city's sewerage system, which he designed, and as consulting engineer took an active part in the building of the Evitts Creek water system. He participated in many other activities, all of which had much bearing on the city's progressiveness. He is believed to have been the first to advocate smoke control for the city, and during the past two years was a first-rank supporter of the campaign toward that end. His death prevents his seeing this civic undertaking brought to its fruitful result. He also was one of the leaders in paving the way for the Municipal Airport.

His whole career, in business, in public affairs and as the promoter of good and worthy causes, was the product of an aggressive personality. He possessed a spirit of friendliness, of charm, and an unending desire to be helpful to all with whom he came in contact, and it is as a modest, gentle, friendly, helpful person that a legion of friends will remember Mr. Shriver and deplore his passing. It is the realization of these noble qualities on which they will base their sense of loss.

Stalin says he does not believe 60,000,000 Americans are working. And if he could see their pay checks he wouldn't believe them, either.

Nuts To Elmer, That Confounded Groundhog

We are not all satisfied with Elmer, the Groundhog. His forecasts are all right. We don't doubt their accuracy. That's the trouble. We severely object to the kind of weather he has been dishing out.

Monday was a fairly decent day for winter. As a matter of fact, it marked the first time in weeks that the mercury went above the freezing mark, if our memory serves us right. The month of January was downright teeth-chattering cold, with the temperature averaging much below normal. Cumberlanders were beginning to think this was the Arctic, until Monday came along to break the siege.

But Monday was also Groundhog Day, and what did Elmer do? Why, he poked his head out of his hole, saw his shadow, and predicted six more weeks of winter. And judging from the snows which have blanketed this territory in the past two days he appears to have meant what he predicted.

If Elmer had a poor reputation for accuracy, things wouldn't be so bad. But he's too good. Cumberlanders have had enough cold weather for this winter. They want something more mild. In fact, they are good and ready for spring. If they never see another snowfall this year they will be happy. They will also be happy if they never see Elmer or his shadow again.

The Military In Government Of U. S.

Albert Einstein is a great scientist whose judgement on political issues has sometimes been anything by scientific. Yet the report of the Einstein Committee of the influence of the military in our civilian government raises a question that has troubled a good many men in Congress and elsewhere.

The facts are beyond dispute. There are approximately 1,000 Army and Navy men in civilian government service today. Most are in jobs of relatively minor importance but some hold key positions. A General of the Army, George Marshall, is Secretary of State. The President's personal chief of staff is Adm. William D. Leahy. A former Brigadier-General is Assistant Secretary of State.

Generals or Admirals are ambassadors or legation chiefs in Russia, Belgium, South Africa, and Panama. We now have 13 military missions, all exerting political influence, in South Africa. The services exercise a good deal of influence upon public and Congressional opinion. Much of the time of the 1,300 Army public relations men has been spent in working for compulsory universal training.

So much for the facts. But the interpretation of these facts allows for wide differences of opinion. Many of the military men are exceptional public servants. Their training and experience are valuable in some fields under civilian control, like management of the atomic bomb, and indispensable in others, like the occupation of Japan, Korea, Germany and Austria. While a few stupid efforts have been made by military men to control the American press, they have generally been promptly overruled by their superiors.

After past wars the American custom has been to treat the armed services like stepchildren, with grave consequences to the national defense. Luckily, both Congress and the public fully realize the importance of national defense today.

Militarization of our Government would, of course, imperil American liberties. But Congress, in its handling of the Kuter appointment and its coldness toward some phases of universal military training has shown itself not unduly influenced by military opinion. Finally, General Eisenhower seems to have scotched the recent thought that two generals might be candidates for the Republican nomination next June. With his statement, "Ike" not only removed himself from the race but tried to make things difficult for the enthusiastic but unauthorized friends of General MacArthur.

One Congressman says the word "billion" should be eliminated from statements of government expenditures, and 1,000 million used instead, as more impressive. Cutting off the last three ciphers in the first place would be more popular.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Dislocated Hip

MOST mothers and fathers want to give their offspring the best medical care especially if a defect exists that might affect the youngster's future. But all physicians have encountered examples in which the opposite viewpoint was taken.

Allen cites such a case in a 12 year old girl with dislocation of one hip. The child had limped for as long as she could remember and, without the knowledge of her family, decided to visit a clinic. The deformity was not only unsightly but was producback pains and fatigue. According to her story the parents had told her that she was born that way and must accept it and in addition that treatment was too costly for their meager income.

Had the disorder been given attention early in life, complete cure might have been possible. But she had been walking for a long time, overstretching the surrounding ligaments, and causing irreparable damage to the bones of the hip. This was only the physical effect. Handicaps of this nature often encourage nervous and emotional disturbances. Furthermore, as soon as a youngster is old enough to realize the fact that the parents have neglected the situation, a feeling of rebellion occurs because of being denied an opportunity to develop normally. No amount of love or devotion can compensate. Sometimes the parents have not been entirely at fault but were victims of poor medical or non-medical advice.

No one knows why some children are born with one or both hips dislocated although many theories have been advanced. Early diagnosis is important; the longer it is delayed the less effective the treatment and the greater the chance that the little one will be lame. The majority come to the attention of the physician in the second year of life because the tot has difficulty in walking. Remedial measures at this time are valuable but if the condition is discovered promptly, the outlook is even better.

If only one side is involved, the dislocated hip is more prominent than the other and lacks the symmetry of the normal structure. Occasionally the leg on that side is shorted and extra skin folds are noted on the thigh due to the telescoping of the soft tissues. When the child is laid flat on his tummy, and the legs are held together, the gluteal folds are not opposite each other.

An X-ray will disclose the cause of these changes. When the child with one dislocated hip learns to walk, a limp is observed and he seems to lurch forward with each step. If weight is borne on the affected extremity it protrudes because it has no support. Should both sides be affected, walking is possible only by waddling back and forth. This is referred to as "sailor's roll." Such a gait leads to fatigue and back strain.

Youngsters less than six years of age can usually be helped by manipulation and casts. Others require surgery. Regardless of the method used, many months of disability can be expected and the type of care required can usually be obtained only in a hospital. This is costly but the expense should never serve as an excuse for not having it done. There are many societies for crippled children that are willing to assist in case of need.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

They are planning an auto show for hot rods in Los Angeles and, as for any other big spectacle, they will pick a queen. She will be known as "Miss Hypoed of 1948."

Hot rod . . . that's California's answer to over-population.

They are going to show some models that go up to a hundred. Of course, they will have the slower models that fly at only 50 feet.

The hot-rodders strip the bodies down to increase speed, and the new models really go to extremes. There is so little body left, the only way they can keep the raccoon tail up is to have a raccoon run in front of the car.

One feature of the show will be a pedestrian-hitting contest. There will be judging in the following groups: Ricochet . . . end over end . . . spiral and jackknife. All contestants will be penalized ten points for hooking or slicing.

I will hate to go to that show because it will be awfully stuffy. Those jalopies will fall apart if they turn on the air conditioning.

Hot rods are driven only by young fellows, and naturally Crosby has one. Of course, before he could buy it he had to get permission from his father, Bing.

A hot-rodder once took me for a ride. I don't know if we were going fast, but I said to him "what building did we just pass?" He said "that was no building . . . that was Long Beach."

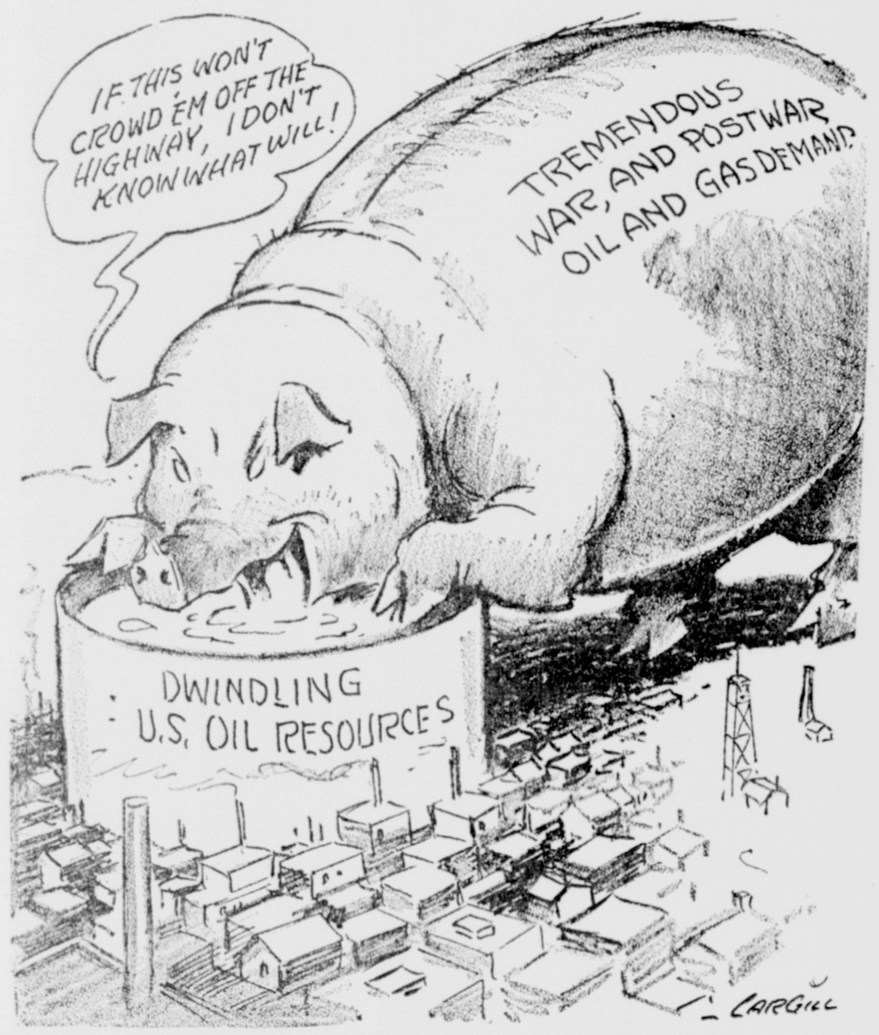
THE NEW ROAD HOG



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The mystery of who killed "cock robin" Marriner Eccles slowly begins to unravel. It now looks af if big, bluff A. P. Giannini, the West Coast banking tycoon, fired the fatal shot. In fact, friends of "A. P." say that when he got word Marriner Eccles was out as Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, he put his large thumbs in the large armholes of his large vest and boasted, "Well, I did it."

The reason for Giannini's hostility to the man who kept the American banking system on an even keel all during the war is well known in banking circles. Eccles, who comes from Utah and whose father owned several banks of his own, long has opposed what he describes as the "banking octopus of the West Coast" — the Giannini chain. To combat this "octopus," Eccles last year helped draft a new Bank Holding Company bill which Senator Tobey of New Hampshire introduced and which was approved by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

This brought storms of protest from the Gianninis. One telegram sent by A. P. and L. M. Giannini called Eccles: "A bureaucratic despot, who is trying to suppress free institutions through the exercise of dictatorial powers masquerading as administrative discretion."

Eccles, however, was not discouraged. He accused the Gianninis of trying to monopolize West Coast banking. He told Senators that 40 per cent of all banking offices and 38 per cent of all the commercial deposits in California, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon and Washington belonged to the Gianninis. He pointed to 41 banks in the Trans-America group operating the huge total of 619 banking offices, with aggregate deposits of more than 6½ billion dollars. And he demanded of the Senate that this financial stranglehold be broken.

Even manufacturing firms, ranches, shipping, and retail business on the West Coast [illegible] beholden to the Gianninis, Eccles claimed. He [illegible] this is too much power to put in the hands of only two men.

Eccles also has frowned on the approval of Giannini applications for the opening of between 15 and 20 new branch banks in California, now pending before Comptroller of the Currency Preston Delano. Though Eccles has no direct jurisdiction over the applications, he has informed Delano unofficially that the Federal Reserve Board feels that further Giannini expansion would be unfair to independent competitors.

Also, Eccles feels that the Reserve Board has a stake in this latest Giannini move, since the new banks would be national bank branches, and thus automatically become part of the Federal Reserve System, if approved.

Bankers Don't Forget

Naturally, this was not forgotten by the two bankers.

It also happens that these two financiers have been potent backers of the Democratic Party on the West Coast. Their financial influence in party circles is not to be sneezed at. And it was the question of campaign contributions to the Democratic Party which finally tilted the scales against Marriner Eccles.

Sam Husbands, ex-vice president of the Trans-America Corporation, is credited with doing part of the Eccles meat-axing. Husbands, a former member of the RFC, is a close buddy of Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder.

Just how much John Snyder had to do with it isn't known. Truman swore that John was not guilty—which may have meant that John was only acting as messenger boy for the powerful Gianninis.

Note—In the end, the Gianninis won only half their battle. They didn't figure that Eccles would take the embarrassment of being demoted as Chairman and still continue on the Board. Actually, Eccles will still control the balance of votes on the Board, so the Gianninis' battle is a long way from won. In fact, Senator Tobey is now more determined than ever to pass the new Bank Holding Company Bill.

United Nations Back to Geneva?

There is a big hole on the east side of New York City where the United Nations headquarters some day are supposed to be. Meanwhile, a mysterious delay has developed and some say it leads direct to the White House.

One White House caller even came away reporting that the President favors movings the United Nations over to Gepeva —despite the prodigious efforts of Americans to bring the United Nations to the USA. The President complained that too many U.N. pressure groups have been bothering him.

Meanwhile, a hush-hush meeting took place on Long Island the other day at the home of Thomas J. Watson, International Business Machines' tycoon, to thresh out building plans for the United Nations. Present at the meeting were Mayor O'Dwyer; New York Park Commissioner Bob Moses; Bernard Baruch; Nelson Rockefeller, whose family donated the land for the United Nations headquarters; Herbert Bayard Swope; Jim Farley; Byron Price; and Fred Ecker of Metropolitan Life.

Also present were Senators Ives of New York, Hickenlooper of Iowa, and O'Conor of Maryland, the Senate sub-committee in charge of a United Nations appropriation.

Net result of the meeting was a decision that each member of the United Nations would pay up a proportion of the cost of the new buildings. Meanwhile, since the United Nations had no immediate cash on hand, a loan of sixty-eight millions will be necessary from Uncle Sam, to be liquidated out of annual U. N. income. It is now up to President Truman to okay this financial plan and send it to Congress.

Truman Remiss In Failing To Ask Repeal Of One Statute

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—If this is a week devoted to the glorification of civil rights, then President Truman was quite remiss in failing to ask Congress to repeal a statute which, under the guise of regulating "lobbying," really interfers seriously with the constitutional "right of petition."

Also the effect of this same law, passed by a Democratic Congress in 1946, is to permit bureaucracy to propagate propaganda in favor of or in opposition to pending legislation while interposing between private citizens and their government obstacles of harassment and interference.

Only in recent weeks has the far-reaching nature of the so-called "lobbying" law come to public notice. On the surface the statute seems to exempt newspapers and magazines. Actually, it does not, beyond exempting newspapers and periodicals from registration. This exemption, however, covers only one section of the law and leaves the press subject to harassment and interference by Congress in respect to other provisions of the same law, which calls for punishment by fines and imprisonment.

The law requires "every person receiving any contributions" for the purpose of aiding in the "passage or defeat of any legislation by the Congress," or for the purpose of influencing "directly or indirectly the passage or defeat of any legislation by the Congress," to file with the clerk of the House of Representatives an itemized account of all such receipts in excess of ten dollars each and the names and addresses of persons making the expenditure and the purpose of the expenditure.

The word "legislation" is defined as covering "bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House."

This is a sweeping prohibition, as the person who makes an expenditure or receives the money spent must assume that some day almost anything in the way of a public problem could conceivably be "the subject of action by either House."

The term "contribution" is defined as meaning the "deposit of money or anything of value," so if a newspaper receives money for paid advertisements discussing a public issue, it must file details of this item every quarter year with the clerk of the House of Representatives.

This section of the law is an independent entity and is not to be confused with another section, which also stands separately and does contain an exemption for the press from registering as lobbyists if they print an editorial or advertisement urging the passage or defeat of legislation.

But in this very section is a sentence which does tend to harass the press of the country by interferring with the collection of news from all persons involved in public controversies because only the sources which have paid representatives will be publicized and no reference will be made to the fact that organizations without paid representatives were also contacted.

This section of the law requires every paid representatives to file a statement under oath with the clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate, stating "the names of any papers, periodicals, magazines, or other publications in which he has caused to be published any articles or editorials."

The tendency may arise to avoid contact with paid representatives altogether so as to avoid the embarrassments of such unfair records.

The exact purpose of the provision is not clear but the general idea behind the so-called "lobbying" statute appears to have been to make it as difficult as possible for private citizens to get their case before Congress and the press.

Incidentally, public officials are exempted from the necessity of stating what articles or editorials they cause to be published.

There are statutes which forbid public officials from using public funds for lobbying, but they are never enforced.

The lobbying law requires not only the filing with the clerk of the House of all activities of paid representatives of organizations but also that this must all be printed once a year in the congressional record.

The citizen acting by himself is confined to writing letters. Yet it is only by organized effort that the attention of Congress can sometimes be obtained. Under the new law, every item in excess of ten dollars paid for printing stationery and envelopes, for addressing mailing lists, and for public meetings held anywhere in the country to discuss legislation must be accounted for by somebody and recorded. This includes the printers, the owners of auditoriums, newspapers and magazines and anyone who receives money in excess of ten dollars for uses related to the exercise of the right of petition.

There are plenty of laws safeguarding innocent Congressmen and Senators from being asked to take bribes or from attempts at coercion but it seems that the new law is not really intended to protect members of Congress from undue influence. It is palpably designed to restrain the citizen from exercising the right of petition, and this can be accomplished by a capricious and arbitrary law tending to make burdensome the free exercise by citizens of their constitutional right of petition.

People Entitled To Be Told What Is Government's Aims

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Are we already at war, or just a step or two away?

The request to us of the Greek Premier Themistocles Sophoulis for 500 mountain guns follows a familiar pattern. "Give us the guns," he seems to say, "and we will win the war against the Communist guerrillas." What next?

One of England's best informed men in public life, in private conversation, recently said, in substance:

"The United States does not seem to realize that it is at war. You have sent $300,000,000 to Greece, and military officers to help the Greeks win their fight. You recently sent Marines into the Mediterranean. You will have to send more money and military forces to Greece. You can't back out. You can't haul down your flag. Russia and the satellite countries on the North of Greece will resist. They will increase their forces, and some day there will be a clash. Then you will have to pour more men and money into Greece, and you will then have a shooting war on your hands. You will have to send millions of men to Europe. No one can predict when this shooting war will start. But you are in a situation which means that you are now at war because you can't back down. England backed out because she is no longer a first-rate power. You are the defenders of civilization."

That is only one man's opinion, but he has important contacts in and out of the British government.

I am one of those simple souls who believes the people are entitled to be told, with complete honesty, just what are the intentions of our public officials. There seems to be no reason for secrecy.

If we are sending shooting men to the Mediterranean and the Middle East, Russian military intelligence knows it. So why not expose the problem and the danger to the grass-roots judgment of the American people? Maybe they could offer some suggestions of value. Anyhow, they are the ones who pay and die, and have a moral right to be informed.

If our officials had never made a serious mistake in foreign policy, we might think differently. But we have seen the astounding naivete with which a half dozen men built up Russia as a "peace-loving democracy" into a greater threat to our security, possibly, than Hitler's regime.

Leads To Some Skepticism

This leads to some skepticism as to whether a handful of men should have the war-making power (supposed to be in Congress under the Constitution) completely in their hands, without the check or benefit of public opinion.

There was Yalta, Cairo, Teheran, Potsdam, the Morgenthau Plan, the betrayal of Poland, an ally, the forced surrender to Russia by China, another ally, of important territory and interests in Manchuria and Korea, and by Japan in the Kruile Islands. Not so hot. And at the end of three years, no peace anywhere!

Does the pattern repeat?—the 50 destroyers, the arming of Iceland, the "shoot at sight" order—all before Pearl Harbor.

In short, has the power slipped completely out of the hands of Congress and the people? Is the Marshall Plan a charity operation to succor the hungry or helpless, or is it an instrument of war?

If we are now as near to war as this Englishman thinks, the real question is whether we should give priority in the use of our assets to build up American defense or allocate them to international charity.

On that great question of our time, I claim the American people are entitled to full knowledge of the facts and to be heard.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Dear Humphrey Bogart:

Some time ago, I received a mimeographed letter from you in which you confessed to a foolish act.

It seemed to be a letter from a true heart and I accepted it on its face value. So I thought that I would be a good fellow and advertise your virtues. Subsequently, I received a letter signed by Philip Dunne and John Huston in which they assumed full responsibility for your admitted foolishness. They got you on the flying carpet from Hollywood to Washington to picket the Thomas Committee by beauty and glamor.

Now, no one forced you to send out that mimeographed letter. You did it of your own choice. You broke no law when you flew to Washington at the head of your gang. The right of petition is inalienable. Every American has that right. In fact, an American may even be a Communist, if he chooses. It is a matter of philosophy and taste, not of law.

But you chose to say:

"I have never in my life been identified with any group which was even sympathetic to Communism.

"My name will not be found on any Communist front organization as a sponsor of anything communistic.

"I went to Washington because I thought fellow Americans were being deprived of their constitutional rights, and for that reason alone.

"That the trip was ill-advised, even foolish, I am very ready to admit. At the time it seemed the thing to do."

Those are very strong words and I assumed that you meant them. They sounded like the honest reaction of an American who had discovered that he had been foxed. And he wasn't having any of it. He seemed to stand up big and true.

So now I come across an item in the "Hollywood Citizen-News" which reads:

"'No one,' said Bogart, 'has proved there is anything wrong with the Committee for the First Amendment. Until such time as it is proved un-American and subversive I shall continue to be a member. If in the future it is proved un-American and subversive I shall resign.'"

Now that, my dear Humphrey Bogart, is begging the question. This organization is the one that contrived to get you to do something which you described as "ill-advised, even foolish." Do you mean to say that you do not resent that? Do you mean to tell me that you have no suspicions at all of an organization that gets you to do something "ill-advised, even foolish?"

You say in the "Hollywood Citizen-News" interview that you know nothing that would definitely describe the Committee for the First Amendment as subversive and un-American. Maybe so. But you, yourself, wrote that the trip to Washington was "ill-advised, even foolish." You said that you were sometimes "a foolish and impetuous American."

Well, there is nothing of impetuosity about continuing to belong to an organization that made a fool of you by your own admission.

I also note that you are to appear in a motion picture, entitled "Key Largo," directed by John Huston. The cast is to include your wife, Lauren Bacall, Edward G. Robinson, and, of course, others. This I take it is the same John Huston who described himself, in a letter to me, as the official spokesman for the Committee for the First Amendment. He made the point in that letter:

"Mr. Bogart and Miss Bacall were not, as you allege, 'stuck out in front,' except by press photographers," while the group was in Washington. In other words, you and Miss Bacall did not really count. You apparently hogged the show. Mr. Huston said:

"The official spokesmen at all press conferences held by the group were the two signers of this letter;" that is, Huston and Dunne.

Maybe it is embarrassing to you to quarrel with the director of your picture. Maybe you feel that if he says that you should stay in that organization, you ought to do it. Maybe your mimeographed circular, telling all, was also "ill-advised, even foolish." Maybe it was an impetuous thing to do.

You sure do get into situations. But don't try to fox me again—or the public.

With best regards to the lady,

GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I don't think I'm going to write a column today.

Let me tell you why.

The other afternoon I did a piece about a certain Congressman who always shouts at the top of his drawl. In my analysis of what the country gets for the $12,500 a year it pays him, I referred to the lawmaker once or twice as a "baboon."

Billy Rose

A few minutes after the column was delivered to the syndicate which handles my stuff, the phone rang. It was one of its editors.

"That's a very funny piece you sent over today," he purred.

"Thanks," I said modestly. "I guess it was one of my better efforts."

"That baboon line ought to get a big laugh," the editor went on, "but I though I'd better check with you before we sent the column out. Are you prepared to pay $100,000 for publishing this joke?"

"Stop press," I yelped. "I'll grab a cab and be right over."

"What goes?" I asked as soon as I had perched my Adler Elevators on his blotter. "Why can't I refer to this simian as a simian?"

"Because it's libel," smiled the syndicate man. "It would also be libel to call him a hypocrite, scoundrel, robber, liar, perjurer, deadbeat, ignoramous, paranoiac, drug addict or Communist. All of these words, at one time or another, have been ruled to be libelous by our courts of law."

"I thought we had freedom of the press in this country," I pouted.

The editor stubbed out his half-finished cigar and laid it on an ash-tray for future reference. "The trouble is readers have freedom too," he said. "The freedom to sue. And unless a writer wants to adjective himself into the almshouse, he'd better not forget that a thousand lawyers are always looking over his shoulder."

"Well, then," I geniused, "why don't you print the usual gibberish at the top of my column—'Any resemblance to persons living or better off dead is purely coincidental'?"

"It would be a waste of ink," killjoyed the syndicate man. "It's not your meaning that counts, but the meaning the general public reads into the item in question. And even twisting names and calling it fiction doesn't always make it foolproof.

"Not so long ago, the Bobbs-Merrill Publishing Company brought out a novel called 'God's Man'. One of the characters in the book was a crooked magistrate named Cornigan. Because the name of the fictional crook sounded like his own, Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan of New York sued and was awarded twenty-five grand.

"Only last week I read that an obscure Frenchman named Henri Verdoux is suing Charlie Chaplin. The Frenchman claims that Charlie's movie depicts him as a murderer, and that consequently women are avoiding him. Well, that is a pretty serious matter in France, and it may cost Charlie a fancy buck."

"Doesn't that old line of big Tim Sullivan's stop a lot of people from suing?" I asked. "You know the one —'Never sue for libel because the son of a gun is liable to prove it'."

"It's a good line," smiled the editor, "but libel lawyers are still eating regularly. A few years back it looked as if the roof of a New York high school was about to cave in. One of the papers said, 'This does not speak very well for those who designed the school'. The architect took the publisher into court and won himself a bundle."

"On what grounds?" I asked.

"On the grounds," said the editor, "that such an accusation would injure him in his business. Remember we're living in a country that's enterprise-minded, and unless you're more interested in being strident than solvent, never say anything which may hurt a man in the pursuit of his trade or occupation."

"What happens if you blame the printer and claim the whole thing was a typographical error?"

The syndicate man chuckled. "If you haven't the cash," he said, "a certified check will be acceptable.

Some years ago, one of our Metropolitan papers conducted an anti-vice campaign. One day it printed a map showing the location of certain disorderly houses. By mistake, a respectable house was included. That night until all hours, sports kept ringing the bell. Next morning the banker who lived in the house threatened suit. The paper settled promptly.

"The courts have also held that perfectly innocent words may be thrown into such juxaposition as to become libelous. As for instance, the words 'free' and 'love'. Put them together and connect them up with some couple, and you may have a summons served with your breakfast.

"I'd make some changes in that Congressman column if I were you, and after you make them, get yourself a copy of Philip Wittenberg's 'Dangerous Words—a Guide to the Law of Libel'."

Well, I just finished reading Mr. W.'s book, and it scared the adjectives out of me. It's full of examples of what happened to guys who were caught with their pens down. As for instance, the one about Stanislaus Zbyszko, the wrestler.

The Sunday supplement of a New York newspaper once included an article entitled "How Science Proves Its Theory of Evolution." To illustrate the piece, the paper ran a picture of a gorilla beside one of Zbyszko.

Mr. Zbyszko (rhymes with Yjwszko) got himself a lawyer. The lawyer claimed the gorilla comparison held his client up to contempt, derision, infamy and reproach. He added that because of the piece, the wrestler was being shunned by neighbors and relatives. The court shed a sympathetic tear and found in favor of the grunt-and-groaner.

All of which is behind my decision to knock off early this afternoon. If a fellow can't even call a wrestler a g - - - - a, there doesn't seem to be much point in doing a column today.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I don't think I'm going to write a column today.

Let me tell you why.

The other afternoon I did a piece about a certain Congressman who always shouts at the top of his drawl. In my analysis of what the country gets for the $12,500 a year it pays him, I referred to the lawmaker once or twice as a "baboon."

Billy Rose

A few minutes after the column was delivered to the syndicate which handles my stuff, the phone rang. It was one of its editors.

"That's a very funny piece you sent over today," he purred.

"Thanks," I said modestly. "I guess it was one of my better efforts."

"That baboon line ought to get a big laugh," the editor went on, "but I though I'd better check with you before we sent the column out. Are you prepared to pay $100,000 for publishing this joke?"

"Stop press," I yelped. "I'll grab a cab and be right over."

"What goes?" I asked as soon as I had perched my Adler Elevators on his blotter. "Why can't I refer to this simian as a simian?"

Majority Association To Have Ladies Night Party

Second Anniversary Also To Be Observed

The Majority Association will hold a "Ladies Night" in conjunction with its anniversary.

Plans were formulated at the regular dinner meeting Wednesday night at the Golden Gate Tea Room, with Homer Wise presiding. The party is to be informal and will be held March 6 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club to celebrate the second anniversary of the association. There is to be a guest speaker and the party is only for members and their ladies. Cards and dancing will feature the entertainment during the evening.

Basil Kolb, Walter Eyler and Homer Wise comprise the committee in charge of arrangements.

Plans were also discussed for the semi-annual June dance, which will be open to the public. Other socials in the meantime will be stag affairs.

LaVale 4-H To Have Covered Dish Luncheon

The LaVale Girls 4-H Club will hold a covered dish luncheon Saturday. It is to be held at the LaVale Firemen's Hall, beginning promptly at 12:30 o'clock.

Each girl is to bring a covered dish and a place setting of silverware. Mothers are invited to come and each girl may bring a guest.

Club Receives Members

Two new members were received by the Bowling Green Homemakers Club at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Paul Umberger. They were Mrs. Pierson Gilbert and Mrs. Ralph Cover.

The program included group singing, a poem by Mrs. Umberger; a book review by Mrs. Blake Barnes; a report on food demonstrations by Mrs. Graydon Williard; and a talk on the Marshall plan and the Washington family by Mrs. E. E. McCullough. Mrs. Howard Bell reported on the girls 4-H club. A Valentine program concluded the meeting.

Personals

William Eisenberger, student at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa., arrived yesterday to spend the mid-semester vacation with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. William A. Eisenberger, 222 Washington Street.

Miss Catherine H. Lippold, 432 Greene Street, is in Washington to attend the district agency meeting of the Bankers Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. George Waingold, LaVale, is visiting a Baltimore.

Mrs. Louis P. Chastain, Cresaptown, is a patient in Allegany Hospital.

Walter Alexander, LaVale is improving at his home after fracturing his rib in a fall while at work as a city mail carrier last week.

Harry B. Klosterman, LaVale, is recuperating in Memorial Hospital where he underwent an operation.

Miss Shirley Lee Malone has returned to her home in Wiley Ford after undergoing treatment in Memorial Hospital for an injury while sled-riding.

Mrs. Nelson Hamilton has returned to her home in LaVale after visiting her husband, who is employed by Swift and Company in Brownsville, Pa.

Delta Theta Chi Is Entertained At Valentine Party

Members of Maryland Alpha Chapter, Delta Theta Chi, were entertained by Miss Mildred Davis, Miss Eudora Jochum and Miss Jeanette Bonig at a Valentine party Wednesday night at the latter's home, Bedford Street.

The Valentine motif was carried out throughout the party which featured quiz contests for the entertainment. The one was on the early settlement of Cumberland and the other included general questions and current events. Miss Coretta Davis won the first prize for the current events contest and Miss Naomi Teter for the Cumberland contest. Mrs. Catherine Miller received a hostess prize.

A low bowl of white carnations surrounded by red hearts and candelabra of tall red tapers centered the refreshment table. Each guest also received a Valentine favor.

Other members attending were Miss Rose Stakem, Mrs. Ethel Bruce, Miss Mary Apple, Mrs. Margaret Clancey, Miss Doris See, Mrs. Virginia Boyle O'Connell, Chicago; Mrs. Helen Burke, Miss Mary Lee Winebrenner, Miss Frances Snoeberger and Miss Elizabeth Murray.

A regular business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, Monday night at the Y.

The average woman shopper, in an average shopping day, is estimated to walk about eight and one-third miles.

W. Va. Couple Wed Here

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Frances L Williams, Clarksburg, W. Va., to Joseph G. Bennett, Onega, W. Va., at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Fred Lehman, Potomac Park. The ceremony was performed Sunday by Rev. Robert L. Bridges pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Miss Catherine Lawson was maid of honor and Mr. Lehman served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will reside in Clarksburg following a short wedding trip. The former, who served as a radioman in the Naval Air Corps for three years, is in the neon sign business in Clarksburg.

Fort Hill Tri-Hi-Y Meets

A talk on "What Kind of a World Citizen Are You?" by Mrs. John Hafer, president of the Cumberland branch of AAUW, featured the meeting of the Fort Hill Tri-Hi-Y junior girls at Central YMCA. Jane Dickerhoff presided and Patricia Close was in charge of the program.

Concluding the meeting members whose birthdays occur between September and February were honored.

W. Md.-Memorial Alumnae Plan Dinner For Graduates

Receive Reports On State Meeting

Activities for entertaining members of the graduating class were discussed at the meeting of the Western Maryland - Memorial Hospital Alumnae Association Wednesday night at the nurses' home, with Miss Ruth Cornwell presiding.

It was decided that the almuni will entertain the graduates with a dinner party early in May, and Mrs. Gladys Pitzer, Miss Mary Wilson and Miss Marjory Kolb were appointed the committee in charge of arrangements.

Reports on the Maryland State Nurses Association meeting held in Baltimore last month were given by Mrs. Pitzer and Miss Vauda McLuckie. A general discussion followed and routine business was transacted.

A social hour concluded the evening and refreshments were served carrying out the Valentine theme.

Battista To Give Youth Concert

Joseph Battista, world famous pianist, will give a concert for junior and senior high school pupils and a few elementary pupils who are taking piano in school or privately, at 2:30 this afternoon in Fort Hill High School auditorium.

Battista, recognized as one of the outstanding young American pianists, was selected last summer as soloist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with Koussevitsky; and made his postwar debut in Town Hall last November.

The program, which is divided into four groups, will open with "The Harmonious Blacksmith," Handel; and "The Pathetique Sonata," Beethoven. The second group will be "Liebestraum," Liszt; "Minuet in G," Paderewski; and the tremendous "LaCampanella," Liszt.

Second half of the program will be Chopin's "Nocturne" and "Polonaise," concluding with "Prelude," Gershwin; and waltzes from "Die Fledermouse," Strauss.

Approximately 1,300 students will attend the concert, Jack Platt, director of music in Allegany County, said last night. These will include about 950 high school students and 350 elementary pupils who have a special interest in piano.

Battista's recital is the first of a series to be presented by noted artists for the students.

ANA Attacks Licensure Laws

What is called a "practical nurse" in one state may be a "trained attendant" in another and a "licensed undergraduate nurse" in a third, the American Nurses' Association says in an attack on the conflicting state laws that govern the licensure of nurses, pointing out that a practical nurse has eight different titles from which to choose, depending on where she wants to follow her vocation.

Of the 19 states which in 1946 provided for licensure of a practical nurse, only three call her, in so many words, a practical nurse. Finally to make the confusion complete, a practical nurse who leaves the United States for Puerto Rico has to take out a license as a "nurse aide" if she wishes to practice there.

This muddle in nomenclature, the ANA adds, is nothing compared to the confusion which obtains in the states when it comes to determining the qualifications of a practical nurse, or for that matter of a registered professional nurse, and there is quite a difference. Legislation passed before October 1, 1947, brought the number of states providing for the licensure of practical nurses up to 26, but in 25 of those states the law is permissive and does not require that they be licensed and while one state's law is mandatory, the postponement of the effective date of the mandatory clause makes it possible for anyone to practice nursing in 48 states.

The American Nurses' Association, a national organization, is now conducting a nation-wide campaign for uniform legal control of nursing, both professional and practical. Higher pay and shorter hours for nurses, the abolition of "split shifts" and a fairer distribution of nursing service, are other aims of the ANA.

Plans Visiting Day

Plans for a monthly visiting day and for a covered dish supper were formulated at the meeting of the Philathea Bible Class of Grace Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. Harry Kesecker, Patterson Avenue. Visiting day is to be the third Thursday of the month and the supper will be held February 24.

Two new members were received, Mrs. Valerie Harshberger and Mrs. Frances Brown. Mrs. Ruth Hummel gave the Bible reading and Mrs. Marjorie Runion offered prayer.

Trans-Jordan became an independent country in 1946, when England gave up its mandate.

Betty Shadewell To Become Bride Of C. L. Llewellyn

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Shadewell, 128 Humbird Street, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Jane Shadewell, to Charles Leonard Llewellyn, son of Brue Hossman Llewellyn, Rawlings.

The bride-elect attended Fort Hill High School and was a member of the 4-H Club.

Mr. Llewellyn attended Allegany High School and is a veteran of three years' service in the Navy, with sea duty in the European Theater of Operations. Since his discharge he is employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom will reside with her parents for the present.

LOCAL SCOUTS WILL OBSERVE SCOUT WEEK

National Boy Scout week starts today, and will be observed by 1,396 members of Potomac Council and by 2,120,000 Boy Scouts and leaders in the nation.

The observance, which will be held until February 12, will be built around the theme, "The Scout citizen at work . . . in his community . . . in his nation . . . in his world."

Local Protestant troops will attend annual Boy Scout services at their respective churches Sunday, while the two local troops sponsored by Catholic Churches, 6 and 8, will attend mass Sunday in St. Mary's Church at 8:30.

Individual troop observances are being planned with window displays to be placed in downtown store windows. The South Cumberland troops have combined to place an exhibit in Kline's Furniture Store window.

The word "antibiotic" literally means "against life." Lately it has come to mean a drug for killing bacteria that cause disease.

Junior High Westminster Fellowship To Be Formed

Nominating Committee Will Be Appointed

A Westminster Fellowship for young people from 12 to 14 years of age, inclusive, will be organized by Mrs. Lester R. Martin, at 6:30 o'clock Sunday night in the lecture hall of First Presbyterian Church.

The purpose and aims of the Westminster Fellowship will be explained by Mrs. Martin, who will be assisted in the organization work by Mrs. Peter G. Ervin.

A nominating committee will be appointed also and will present its slate for temporary officers.

The Senior Westminster Fellowship of young people, from 15 to 18 years of age, will meet at 6:30 in the church house. This group was organized by Mrs. Martin last year. The Faith and Life Commission will have charge of the program Sunday.

W. Md.-Memorial Alumnae Plan Dinner For Graduates

Receive Reports On State Meeting

Activities for entertaining members of the graduating class were discussed at the meeting of the Western Maryland - Memorial Hospital Alumnae Association Wednesday night at the nurses' home, with Miss Ruth Cornwell presiding.

It was decided that the almuni will entertain the graduates with a dinner party early in May, and Mrs. Gladys Pitzer, Miss Mary Wilson and Miss Marjory Kolb were appointed the committee in charge of arrangements.

Reports on the Maryland State Nurses Association meeting held in Baltimore last month were given by Mrs. Pitzer and Miss Vauda McLuckie. A general discussion followed and routine business was transacted.

A social hour concluded the evening and refreshments were served carrying out the Valentine theme.

Battista To Give Youth Concert

Joseph Battista, world famous pianist, will give a concert for junior and senior high school pupils and a few elementary pupils who are taking piano in school or privately, at 2:30 this afternoon in Fort Hill High School auditorium.

Battista, recognized as one of the outstanding young American pianists was selected last summer as soloist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with Koussevitsky; and made his postwar debut in Town Hall last November.

The program, which is divided into four groups, will open with "The Harmonious Blacksmith," Handel; and "The Pathetique Sonata," Beethoven. The second group will be "Liebestraum," Liszt; "Minuet in G," Paderewski; and the tremendous "LaCampanella," Liszt.

Second half of the program will be Chopin's "Nocturne" and "Polonaise," concluding with "Prelude," Gershwin; and waltzes from "Die Fledermouse," Strauss.

Approximately 1,300 students will attend the concert, Jack Platt, director of music in Allegany County, said last night. These will include about 950 high school students and 350 elementary pupils who have a special interest in piano.

Battista's recital is the first of a series to be presented by noted artists for the students.

"Ike" Says No Big Nation Wants War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today that no great nation, including Russia, would "deliberately provoke a war at this time."

At the same time he described the American Army as "woefully weak—100,000 below minimum requirements"—and called on everyone to become a "volunteer recruiting sergeant."

The five-star General gave an informal valedictory speech to the National Press Club, then submitted to questioning. He is going on terminal leave as Army Chief of Staff Saturday to take up the presidency of Columbia University in June.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who succeeds him as chief of staff, sat near him at the speakers' table today.

On politics Gen. Eisenhower said he "resented implications" that he may have had Gen. Douglas MacArthur in mind when he said professional soldiers should not seek the presidency unless there is some "overriding reason."

"I am not anybody's keeper," he asserted, adding it was up to MacArthur's or anyone else's own conscience.

He said he worked for MacArthur nine years and he hopes the latter still holds the same friendship for him as he does for the Supreme Allied Commander in Japan.

"I would do nothing knowingly to damage him," he added.

Tax Proposal Revived

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP) — A proposal to tax building and loan associations like other financial institutions once again was started through the legislative machinery today. It always got lost there during past trips.

The State Tax Commission, through Secretary Albert W. Ward, put the recommendation before the Legislative Council, most of whose members were thoroughly familiar with its controversial nature and past history.

Japan's 'Sissy' Law Offend Woman Labor

SAKATA, Japan—(AP) — Japanese amazons have got it in for those legislators who passed that sissy new Labor Standards law.

The law says women workers can't carry more than 40 kilograms (88 pounds). You ought to see some of these Japanese women on the docks here sling around bales of rice — each of which weighs 132 pounds.

Why, say these women laborers, they can't even lift one bale if the law is strictly enforced, and most of them think nothing of shouldering three bales at a time.

Pearson 'Feared,' Lawyer Contends

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Feb. 5 (AP) — Drew Pearson was described today as being "feared, rather than respected" during arguments to determine the amount of damages to which he is entitled from the Jefferson Republican, a weekly.

Defense Attorney Clarence Martin, Sr., voiced the description of Pearson during testimony on a book "The Washington Merry - Go - Round," published several years ago.

The newspaperman and radio commentator is asking $100,000 from the weekly publishers and Editor-in-Chief R. J. Funkhouser. He contends he was damaged to that extent by an article in the Republican describing a Pearson lecture at Charleston in 1946.

Circuit Judge Decatur H. Rodgers ruled yesterday the Republican had libeled Pearson by calling him "a Commie" without proof. The judge said additional testimony should be aimed at permitting the defense to mitigate the damages, if any.

Attorney Martin drew acknowledgment from Pearson that he had filed two other libel suits within the last three years and had been discharged from the Baltimore Sunpapers in 1932. Pearson was on the stand for most of the trial's third day.

Anticipation Rises As Expedition Moves Deeper Into East Africa

James D. Powers, International News Service staff correspondent, describes in the following dispatch the mounting anticipation of the Gatti-Hallicrafters radio-scientific expedition, as it prepares, to journey inward into British East Africa. Powers is the only newsman on the expedition, now headed for Mt. Marangu, in the shadow of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Africa's highest peak. Powers' story was received via short wave radio at the Chicago headquarters of Hallicrafters.

By JAMES D. POWERS

WITH THE GATTI-HALLICRAFTERS EXPEDITION SOUTHWEST OF MOMBASA, BRITISH EAST AFRICA, En Route To Mt. Marangu, Tanganyika Territory, Feb. 5—(Via short wave radio—INS)—Except for an occasional hike, the Gatti-Hallicrafters radio-scientific expedition mostly has seen modern Africa—cities set amidst rolling, verdant hills or broad plateaus with the ocean nearby.

But just today we left our camp site for a trek about a mile away and inner-Africa asserted itself. Gone were the modern conveniences and in their place were primitive huts and primitive people.

The hike gave up our first taste of what explorers have written about for years. And it aroused our desire to work with the modern radio and photographic equipment we have on hand.

We are headed for Tanganyika territory and 6,200-foot Mt. Marangu, in the shadow of towering Mt. Kilimanjaro, Africa's highest peak.

We pull up stakes next Tuesday for Moshi, just over the border from Kenya. On February 18 we plan to make the Mt. Marangu climb.

En route to Moshi, which lies at the base of 19,000-foot Kilimanjaro, we plan to transmit from our mobile "ham" radio shacks. These especially equipped trucks will pick up Chicago and other points of contact—daily, we hope—as easily as the equipment on which this dispatch is being transmitted.

As we climb up Mt. Marangu, we hope to spell the exercise with daily reports to our home station in Chicago—and to the thousands of amateur radio enthusiasts who are keeping in contact with us — via portable short wave radio equipment.

Clark Urges Tightening Of Espionage Statutes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Tighten up some of the laws already on the books and the Department of Justice will be able to cope wnth any Red fifth column, Attorney General Clark assured congressmen today.

The espionage statutes in particular need strengthening, he told a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee.

The group is studying legislation proposed by Rep. Mundt (R-SD) which would require Communists to register as agents of a foreign power.

150 Persons Arrested In Anti-Gandhi Probe

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 5 (AP)—Using gangbuster tactics, Bombay police rounded up at least 150 persons today in a mammoth probe of anti-Gandhi activities.

Friends said Bansilal Pannalal Pitti, millionaire businessman, and K. S. Mhaskar, a leading surgeon, had been seized and were still being held by police.

Police Commissioner J. S. Bharugha said 65-year-old Vinayak Damodhar Savarkar, sometimes called the "Grand Old Man" of the Hindu Mahasabha Party, was arrested, along with Jamnadas M. Mehta, former Bombay mayor. Unofficial reports also listed a city councilman and two editors among those seized.

Published reports said between 300 and 700 persons altogether were arrested by 500 police and constables, but a police communique said only 150 had been rounded up. All but 40 were released after questioning, the communique added.

Bring Own Soap

There is such a shortage of soap and cloth that barbers require the customers to bring their own before they'll provide the all-important blade, which is even harder to find.

Women wanting a hair-do not only are asked to bring soap and towel but also a couple blocks of wood to heat the water.

"Ike" Says No Big Nation Wants War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today that no great nation, including Russia, would "deliberately provoke a war at this time."

At the same time he described the American Army as "woefully weak—100,000 below minimum requirements"—and called on everyone to become a "volunteer recruiting sergeant."

The five-star General gave an informal valedictory speech to the National Press Club, then submitted to questioning. He is going on terminal leave as Army Chief of Staff Saturday to take up the presidency of Columbia University in June.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who succeeds him as chief of staff, sat near him at the speakers' table today.

On politics Gen. Eisenhower said he "resented implications" that he may have had Gen. Douglas MacArthur in mind when he said professional soldiers should not seek the presidency unless there is some "overriding reason."

"I am not anybody's keeper," he asserted, adding it was up to MacArthur's or anyone else's own conscience.

He said he worked for MacArthur nine years and he hopes the latter still holds the same friendship for him as he does for the Supreme Allied Commander in Japan.

"I would do nothing knowingly to damage him," he added.

Tax Proposal Revived

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP) — A proposal to tax building and loan associations like other financial institutions once again was started through the legislative machinery today. It always got lost there during past trips.

The State Tax Commission, through Secretary Albert W. Ward, put the recommendation before the Legislative Council, most of whose members were thoroughly familiar with its controversial nature and past history.

Japan's 'Sissy' Law Offend Woman Labor

SAKATA, Japan—(AP) — Japanese amazons have got it in for those legislators who passed that sissy new Labor Standards law.

The law says women workers can't carry more than 40 kilograms (88 pounds). You ought to see some of these Japanese women on the docks here sling around bales of rice — each of which weighs 132 pounds.

Why, say these women laborers, they can't even lift one bale if the law is strictly enforced, and most of them think nothing of shouldering three bales at a time.

Pearson 'Feared,' Lawyer Contends

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Feb. 5 (AP) — Drew Pearson was described today as being "feared, rather than respected" during arguments to determine the amount of damages to which he is entitled from the Jefferson Republican, a weekly.

Defense Attorney Clarence Martin, Sr., voiced the description of Pearson during testimony on a book "The Washington Merry - Go - Round," published several years ago.

The newspaperman and radio commentator is asking $100,000 from the weekly publishers and Editor-in-Chief R. J. Funkhouser. He contends he was damaged to that extent by an article in the Republican describing a Pearson lecture at Charleston in 1946.

Circuit Judge Decatur H. Rodgers ruled yesterday the Republican had libeled Pearson by calling him "a Commie" without proof. The judge said additional testimony should be aimed at permitting the defense to mitigate the damages, if any.

Attorney Martin drew acknowledgment from Pearson that he had filed two other libel suits within the last three years and had been discharged from the Baltimore Sunpapers in 1932. Pearson was on the stand for most of the trial's third day.

Anticipation Rises As Expedition Moves Deeper Into East Africa

James D. Powers, International News Service staff correspondent, describes in the following dispatch the mounting anticipation of the Gatti-Hallicrafters radio-scientific expedition, as it prepares to journey inward into British East Africa. Powers is the only newsman on the expedition, now headed for Mt. Marangu, in the shadow of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Africa's highest peak. Powers' story was received via short wave radio at the Chicago headquarters of Hallicrafters.

By JAMES D. POWERS

WITH THE GATTI-HALLICRAFTERS EXPEDITION SOUTHWEST OF MOMBASA, BRITISH EAST AFRICA, En Route To Mt. Marangu, Tanganyika Territory, Feb. 5—(Via short wave radio—INS)—Except for an occasional hike, the Gatti-Hallicrafters radio-scientific expedition mostly has seen modern Africa—cities set amidst rolling, verdant hills or broad plateaus with the ocean nearby.

But just today we left our camp site for a trek about a mile away and inner-Africa asserted itself. Gone were the modern conveniences and in their place were primitive huts and primitive people.

The hike gave up our first taste of what explorers have written about for years. And it aroused our desire to work with the modern radio and photographic equipment we have on hand.

We are headed for Tanganyika territory and 6,200-foot Mt. Marangu, in the shadow of towering Mt. Kilimanjaro, Africa's highest peak.

We pull up stakes next Tuesday for Moshi, just over the border from Kenya. On February 18 we plan to make the Mt. Marangu climb.

En route to Moshi, which lies at the base of 19,000-foot Kilimanjaro, we plan to transmit from our mobile "ham" radio shacks. These especially equipped trucks will pick up Chicago and other points of contact—daily, we hope—as easily as the equipment on which this dispatch is being transmitted.

As we climb up Mt. Marangu, we hope to spell the exercise with daily reports to our home station in Chicago—and to the thousands of amateur radio enthusiasts who are keeping in contact with us — via portable short wave radio equipment.

Clark Urges Tightening Of Espionage Statutes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Tighten up some of the laws already on the books and the Department of Justice will be able to cope wnth any Red fifth column, Attorney General Clark assured congressmen today.

The espionage statutes in particular need strengthening, he told a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee.

The group is studying legislation proposed by Rep. Mundt (R-SD) which would require Communists to register as agents of a foreign power.

150 Persons Arrested In Anti-Gandhi Probe

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 5 (AP)—Using gangbuster tactics, Bombay police rounded up at least 150 persons today in a mammoth probe of anti-Gandhi activities.

Friends said Bansilal Pannalal Pitti, millionaire businessman, and K. S. Mhaskar, a leading surgeon, had been seized and were still being held by police.

Police Commissioner J. S. Bharugha said 65-year-old Vinayak Damodhar Savarkar, sometimes called the "Grand Old Man" of the Hindu Mahasabha Party, was arrested, along with Jamnadas M. Mehta, former Bombay mayor. Unofficial reports also listed a city councilman and two editors among those seized.

Published reports said between 300 and 700 persons altogether were arrested by 500 police and constables, but a police communique said only 150 had been rounded up. All but 40 were released after questioning, the communique added.

Bring Own Soap

FRANKFORT — (AP) — Frisk a German today and you'll come up with a shaving stick and a towel.

There is such a shortage of soap and cloth that barbers require the customers to bring their own before they'll provide the all-important blade, which is even harder to find.

Women wanting a hair-do not only are asked to bring soap and towel but also a couple blocks of wood to heat the water.

Turning Point

New York cotton futures finished the day $1.05 to $2.05 a bale lower, although the close was above the day's lows.

At Chicago, hog prices ended 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds lower for the third successive daily price fall. It marked the first sustained slump in hogs since late October, pulling prices down $1. The top today was $26.25.

Taft Opposes Seaway

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today came out against the St. Lawrence seaway project. Taft, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, told the Senate he had made his decision "after full consideration of the issues involved."

BULK OF DPs LESS THAN 45 YEARS OF AGE

AP Newsfeatures

GENEVA, Switzerland — Eighty-seven per cent of the displaced persons in camps in Europe and the Middle East are under 45 years of age, according to a survey by the preparatory commission for the International Refugee Organization.

"The vast majority of them will be able to work and give full value to any nation wise enough and farsighted enough to admit them as immigrants," said William Hallem Tuck, executive secretary of the commission.

The survey covered 600,622 men, women and children receiving care and maintenance from the commission in camps in Germany, Austria, Italy and the middle East.

Tuck said the survey showed 61.2 per cent of the 333,678 males and 266,944 females in the groups are between the ages of 18 and 45; 25.9 per cent are under 18, and 12.9 per cent are over 45.

Some 47 per cent of the displaced persons involved in the survey are between 18 and 45.

Aid To Poland

WARSAW, (AP)—John Alton Horst, of Ephrota, Pa., has arrived in Poland to take charge of distribution of food and clothing aid to Poles donated by the Mennonite Central Church of America. Horst, 23, formerly was associated with Mennonite relief activities at Brussels, Belgium.

Count Sues Denmark For British Internment

COPENHAGEN - (AP) - A Danish engineer, Count Hennig Holstein, who during the war worked in Tehran has sued the Danish foreign office for $50,000 damages. In 1943 he was interned by the British and kept in a concentration camp in India. Not until September 1946 was he released.

The count now asserts that the Danish minister in Tehran who had joined "the Free Danes" in London is to blame for the internment because the engineer did not want to follow the instructions of the Free Danes in London.

Curb On Textiles

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The Singapore government, to conserve dollar exchange, has banned import of American-made textiles costing more than 35 U. S. cents a yard. Officials said it would mean no further imports of sharkskin, fishskin and buckskin cloth.

Nut Cracker Sweet Requires A Truck

STILLWATER, Okla., (AP) — A horticulturist's chance idea has developed into a practical walnut hulling process which hulls a bushel every 30 seconds.

Herman Hinrichs, Oklahoma A & M College Horticulture Department specialist, jacked up a truck with dual rear wheels and fitted an improvised trough to the tires. He started the truck and fed walnuts down the trough under the spinning wheels. The walnuts were hulled after the wheels passed over them.

"It beats the old process of running them through the corn sheller or pounding off the hulls with a hammer," Hinrich says. "And as a time saver and protector of the walnut itself, it is the best method developed so far on a large scale."

Finan Cites Code In Bridge Action

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said yesterday he will inform Albert A. Doub, attorney for an Oakland couple who may bring a damage claim against the city in connection with an accident on the Fayette Street bridge Christmas night, that according to the city code the City of Cumberland is not liable for damages if a claim is not filed within 30 days.

The Mayor and Council received a letter from Doub Wednesday, stating he is representing the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Sanders.

Section 89 of the code, titled "Negligence Suits against the City," states in part:

"Before the City of Cumberland shall be liable for damages of any kind the person injured, or someone in his behalf, shall give the Mayor or City Clerk notice in writing of such injury within 30 days after the same has been received, stating specifically in such notice when, where and how the injury occurred, and the extent thereof."

Referring to the code, Finan also stated that the city is not liable unless the specific hazard, in this case the center girder of the bridge, has been made known to either the mayor or the city engineer at least 24 hours prior to the occurrence of the accident, and "proper diligence has not been used to rectify the defect."

Finan said he is checking the possibility that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad maintains the bridge.

In his letter to city officials, Doub contends there was no reflector on the girder.

State Official Opposes Changes In Vets' Merit System Preferment

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5. (AP)—A Legislative Council hearing on proposed changes in veterans preferment within the state merit system was described as a tempest in a teapot and a "fuss over nothing" by a state official today.

Richard W. Emory, deputy state attorney general, told the council he is opposed to any changes in a preferment system "not as evil as some make it out to be."

"When the chips are down at Annapolis, the Legislature will not change the veterans preference anyway—which makes much of this discussiondiscussion a fuss over nothing," he said.

Emory, who submitted a series of suggestions for changes in the state merit system law, followed veterans organization officials to the speakers stand.

They likewise protested any change in the preferment system. It awards five to 10 points to any veteran participating in a competitive examination for a state job and provides that he be set on top of the eligibility list—those who pass.

Walter D. Owens, state employment commissioner, said at the afternoon session that while he had not studied the Emory proposals in detail, it appeared to him the deputy attorney general had suggested a "whole number of things that would destroy the merit system."

Emory offered a list of suggested changes in the general merit system, which included:

Re-examine coverage under the merit system and fix a uniform policy as to what positions should be included.

Amend the law to give the appointing authority responsibility for fixing job specifications and requirements except where these are standard throughout state agencies.

Let supervisory personnel such as superintendents of state institutions be appointed at discretion of the appointing authority and not through competitive examinations.

War On Rats Plan Is Worked Out

A second meeting for the purpose of furthering county participation in state-wide "Rat Death Week" the first week in March will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the office of Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent.

John M. Robb, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, said yesterday that at the suggestion of McHenry, the Jaycees are considering participation in the war on rats drive, as a part of their annual Clean-Up Campaign, and that Jack Hendricks, chairman of the Clean-Up committee, will confer with the farm agent today.

The war against rats is being waged as a part of a nation-wide effort to exterminate rodents as a means of saving millions of bushels of grain annually, and as a contributing factor to generally improved health and sanitary conditions.

At a meeting at the Court House Wednesday, an organization was formulated for carrying the fight to all farms in the county. Albert O'Neal was elected chairman, with McHenry secretary.

Other committee members are Dale Mann, Little Orleans; W. J. Johnson, Union Grove section; Earl T. Lepley and Stuart Belbrook, Mt. Savage; J. William Loar, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, and Albert Smouse, representing the County Health Department.

McHenry said methods and kinds of poison to use, along with general instructions regarding extermination of rats, will be publicized in the newspapers and broadcast over the radio, and also that circular letters will be mailed from his office to farmers in the county.

The heavy snowfall Wednesday held down attendance at the meeting, with leaders being present only from Little Orleans, Union Grove, Potomac Valley, and Mt. Savage. In order that leaders from Oldtown, Flintstone, North Branch, and the Georges Creek section may become acquainted with the program and plans, they are urged to attend the meeting Monday, McHenry said.

Philadelphia Borrows Sashweight Burglar

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5 (AP)—A 48-year-old convict was borrowed by Philadelphia authorities from a Baltimore jail to face trial in connection with some 200 robberies that is believed to have netted him $500,000 in loot.

The district attorney's office said Harry Eberle, known as sashweight burglar, would be brought to early trial.

Assistant Police Superintendent George F. Richardson said he questioned Eberle concerning 187 burglaries here in a 10-year period.

"The number of his crimes may go to 200 before we're through," Richardson said.

Eberle, who has 32 years of a 35-year sentence to serve in Maryland, was turned over to Philadelphia police by Baltimore authorities last night.

Richardson said there are only four indictments facing Eberle at present, but indictments in the other 183 cases will be sought before Eberle is brought to trial.

Miss Dorothy Harris' Cats Awarded Ribbons

Three cats owned by Miss Dorothy F. Harris, Washington and formerly of this city, won awards at a cat show held by the Cat Fanciers of Washington last weekend.

Cumberland's Melissa won a purple ribbon as best housepet, a blue ribbon and cash as best in the short hair spay class, and a cash award as best black and white in the show.

Cumberland's Janus won a blue ribbon as best in the short hair household pet class, and a cash award as best short hair neuter.

Travelers To Meet

Cumberland Council 179, United Commercial Travelers, will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. in the I. O. O. F. Hall, 12 South Mechanic Street.

Candidates will be initiated and a buffet luncheon will be served. Five new candidates and 10 members from Winchester will attend the meeting.

To detect general evidence of life on plants other than the earth would require telescopes much larger than any in existence

EMPLOYMENT FUTURE IS GLOOMY HERE

Unless industries and businessmen hire more ex-servicemen now, or new industries locate here, the Cumberland area may have a permanent jobless veterans list of 1,000, according to Grafton Lee Brown, veterans employment representative for Maryland.

According to a survey made by Brown this week, total of 1,706 veterans were referred to jobs and 1,496 were employed, but even with this number being hired, the jobless ranks of ex-servicemen today stands at 1,000.

Brown pointed out that many veterans have exhausted their Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance of $20 weekly, and 300 veterans who will graduate from college in June are expected to return home to find that there are no available jobs. Recent furloughs at the B. and O. Railroad, the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, and an expected furlough of some 200 men at the Celanese plant complete the gloomy picture for future employment.

Allegany County has the heaviest jobless list of any county in the state, and Brown urges all employers to contact the local employment office if they can use any of the veterans registered.

Two County Men In Army Snow Exercises

Two Allegany County men are among the eight Marylanders who are participating in the field maneuvers of "Exercise Snowdrop" at Pine Camp, New York, where the Army is attempting to combine for the first time airborne and over-snow tactics.

The county men are Sgt. Marvin G. Liller, Cumberland and Pfc. Leonard E. Warnick, Barton.

Sgt. Lillar, veteran jumper of the Maryland contingent, has 34 jumps to his credit, two of them combat jumps.

War On Rats Plan Is Worked Out

A second meeting for the purpose of furthering county participation in state-wide "Rat Death Week" the first week in March will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the office of Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent.

John M. Robb, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, said yesterday that at the suggestion of McHenry, the Jaycees are considering participation in the war on rats drive, as a part of their annual Clean-Up Campaign, and that Jack Hendricks, chairman of the Clean-Up committee, will confer with the farm agent today.

The war against rats is being waged as a part of a nation-wide effort to exterminate rodents as a means of saving millions of bushels of grain annually, and as a contributing factor to generally improved health and sanitary conditions.

At a meeting at the Court House Wednesday, an organization was formulated for carrying the fight to all farms in the county. Albert O'Neal was elected chairman, with McHenry secretary.

Other committee members are Dale Mann, Little Orleans; W. J. Johnson, Union Grove section; Earl T. Lepley and Stuart Belbrook, Mt. Savage; J. William Loar, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, and Albert Smouse, representing the County Health Department.

McHenry said methods and kinds of poison to use, along with general instructions regarding extermination of rats, will be publicized in the newspapers and broadcast over the radio, and also that circular letters will be mailed from his office to farmers in the county.

The heavy snowfall Wednesday held down attendance at the meeting, with leaders being present only from Little Orleans, Union Grove, Potomac Valley, and Mt. Savage. In order that leaders from Oldtown, Flintstone, North Branch, and the Georges Creek section may become acquainted with the program and plans, they are urged to attend the meeting Monday, McHenry said.

Philadelphia Borrows Sashweight Burglar

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5 (AP)—A 48-year-old convict was borrowed by Philadelphia authorities from a Baltimore jail to face trial in connection with some 200 robberies that is believed to have netted him $500,000 in loot.

The district attorney's office said Harry Eberle, known as sashweight burglar, would be brought to early trial.

Assistant Police Superintendent George F. Richardson said he questioned Eberle concerning 187 burglaries here in a 10-year period.

"The number of his crimes may go to 200 before we're through," Richardson said.

Eberle, who has 32 years of a 35-year sentence to serve in Maryland, was turned over to Philadelphia police by Baltimore authorities last night.

Richardson said there are only four indictments facing Eberle at present, but indictments in the other 183 cases will be sought before Eberle is brought to trial.

Miss Dorothy Harris' Cats Awarded Ribbons

Three cats owned by Miss Dorothy F. Harris, Washington and formerly of this city, won awards at a cat show held by the Cat Fanciers of Washington last weekend.

Cumberland's Melissa won a purple ribbon as best housepet, a blue ribbon and cash as best in the short hair spay class, and a cash award as best black and white in the show.

Cumberland's Janus won a blue ribbon as best in the short hair household pet class, and a cash award as best short hair neuter.

Travelers To Meet

Cumberland Council 179, United Commercial Travelers, will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. in the I. O. O. F. Hall, 12 South Mechanic Street.

Candidates will be initiated and a buffet luncheon will be served. Five new candidates and 10 members from Winchester will attend the meeting.

EMPLOYMENT FUTURE IS GLOOMY HERE

Unless industries and businessmen hire more ex-servicemen now, or new industries locate here, the Cumberland area may have a permanent jobless veterans list of 1,000, according to Grafton Lee Brown, veterans employment representative for Maryland.

According to a survey made by Brown this week, total of 1,706 veterans were referred to jobs and 1,496 were employed, but even with this number being hired, the jobless ranks of ex-servicemen today stands at 1,000.

Brown pointed out that many veterans have exhausted their Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance of $20 weekly, and 300 veterans who will graduate from college in June are expected to return home to find that there are no available jobs. Recent furloughs at the B. and O. Railroad, the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, and an expected furlough of some 200 men at the Celanese plant complete the gloomy picture for future employment.

Allegany County has the heaviest jobless list of any county in the state, and Brown urges all employers to contact the local employment office if they can use any of the veterans registered.

Two County Men In Army Snow Exercises

Two Allegany County men are among the eight Marylanders who are participating in the field maneuvers of "Exercise Snowdrop" at Pine Camp, New York, where the Army is attempting to combine for the first time airborne and over-snow tactics.

The county men are Sgt. Marvin G. Liller, Cumberland and Pfc. Leonard E. Warnick, Barton.

Sgt. Lillar, veteran jumper of the Maryland contingent, has 34 jumps to his credit, two of them combat jumps.

Advice To The Lovelorn

This Woman Apparently Hasn't Courage To Go All The Way In Her Resolve

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Something that gets a great many people into trouble is the temptation to go on playing with a situation after they have made up their minds to leave it alone.

"Mary M.," who writes me the following letter, seems to be doing just that.

"I have been told," she writes, "that I am suffering from nervous exhaustion. The doctor thinks it is because I lost my husband two years ago, but I am ashamed to tell him the real reason.

"I am 48, and the man in question is 52. He is married but doesn't live with his wife. I will not see him as he wants me to, but I can't sleep or eat and I am losing weight fast. His face is before me every hour when I am awake, and, worse still, I have two children at home, 17 and 12, I take my emotions out on them, which I am sure isn't right.

"Will you tell me what to do, as I can't take much more?"

Now of course it is no wonder at all that this woman has become nervously exhausted, when her emotional energy is being constantly torn to tatters. If she could resolve to put this man out of her mind, as she says she has put him out of her life, in time the problem would take care of itself.

Apparently, however, she has not quite enough courage to go the whole way in this situation. She had the courage of her convictions when she told this man she wouldn't see him anymore. But she is not courageous enough to deny herself the satisfaction of going to him in her thoughts.

In other words, she is trying to outwit the frustration of not seeing him in person by keeping in as close touch with him as she can in her mind. As a result, she is emotionally pulled in two directions at once. Away from him, in one way, and toward him, in another, and this state of affairs is directly responsible for her nervous exhaustion.

The fact that this woman was strong enough to take a stand in this matter shows that she wants to do right. But then she goes ahead and defeats a large part of her purpose-the purpose to do right-by permitting herself to do, in another way, what she knows is wrong. It is wrong to indulge herself in such wistful daydreams about this man that she is ruining her health. It is wrong to make her children victims of her bad physical condition and distracted state of mind. She looked at her first problem, decided what was right, and did it. Why can't she handle with equal strength of character her second problem of disciplining herself?

On top of all this, I am wondering if all this emotional conflict is being wasted on a man who is perhaps not worth it. Why, if he is separated from his wife, and in love with this other woman who is free to marry him, doesn't he take steps to free himself so that he could legitimately carry this second relationship to its logical conclusion? It may be, of course, that he has religious scruples against divorce, or other valid reasons for failing to obtain one. If so, that is an added reason why this woman should resolve to put all thoughts of him aside and stick with the resolve.

Allegany County Had 40 Forest Fires In '47

According to State Forester H. C. Buckingham, Allegany County was in third place in the state last year in the number of forest fires. There were 40 fires reported in this county.

Most of the fires occurred in Prince George's County, with 64, and Anne Arundel County, with 60. Somerset County had 36, and Baltimore 35. Kent and Calvert counties were low with one fire each.

Careless brush burners and smokers, railroads and fire bugs scattered the sparks responsible for blazes which damaged 3,036 acres of timberland and 640 acres of non-forest land in the state.

Buckingham set the value of timber loss at $17,771 and non-timber loss at $9,000.

Remarkable in the report were the 27 fires set by incendiaries. These destroyed 863 acres. Blazes caused by careless brush burners destroyed 891 and those started by smokers 872. In all .14 per cent of the state's acreage was burned over.

Market Continues Drop To Post New Average Bottom Since June

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Chilled by another nose-dive of major commodities, the stock market today recorded a new average bottom since last June although late bidding for a technical comeback reduced early losses running to two or more points.

Dealings, fast in the morning as prices toppled, tapered to some extent when support arrived but volume of 1,200,000 shares equalled that on Wednesday's break which was a top since December 31.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .6 of a point at 61.6, a low since last June 10. It was the third successive dip. The utility index was at a low for the past year. The market again was broad, 1,049 issues registering against 1,097 the day before which was a peak since December 30. Of the total, 723 fell and only 130 rose.

Losers of around a point or so included Chesapeake and Ohio 40⅝, Youngstown Sheet 69⅜, du Pont 173½ and Union Carbide 94¾.

In the Curb the erratic Kaiser-Frazer managed to retreive ⅜ of a point at 12⅛ in lively transactions. Turnover here was 240,000 shares versus 280,000 yesterday.

Railroad lines led a general extension of the retreat in the bond market although some exceptions appeared.

Lower-priced carriers were principal targets of the selling which slowed somewhat from Wednesday's pace. Total sales were $4,190,000 against $4,580,000 the preceding session.

United States governments were quiet at previous levels in over-the-counter dealings.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP) — Another nose-dive was taken by grains, soybeans and lard on the Board of Trade today. Limit declines were registered in all contracts with the exception of September and December oats, which rose slightly from the limit level just at the close.

Explanations for the break were based mainly on what brokers call "liquidation." They said many holders who had bought grain as much as six months ago were trying to get out, possibly because of a belief that the international grain outlook had improved. Those holders were not finding new buyers, it was said.

The ordinary run of grain news was pretty much ignored in view of the wild selling movement. Closing futures:

OIL PRODUCTION AT ALL TIME HIGH BUT YOUR HELP STILL NEEDED

WILL YOU HAVE ENOUGH FUEL OIL AND KEROSENE to last out the winter? The answer to that depends in large part on you.

Here is the problem that must be faced by every fuel oil user. Over a million new oil burners are using 2,500,000,000 more gallons than in 1941. The over-all demand for oil products has increased by 20 billion gallons over the biggest pre-war year.

Oil is being asked to do more all the time. The petroleum industry is working around the clock to meet your demands . . . to rush crude oil to refineries then on to you. Over 4 billion dollars are being spent to find new sources of supply, expand refinery facilities and provide faster methods of transportation. But, as in many industries, this expansion program of the Oil Industry is seriously hampered by a shortage of materials. Only time can correct this situation.

Meanwhile, every fuel oil user should do everything possible to stretch the available supply. If everyone saves . . . there will be enough for all. The greater your cooperation now—the surer you will be of an adequate supply for the rest of this winter.

4 ways you can help save fuel oil . . . and money, too!

1. Keep temperature at moderate level—not more than 68 degrees. Turn thermostat to 60 or below at night.

2. Keep doors, windows closed, shades drawn. Close off unused rooms.

3. Install storm windows and insulation to keep heat in . . . cold out.

4. Have your heating system checked to be sure you're getting the most efficient use of your fuel oil.

If everyone saves . . . there will be enough for all

Market Continues Drop To Post New Average Bottom Since June

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Chilled by another nose-dive of major commodities, the stock market today recorded a new average bottom since last June although late bidding for a technical comeback reduced early losses running to two or more points.

Dealings, fast in the morning as prices toppled, tapered to some extent when support arrived but volume of 1,200,000 shares equalled that on Wednesday's break which was a top since December 31.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .6 of a point at 61.6, a low since last June 10. It was the third successive dip. The utility index was at a low for the past year. The market again was broad, 1,049 issues registering against 1,097 the day before which was a peak since December 30. Of the total, 723 fell and only 130 rose.

Losers of around a point or so included Chesapeake and Ohio 40⅝, Youngstown Sheet 69⅝, du Pont 173½ and Union Carbide 94¾.

In the Curb the erratic Kaiser-Frazer managed to retreive ⅝ of a point at 12⅛ in lively transactions. Turnover here was 240,000 shares versus 280,000 yesterday.

Railroad lines led a general extension of the retreat in the bond market although some exceptions appeared.

Lower-priced carriers were principal targets of the selling which slowed somewhat from Wednesday's pace. Total sales were $4,190,000 against $4,580,000 the preceding session.

United States governments were quiet at previous levels in over-the-counter dealings.

Commodity Plunges Give Consumer Hope For Turn In Inflation Spiral

inflation - pinched American consumer has reason to hope today that skyrocketing prices will begin to come down soon.

The spectacular two-day plunge in commodity prices will not be reflected immediately on retail store counters, but it may well prove to be the barometer for what is ahead.

Grain, especially wheat, has strutted like a drum major at the head of the parade of rising prices since the end of the war. Now it has turned around, for the moment at least.

Many experts, although not all, think that the postwar grain boom has ended, and they present many formidable arguments to support this view. If the price of wheat continues to go down, other prices should follow.

In that case some prices will come down sooner, and some later, but all should be affected, even if only to be arrested in their months-long upward spiral.

Food prices should lead the parade behind the bellwether wheat, although it is notable that livestock has held fairly firm. Barring a big price collapse, meat prices probably will remain high.

Other things that people buy, particularly manufactured goods, should lag behind in any gradual price decline. They are ruled by different factors. While raw material costs may be lower, labor and other manufacturing expenses must be met, and these are relatively fixed at high levels.

Economists and business leaders hope for what they call a "healthy recession." That is, they want a gradual decline from inflation levels to a point still well above prewar prices.

What all fear is a precipitate plunge, spelling depression. Then everything comes down, but business stagnates, people lose their jobs and incomes fall so fast that money is not available to buy even at low prices.

President Truman highlighted this fear at his press conference today. He said a crash is inevitable unless prices stop soaring. He and his advisers and top economic statesmen have repeatedly stressed the dangers in the current inflation.

On the other side of the picture is the fact that the country as a whole still is in need of many things to be grown and manufactured. With demand so high, and without a calamitous break in prices or a continued inflation, there is plenty of room for an orderly adjustment.

The plunge of commodity prices yesterday and today may well be only temporary, a false sign like the big stock market break of September, 1946.

Most analysts see a great difference, however. There is plenty of precedent to regard wheat as the key factor, and the wheat situation has suddenly turned.

Prospects for the 1948 world wheat crop have turned bright in recent days. Australia and Argentina, with good crops in their summer season (our winter) are exporting with a spurt. Romania and Russia are now exporting. In the United States, the great snows which have worked such hardship in the past two months are a boon to our own wheat crop. They mean plenty of sub-soil moisture will be stored for the grain to drink in next summer's dry weeks of growing.

The Marshall plan will call for export of less wheat than we have been sending abroad in recent years. In general, the years-long dependence of the rest of the world on us for wheat is ending, and we will have more for ourselves. We have always grown plenty for ourselves alone.

The path ahead for the American consumer in his struggle against inflation is far from rose-strewn, however. It is a treacherous route. On the one side is further inflation, and on the other the depression which would come if prices fall too fast and too far.

He wants a levelling off, a gradual downward trend in prices and the continued prosperity which is in the cards if they can only be dealt right.

Commodity Plunges Give Consumer Hope For Turn In Inflation Spiral

inflation - pinched American consumer has reason to hope today that skyrocketing prices will begin to come down soon.

The spectacular two-day plunge in commodity prices will not be reflected immediately on retail store counters, but it may well prove to be the barometer for what is ahead.

Grain, especially wheat, has strutted like a drum major at the head of the parade of rising prices since the end of the war. Now it has turned around, for the moment at least.

Many experts, although not all, think that the postwar grain boom has ended, and they present many formidable arguments to support this view. If the price of wheat continues to go down, other prices should follow.

In that case some prices will come down sooner, and some later, but all should be affected, even if only to be arrested in their months-long upward spiral.

Food prices should lead the parade behind the bellwether wheat, although it is notable that livestock has held fairly firm. Barring a big price collapse, meat prices probably will remain high.

Other things that people buy, particularly manufactured goods, should lag behind in any gradual price decline. They are ruled by different factors. While raw material costs may be lower, labor and other manufacturing expenses must be met, and these are relatively fixed at high levels.

Economists and business leaders hope for what they call a "healthy recession." That is, they want a gradual decline from inflation levels to a point still well above prewar prices.

What all fear is a precipitate plunge, spelling depression. Then everything comes down, but business stagnates, people lose their jobs and incomes fall so fast that money is not available to buy even at low prices.

President Truman highlighted this fear at his press conference today. He said a crash is inevitable unless prices stop soaring. He and his advisers and top economic statesmen have repeatedly stressed the dangers in the current inflation.

On the other side of the picture is the fact that the country as a whole still is in need of many things to be grown and manufactured. With demand so high, and without a calamitous break in prices or a continued inflation, there is plenty of room for an orderly adjustment.

The plunge of commodity prices yesterday and today may well be only temporary, a false sign like the big stock market break of September, 1946.

Most analysts see a great difference, however. There is plenty of precedent to regard wheat as the key factor, and the wheat situation has suddenly turned.

Prospects for the 1948 world wheat crop have turned bright in recent days. Australia and Argentina, with good crops in their summer season (our winter) are exporting with a spurt. Romania and Russia are now exporting. In the United States, the great snows which have worked such hardship in the past two months are a boon to our own wheat crop. They mean plenty of sub-soil moisture will be stored for the grain to drink in next summer's dry weeks of growing.

The Marshall plan will call for export of less wheat than we have been sending abroad in recent years. In general, the years-long dependence of the rest of the world on us for wheat is ending, and we will have more for ourselves. We have always grown plenty for ourselves alone.

The path ahead for the American consumer in his struggle against inflation is far from rose-strewn, however. It is a treacherous route. On the one side is further inflation, and on the other the depression which would come if prices fall too fast and too far.

He wants a levelling off, a gradual downward trend in prices and the continued prosperity which is in the cards if they can only be dealt right.

In 1817 a group of brokers organized the New York Stock and Exchange Board. The present title, "The New York Stock Exchange," was adopted in 1865, according to a Twentieth Century Fund report.

In 1802, a chemist and botanist named Sequin, invented a type of artificial flowers made of shiny metallic substance, and from his name comes the type of glitter decoration popular today.

Be His (Photogenic) Valentine

By BETTY CLARKE

Give your best beau a Valentine portrait of yourself, and watch your stock go up on the charm scene.

Any old photograph won't do—you'll have to dress in your best bib and tucker, make proper use of your beauty box, strike a pose that is typically YOU and obey the camera man's direction.

Hollywood photographers who can make glamor girls out of ugly ducklings know that photographs help sell the girl to the moviegoer, so they make sure that a star entrusted to their lens is properly groomed for her portrait.

One of movieland's photographers, Bert Six, suggests that it isn't necessary for the average girl to make up like a movie queen to please the recipient-to-be- of her portrait. All she must remember is to enhance her own personality. She should not effect an unusual hairdress or makeup so that when the picture is presented to her friends they will know who she is.

An unusual coiffure or exaggerated makeup will be so strange, he believes, that the girl to be photographed will be overpowered by it all and be camera shy. This will spoil the picture.

Wear the hairdo most becoming to you. If you occasionally do wear fancy coiffures, and find them becoming, adopt one for your portrait if you feel at ease in it.

Since most portrait photographs are retouched, Mr. Six suggests that you steer clear of the exaggerated makeups which only make it more difficult for the retoucher. Instead of using the very heavy suntan foundations, dark lipstick and powder, the amateur should be content with using ordinary street makeup.

If she will start with a foundation—either a cream or cake base—and apply it to her face and throat, she will get the all-over covering to hide any small facial blemishes and achieve an even skin tone. She should skip cheek rouge, which will only show up black or as hollows. Very little mascara should be used and no black lines around the eyes or heavily pencilled eyebrows. A light brown eyebrow pencil can be traced lightly over blonde or very light eyelashes.

Eyeshadow should be used—but carefully—to make the eyes seem larger. Apply this by starting at the lid line with the fullest density at the brow. Sometimes big eyes need very little shadow, as Mr. Six found when he made up wide-eyed Lois Maxwell, a new starlet, for her role in "To The Victor." Her unusual blue-green eyes have a dewy loveliness even without makeup. Eyelids which appear dull or flat in coloring, after powdering, should be wiped with a small piece of damp cotton. Eyeshadow should not be used if the eyes are deep set.

A conversation with your photographer before he snaps the picture will help clear up your camera weaknesses. Everybody can't be photogenic, but a good photographer can help you overcome some camera faults. Practice saying such words as "grit" or "fit" and then say them just before the shutter is snapped as if you were having a conversation with a friend. It will be a cinch to smile.

Here are some other tips suggested by Mr. Six.

Big chunky jewelry should not be worn near the face, as the jewels and metal will catch the light and sparkle, causing highlights.

Wear a simple, plain dress. Solid dark or pastel colors are better than prints. Keep the neckline uncluttered—no large bows or bunches of flowers.

Fiddles With Waste; Wastes No Fiddles

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — James E. Work, a musically inclined steelworker, has the emptiest wastebasket in town—he uses such items as matches and old newspapers to make fiddles.

Work began to plan the fiddle 12 years ago. Then he decided to make one of his own. So far, he has completed eight—and they're made out of old matches, newspapers, orange crates and sugar sacks—with plenty of glue. They play, too, Work adds—pointing out that he uses them regularly at old-time dances.

Work's next project in the fiddle-making business — manufacturing one from stainless steel and containing a microphone.

Egg Stains

Egg stains should be scraped off with a blunt knife. Then the stain should be sponged with cold water. Hot water should never be used because heat makes egg stains harder to remove.

Instead of using the very heavy suntan foundations, dark lipstick and powder, the amateur should be content with using ordinary street makeup.

If she will start with a foundation—either a cream or cake base—and apply it to her face and throat, she will get the all-over covering to hide any small facial blemishes and achieve an even skin tone. She should skip cheek rouge, which will only show up black or as hollows. Very little mascara should be used and no black lines around the eyes or heavily pencilled eyebrows. A light brown eyebrow pencil can be traced lightly over blonde or very light eyelashes.

Eyeshadow should be used—but carefully—to make the eyes seem larger. Apply this by starting at the lid line with the fullest density at the brow. Sometimes big eyes need very little shadow, as Mr. Six found when he made up wide-eyed Lois Maxwell, a new starlet, for her role in "To The Victor." Her unusual blue-green eyes have a dewy loveliness even without makeup. Eyelids which appear dull or flat in coloring, after powdering, should be wiped with a small piece of damp cotton. Eyeshadow should not be used if the eyes are deep set.

A conversation with your photographer before he snaps the picture will help clear up your camera weaknesses. Everybody can't be photogenic, but a good photographer can help you overcome some camera faults. Practice saying such words as "grit" or "fit" and then say them just before the shutter is snapped as if you were having a conversation with a friend. It will be a cinch to smile.

Here are some other tips suggested by Mr. Six.

Big chunky jewelry should not be worn near the face, as the jewels and metal will catch the light and sparkle, causing highlights.

Wear a simple, plain dress. Solid dark or pastel colors are better than prints. Keep the neckline uncluttered—no large bows or bunches of flowers.

Fiddles With Waste; Wastes No Fiddles

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — James E. Work, a musically inclined steelworker, has the emptiest wastebasket in town—he uses such items as matches and old newspapers to make fiddles.

Work began to plan the fiddle 12 years ago. Then he decided to make one of his own. So far, he has completed eight—and they're made out of old matches, newspapers, orange crates and sugar sacks—with plenty of glue. They play, too, Work adds—pointing out that he uses them regularly at old-time dances.

Work's next project in the fiddle-making business — manufacturing one from stainless steel and containing a microphone.

Egg Stains

Egg stains should be scraped off with a blunt knife. Then the stain should be sponged with cold water. Hot water should never be used because heat makes egg stains harder to remove.

Danes Would Export Prefab Houses

COPENHAGEN—A flying corps plans to spread prefabricated houses over the world if Danish authorities permit the firm (Manniche and Hartmann) announces.

Inquiries for Danish prefabs have been received from Great Britain, India, Asia, and the United States.

The firm cannot get export licenses, because of Denmark's own housing promblem. However, if it gets permission, it plans to establish factories in countries that ask for more than 1,000 prefabricated houses, and a technical flying corps would build the houses. As each task is finished the factory would be moved to the next country.

Say It With COOKIES

SWEET HEARTS . . . Valentines from the cookie jar . . .

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We used to look forward to Valentine's Day with a mixture of fear, trembling and glorious excitement! That's because the grammar school I went to indulged in the custom of having a Valentine Box and the event was just as much a calculated counting of one's popularity as it was of joy and celebration.

Of course when you're past grammar school age you learn it's just as much fun to give as to receive! It's easy, for instance, to tell your family, your best beau, your husband or your friends that you love them—in three different ways. And it's all done with cookies. Here's a basic recipe that can give three different heart treatments, and in each there's sparkling red preserves to make them extra sweet.

Valentine Heart Cookies

½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1¼ teaspoons single-action or teaspoon double-action baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk
Strawberry or raspberry preserves

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, blend in sugar gradually and mix well. Add eggs and beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Add vanilla. Add alternately the dry ingredients and milk, beating well after each addition. Chill thoroughly, at least one hour; then roll out on floured board or pastry cloth to about ⅛ inch thickness. Cut out with heart-shaped cookie cutter, and place half the cookies on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Drop a teaspoon of preserves in center of each. Cover with a second cookie and press edges together with the tip end of a spoon or knife handle, or with the tines of a fork. Different sealings can be made to denote type of preserves in each cookie if variety is used. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 F.) for about 12 minutes or until delicately browned. Remove to cake racks to cool. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Variations

1. Cut out rounds, plains or scalloped, and place on a cookie sheet. Cover with a second cookie in the center of which a small heart has been cut out. Bake as above, and when ready to serve, fill heart center with red currant jelly or cherry preserves.

2. Cut out heart-shaped cookies about ⅛ inch thick. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 F.) for about 8 minutes. When ready to serve, spread half of them lightly with red jelly which has been whipped with a fork or spoon, cover with another cookie and frost top to about ¼ inch from the edges with jelly.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6—(INS)—The very serious problem of illegal entry of undesirable aliens into this country is the subject of a movie William Goetz is planning to make immediately with the title "Illegal Entry".

Louella Parsons

I had a talk with Bill at the Look award dinner, and he told me he had assigned Jules Schermer, the producer, and Albert Cohn, writer, to go to Washington and discuss the story with the immigration bureau. He has been assured of the aid of all immigration officials in getting facts and figures.

Howard Duff, new young actor on the lot, who does very well in "The Naked City," Has been cast in the lead.

When I saw Betsy Drake with Cary Grant at the race track, I said "there's a pretty girl!"

I learned later that Cary had met her on the boat coming from Europe, and that he had been very taken with her. So, naturally, when she came to Hollywood, he had seen her many times.

Now it looks as if Betsy, who is a New York actress, is going to stay here and make a movie. She has a contract all ready for her signature, in which RKO and David Selznick share her services.

• — • — •

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: When Lucky Humberstone appeared in Palm Springs last week, 99 people telephoned to say, "Why did you say Lucky was in New York when he's at Palm Springs?" Well, he was in New York—the shortest trip on record. He went there and nearly froze to death and came right back.

• — • — •

Skitch Henderson's devotion to debutante No. 1, Virginia Leigh, is interesting New York. He telephones her nightly from his one night stands in the east.

• — • — •

Frances Fonda leaves on Valentine's day to join Hank in New York. Looks like they will be there a long time. Hank's notices in "Mr. Roberts," the stage play, were sensational.

Joan Crawford will hostess a party at Le Papillon for Noel Coward on Saturday night.

• — • — •

Sounds to me like a postponement of Claire Trevor's wedding plans to Milton Bern for at least another six weeks. She's got herself the job of Mrs. Babe Ruth in "The Babe Ruth Story."

Claire, who for my money, plays tough girls as well as any actress on the screen, will be a sweet and wholesome girl for a change.

• — • — •

Don't be surprised if Loretta Young accepts Charles Einfeld's offer to star in "Wild Calendar." She's reading the story now.

That's the Libby Block novel of The Girl From Denver. It was originally bought for Ginger Rogers. After Ginger and Enterprise parted company, it remained their most valuable property and so they are looking for a top name.

The story is a dramatic one and has a lot of possibilities. The novel was a best seller.

• — • — •

Don't believe all that nonsense that Lana Turner had anything to do with Linda Christian and M-G-M coming to a parting of the ways. Lana is too busy with her romance with Bob Topping to be concerned that Linda followed her in Ty Power's affections.

But La Belle Christian won't be out of a job long if she wants to accept Sol Lesser's offer. She is in Palm Springs now, at Sol's request, talking about a long term deal to play the role of Jane in all future "Tarzan" pictures.

• — • — •

Chit-chat: I must say I understand the Cornel Wildes' situation much better since I received a long letter from Pat (Mrs. Wilde).

Marion Hutton, who went to New York to discuss divorce plans with her husband, back again and at Cezar's Supper Club with Don McGuire.

North Fork River Properly Is Sold

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kile, Morgantown, have sold to K. C. VanMeter, Jr., what is known as the Smith property on the North Fork river and road, consisting of a large frame dwelling house, chicken houses, 10 cabins and a large camp site, which has been known as the Smith Falls cottages.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Huffman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schaffer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvia Kimble and family and several other families reside in the buildings purchased by VanMeter. Mr. and Mrs. Kile purchased the property about 20 years ago from the Smith heirs.

Brief Items

Mrs. Lloyd Miley, Mrs. W. T. Moomau, Steve Welton and Junior Barger have returned from Florida where they spent two weeks.

M. S. Hodges, Franklin attorney, has been removed to University Hospital, Charlottesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jettie Simmons and son moved yesterday from the Simmons dwelling on Tank Street to their newly erected home in Jefferson Heights Addition.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Schaffer announce the birth of a daughter at Dr. Veach's Clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mowery, Kline, announce the birth of a son at Dr. Veach's Clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Demedici, Bell Point, W. Va., announce the birth of a daughter at Dr. Veach's Clinic. Mrs. Demedici is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Central Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorcas announce the birth of a son at Dr. Veach's Clinic.

Miss Norma Oates, student at Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., spent the weekend here visiting Mrs. Pearl Oates and family.

Misses Norma Shreve and Betty Carter, teachers in the Deaf and Blind School, Romney, spent the weekend here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Shreve and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carter.

Miss Mary Ellen Shobe and Evers Roberts, students at Shenandoah College, Dayton, Va., spent the weekend visiting relatives here.

James Breathed has gone to Pittsburgh to attend a business meeting.

Mrs. Nora Godlove, Mrs. Gertrude Oates and Mrs. Forrest Alkire left yesterday for Chicago.

Uses Of Wood

More than 16 different types of wood the used in building the modern sky-liner. Douglas fir does its part. A mile of veneer for plywood can be peeled from a single Douglas fir log eight feet in diameter.

The average farmhouse in the United States is 50 years old or more. In New England three-fourths of the farm houses are about 60 years old.

Relief At Last For Your Cough
Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.
Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.
No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Churchill's Son To Be Guest Of Newspaper Panel

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

New York, Feb. 5 — Ramolph Churchill, son of Great Britain's Winston, is to be on the air Friday night at 10. He will be the interview guest of the four-man newspaper panel of Meet the Press on MBS. He is expected to be questioned on British thinking.

Welterweights are to be in the ring when ABC has its weekly boxing broadcast from New York at 10. They are Eddie Giosa of Philadelphia and Rocco Rossano of Brooklyn.

It Pays To Be Ignorant, which has run a series of years for its present sponsor, is being given up with the current 10 o'clock broadcast, to be replaced next week with a Dinah Shore show. But Ignorant isn't going off the air. After a couple weeks vacation it will have a new CBS listing on Saturday nights.

There will be a "preview" of the opera "Carmen" for the ABC Let's Go To The Opera at 4:30. Guests will be the singers, Martha Lipton, mezzo soprano, and Baritone Clifford Harvuot.

The Mills Brothers will provide the necessary guest element of Spike Jones revue on CBS at 10:30. This is the show in which Dorothy Shaw, exponent of hill-billy-itis, does the regular singing.

World's Great Novels of NBC at 11:30 is turning next to Sir Walter Scott's "Kenilworth," romantic novel of Elizabethan England." It is being presented in three installments, of which this broadcast will be the first.

"Say hello to your Ma now, Joe, before it's too late."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Danny Thomas, the Legend and the Man

Ten years ago, Danny Thomas was working in Detroit taverns for a couple of bucks a night. Then he began hitting the night club circuit with spectacular results in Chicago, New York and Hollywood. When I was last in Hollywood, he was the most discussed new comedian in town and the people who were discussing him were his fellow professionals, a fairly difficult group to please. Several of them, including Jack Benny and Eddie Cantor, have called Thomas the freshest new voice in the business.

Danny Thomas

As of today, Thomas is getting checks from night clubs, the movie industry—he's made two pictures, "Unfinished Dance" and "The Big City"—and radio. He arrived in radio with a tremendous advance blast of publicity on his own program "The Danny Thomas Show" (C. B. S. 8:30 p. m. E. S. T. Fridays) right in the middle of the C. B. S all-star Friday comedy lineup which includes, in order, Baby Snooks, Thomas, Morgan-Ameche-Langford, Ozzie and Harriet and "It Pays To Be Ignorant"

• — • — •

In light of the advance ballyho, I thought I must not have heard aright when I caught Mr. Thomas' first program January 2. Mr. Thomas expended a good deal of energy during the program but the show never quite got going, or anyway it never quite got me going. Subsequent programs have been better but they have not nearly lived up to Mr. Thomas' reputation. Perhaps it isn't a good idea to come to radio in the wake of such enthusiasm.

Thomas sounds quite a lot like Bert Lehr and oddly enough a little like George Jessel. That refers only to his voice. His material is quite different. He has a bright, satiric touch and appears to be dead set against many of the contraptions of modern society, particularly the mechanical contraptions. "We're livin' too fast I tell ya."

As a not very good example, but the only one I have available, he poked a little fun at modern sanitation in a sketch in which he played a bacteriologist named Spotless who refused even to open his mail for fear of germs. Like Ed Wynn he enjoys inventing silly things (a cigarette lighter with attached matches, for instance). "I invented the shoelace. Then I had to invent the shoe. I invented the doorknob but it looked silly just hangin' in mid-air so I invented the hat pin but the girls looked silly with holes in their heads so I invented the hat."

His humor is up-to-date, satiric stuff, and, thank God, he doesn't dwell on radio and the radio commercials which are getting to be an awfully footsore subject. He can imitate anything from a Swiss bellringer to owls. He can even sing more than passably and, in fact, sounds like a parody on Bing Crosby in his earlier days. All in all he has more talent than anyone quite deserves and it seems a shame the comedy doesn't come across better than it does.

• — • — •

My own theory concerning Mr. Thomas' failure is that he isn't quite adjusted to the tempo of radio. He's livin' too fast, to use one of his own sentences. Mr. T. whips through a bit of comedy and plunges into another one while the listener is still trying to focus on the first one. He is using about four times as many ideas as are necessary, never quite exploiting any of them. Perhaps we radio listeners are stupider than night club audiences or possibly, because we can't see the comedian, we need the stage to be set in a little more detail. Or perhaps I just have a blind spot on Mr. Thomas. At any rate, I'm not going to turn in a minority report on him until he's been around a little longer. Who am I to contradict Jack Benny?

In addition to its star, the Danny Thomas show offers Ben Gage, the announcer, who acts as straight man to many of the Thomas witticisms and performs other necessary but routine chores. Mr. Gage laughs a little too often and a trifle too heartily but is otherwise pleasant enough. There's also an all-girl band which is neither good enough nor bad enough to require any comment, and an all-girl violin soloist named Barbara who sounds like Margaret Sullavan condensed for popular consumption.

None of these people intrudes much since Mr. Thomas gets a death grip on the microphone early in the proceedings and can hardly be persuaded to relinquish it at all. That may be a mistake, too.

Churchill's Son To Be Guest Of Newspaper Panel

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

New York, Feb. 5 — Ramolph Churchill, son of Great Britain's Winston, is to be on the air Friday night at 10. He will be the interview guest of the four-man newspaper panel of Meet the Press on MBS. He is expected to be questioned on British thinking.

Welterweights are to be in the ring when ABC has its weekly boxing broadcast from New York at 10. They are Eddie Giosa of Philadelphia and Rocco Rossano of Brooklyn.

It Pays To Be Ignorant, which has run a series of years for its present sponsor, is being given up with the current 10 o'clock broadcast, to be replaced next week with a Dinah Shore show. But Ignorant isn't going off the air. After a couple weeks vacation it will have a new CBS listing on Saturday nights.

There will be a "preview" of the opera "Carmen" for the ABC Let's Go To The Opera at 4:30. Guests will be the singers, Martha Lipton, mezzo soprano, and Baritone Clifford Harvuot.

The Mills Brothers will provide the necessary guest element of Spike Jones revue on CBS at 10:30. This is the show in which Dorothy Shaw, exponent of hill-billy-itis, does the regular singing.

World's Great Novels of NBC at 11:30 is turning next to Sir Walter Scott's "Kenilworth," romantic novel of Elizabethan England." It is being presented in three installments, of which this broadcast will be the first.

Swanee Minstrel Planned Tonight At Frostburg

Show Being Held By Church Brotherhood

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG—The second annual minstrel show, "Swanee Minstrels," to be presented by the Brotherhood of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the lecture room of the church.

Traditional minstrel songs will be sung as well as "Swanee" by Charles Schutz; "The Stars Will Remember," Curtis Green; "When I Grow Too Old To Dream," Sam Thomas; "The Preacher and the Bear," Tom Rank; "Am I Blue," Carl Fresh; "Ole Man River," John Lancaster, and a novelty arrangement of "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain" by Earl Bough.

The second part will include novelties and two skits with Janice Bradley, Dona Jean Thomas, Bill Hart and Upton Edwards presenting specialties. Music will be furnished by the Arion Band.

Taking part in the opening scene in addition to Harry Crowe as interlocutor, will be James Close, Earl Blough, Charles Schutz, Thomas Rank and John Lancaster as end men, and George Lemmert, Upton Edwards, Samuel Thomas, Curtis Green and William Filer in the circle.

All piano accompaniments will be played by Rev. Justus B. Liesmann. John Geis is business manager and Everett Lemmert stage manager.

Mrs. Wagner Dies

Mrs. Louisa Wagner, 80, widow of George Wagner, died yesterday afternoon at her home in Grahamtown. She had been in failing health for several years and seriously ill since Christmas. A native of Borden Shaft, she resided here all her life. She was affiliated with First Methodist Church.

The survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Annie Plummer, and a son, Albert Wagner, Grahamtown, and a son, John Wagner, Barberton, Ohio. She also leaves seven grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Brief Mention

Because of the illness of Rev. B. F. Zimmerman, pastor of First Congregational Church, who is a patient in Allegany Hospital, the pulpit of his church will be occupied by two guest speakers Sunday. Mrs. Alex G. Close, prominent church woman of this city, will be the speaker at the 11 a. m. service and Prof. Earl L. Bracey, principal of Carver High School, Cumberland, will perach at the 7:30 p. m. service. The Sunday School and Christian Endeavor services will be held as usual.

The Philathea Class of First English Baptist Church will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Nettie Gunnett, 68 Washington Street. Mrs. Edward Minnick and Mrs. Eva Bean will be assistant hostesses.

The Ladies Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will sponsor a bake sale Saturday, February 14, commencing at 10 a. m., in the Sunday School room of the church; it will be open to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robertson, Midland, announce the birth of a daughter Wednesday evening in Miners' Hospital. Mrs. Robertson is the former Miss Irma Lloyd, Wright's Crossing.

Frostburg Personals

Mrs. Alice Clise, Midland, is a patient in Miners Hospital.

Rev. and Mrs. William B. Orndorff, Miss Virginia McDonald, Mrs. Orpha Rhodes and Miss Elizabeth Workman spoke on the "Southern Baptist Goals for 1948," Wednesday night following a business meeting of the congregation of First English Baptist Church, East Main Street. Howard Ward, superintendent of the Sunday School, presided at the meeting. The same group, with the addition of Mrs. Bessie B. Grim, will speak at Grace Baptist Church, Cumberland, tonight.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM MIDLAND

By PEARL BLAIR

MIDLAND—The Midland Volunteer Fire Company was called Wednesday to extinguish a flue fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stakem, O'Mara Avenue.

Mrs. Isaac O'Rourke is a patient at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where she was admitted Tuesday afternoon for a fractured shoulder received in a fall at the home of her niece, Mrs. Mary Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Blair and Thomas Taylor attended the Lincoln Day banquet Thursday night at Centre Street Methodist Church Recreation Hall, Cumberland.

Thomas Blair has returned to the University of Maryland after spending the mid-semester vacation with his wife, Mrs. Bette Blair, Frostburg, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Blair, Midland.

Mrs. Lucy Loar, a surgical patient at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, is improving.

L. C. Yost To Run For Sheriff Of Mineral County

Was Army Captain In World War II

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER, W. Va—Leslie C. Yost, commanding officer of Battery "C," 201st Field Artillery Battalion, which is to be activated in Keyser in the near future, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Mineral County.

The 30-year-old World War II veteran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Yost, Water Street. He is married and resides at 99 Mozelle Street. He is a member of Grace Methodist Church.

He is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and is the owner of the City Bus Lines.

A graduate of Keyser High School, he attended Potomac State School and the American Army University at Biarritz, France.

Inducted into the Army May 12, 1942, Yost went overseas in May, 1943, and saw service in England, France and Germany. He was assigned to the First and Third U. S. Armies and was discharged with the rank of captain in April, 1946.

Organizations of which Yost is a member are Loyal Order of Moose, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Davis Lodge No. 51 A. F. and A. M., Royal Arch Masons, Damascus Commandery No. 23, Knights Templar, Osiris Shrine Temple, American Legion, Nancy Hanks Post No. 3518, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club and the Western Maryland Coin Club.

4-H Club Meets

"Johnny Jones, Our Neighbor, Ten Miles Down the Road," was the theme of the recent meeting of the Burlington Klover 4-H Club held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bonar.

The program consisted of a talk by J. E. Prettyman, Mineral County agricultural agent, about the school in Norway or Denmark that the 4-H organizations of Mineral County are planning to sponsor; Charles Bonar related the highlights of his trip to the Pennsylvania State Farm Show; Doris Jean Bane gave a report on her second year baking project, and John D. Bane, Charles Bane and Pauline Bane gave reports on their projects.

It was decided at the meeting that the club would sponsor two plays as a means of raising money for the organization. One play is to be given by the grade school members while the other one will be given by the high school members of the club.

Following the serving of refreshments the group held a sledding party.

To Clear Sidewalks

All sidewalks in the city of Keyser are to be cleared of snow, it was announced yesterday by Chief of Police C. A. Martin. In making the announcement Chief Martin said that city police have been instructed to tour the city and see that all snow is removed and that the city ordinance governing the removal of snow from the sidewalks would be rigidly enforced and violators fined.

As required in the ordinance, walks must be cleared within 12 hours after the snow stops falling. The penalty is a fine of from $1 to $5, and each day is considered a separate offense, Chief Martin said.

Mayor John C. Freeland asked that snow not be shoveled into the gutter line so that water could drain off when the snow melts.

Mrs. Taylor Dies

Mrs. Annie L. Taylor, 84, widow of W. R. Taylor, died at her home, 123 East Piedmont Street, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock after a lingering illness.

A daughter of the late Martin and Isabelle Yowell Hite, she was born in Luray, Va. Her husband died on January 21, 1938. A daughter, Miss Charlotte Taylor, died April 15, 1938.

Survivors include one son, Harry R. Taylor, Keyser; and three daugh-

Tri-Towns Scouts To Open Boy Scout Week Program On Sunday

Rev. G. W. Hobbs To Address Group

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT.—Rev. G. Warfield Hobbs, D.D., Baltimore will address the Boy Scouts of the Tri-Towns at their annual service Sunday at 11 a. m. at St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport, being held in observance of National Boy Scout Week.

Dr. Hobbs, who was for six years editor of the Baltimore Sunday Sun and later editor of the Spirit of Missions, a National Episcopal periodical, is now editor of the Maryland Churchman, published in Baltimore. Although he holds no regular parochial charge, he is actively engaged in supply work and fulfills a heavy schedule of speaking engagements to church and civic groups.

He joined the Scouts at Washington, D. C., when the organization was in its infancy and for many years was scoutmaster of a Baltimore troop. When his work called him to New York he maintained his interest in scouting by becoming a member of the Scout Council.

Dr. Hobbs will remain in the area several days and visit some of the neighboring Episcopal churches.

John Elias Dies

John Elias, 75, who operated a clothing establishment here for the past 45 years, died yesterday at 5:30 p. m. at his home on Spruce Street, Westernport. He had been bedfast for the past three weeks.

A native of Syria, he had been a resident of Westernport for 60 years and conducted a clothing store on Main Street here. Mr. Elias was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Laura Elias, he is survived by three daughters, Miss Rose Elias and Mrs. Violet Ternana, both at home, and Mrs. Lillian Cook, Westernport; one son, George Elias, Westernport, and a sister who lives in Mexico City.

Church Guild Meets

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church decided at a meeting held recently at the parsonage to sponsor the Easter concert to be given by the Cumberland Choral Society Tuesday evening, March 23, at Trinity Church, Piedmont.

The program will include, "Seven Last Words of Christ," anthems and spirituals.

The devotions were conducted by Miss Pauline Whiteman. Mrs. John W. Fisher was introduced as the new co-ordinator for the year by the president, Miss Helen Wagoner.

Mrs. Herman Dash, organist of the Treble and Youth choirs of the church, will present a piano recital in May at a date to be announced later. It will be sponsored by the Guild.

The Guild sent a box of clothing to the Mission Community House at Rhoderfield, W. Va.

The following committees were appointed for the year by the president: Mrs. Maxine Wilt and Mrs. Myrtle Youst, home department; Miss Katherine Crawford, scrap book; Mrs. Ray Eisler and Mrs. George W. Daddysman, publicity.

An Easter box will be packed at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Youst, Maryland Avenue, Westernport, Monday, March 1.

Brief Items

Twenty-six members of the Young Ladies Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, held a sleigh-ride outing at Happy Hills Farm recently.

A meeting of the Piedmont Game and Fish Conservation Club will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the hall of Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, Piedmont.

Mrs. Alpha Riffey Pleasant, Luke, attended the funeral of her brother, Lawrence Riffey, Tuesday at Lost City, W. Va.

Bethlehem Chapter No. 14, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

W. Va. Apple Tax Law Is Defended

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 5 —(AP)—Malcolm M. Brown, chairman of the commission which administers West Virginia's year-old apple tax, would "welcome" a test of the levy's constitutionality.

Brown told orchardists from four states, here for the annual meeting of the West Virginia Horticultural Society, that the commission had met only a few times, has been operating economically, and was ready to see the controversial levy undergo a court test. Such a test has been threatened by opponents of the law.

In a talk designed to "clear all angles" of the dispute, Brown defended the law and outlined its operation. The levy was established last year by the state legislature, under sponsorship of the society.

Fred C. Matson, Martinsburg, was advanced from the vice-presidency to the presidency for a two-year term at an election today. He succeeds Howard Rannells, Romney.

Sam Skinner, Shepherdstown, was named vice-president, in a post which by custom leads to the presidency in two years.

Carroll Miller and Malcolm M. Brown, both of Martinsburg, were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively, even after Miller rose to his feet when the slate of officers was presented and renewed his resignation.

He said his name was improperly included because he had resigned, and he asked that it be stricken and the executive committee be instructed to find a successor.

The slate was adopted unanimously as presented, however, leaving the secretaryship somewhat up in the air.

Hagerstown Marine Office Is Opened

The Marine Recruiting Service opened an office in Room 202 of the Hagerstown Post Office this week with Staff Sgt. Miles Wells as non - commissioned officer in charge. The Cumberland office has previously had charge of that territory.

Major E. S. Dzure, Baltimore, district officer, activated the station, and will arrive in Cumberland on an inspection trip soon.

Fred C. Matson, Martinsburg, was advanced from the vice-presidency to the presidency for a two-year term at an election today. He succeeds Howard Rannells, Romney.

Sam Skinner, Shepherdstown, was named vice-president, in a post which by custom leads to the presidency in two years.

Carroll Miller and Malcolm M. Brown, both of Martinsburg, were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively, even after Miller rose to his feet when the slate of officers was presented and renewed his resignation.

He said his name was improperly included because he had resigned, and he asked that it be stricken and the executive committee be instructed to find a successor.

The slate was adopted unanimously as presented, however, leaving the secretaryship somewhat up in the air.

Hagerstown Marine Office Is Opened

The Marine Recruiting Service opened an office in Room 202 of the Hagerstown Post Office this week with Staff Sgt. Miles Wells as non - commissioned officer in charge. The Cumberland office has previously had charge of that territory.

Major E. S. Dzure, Baltimore, district officer, activated the station, and will arrive in Cumberland on an inspection trip soon.

Equipment Authorized To Enlarge Kelly Legion Post's Drum Corps

Group To Be Ready For Spring Parades

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—Charles E. Kelly Post Drum and Bugle Corps, which rehearses regularly on Monday evenings in the high school auditorium, is making rapid progress under the direction of Carl Sassaman, band instructor in Meyersdale High School.

More drums and bugles are to be purchased by the organization during the coming weeks. At a recent meeting of Kelly Post, American Legion, the officers of the drum and bugle corps were authoized to purchase sufficient equipment to bring the personnel of the corps up to 37 members. It is expected to have this new musical organization in condition for parades early this spring.

Allen Decker Dies

Rites for Allen C. Decker, 60, who died Wednesday afternoon at his home in Summit Township, Garrett, R. D., will be conducted at the Center Lutheran Church Friday at 2:30 p. m. He was a member of the church. Rev. Howard K. Hilner, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Meyersdale, will officiate with interment in Union Cemetery.

Mr. Decker had been ill during the past five years. He was born in Summit Township, a son of the late Willis and Mary Burkholder Decker. He was formerly active in Democratic political circles in southern Somerset County, and was at one time a member of the township board of education, and was also a road construction engineer for a number of years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cora Bockes Decker, and the following children: Clarence, Garrett; Kenneth, Akron, Ohio; Paul, Salisbury; Harry, Akron, Ohio; Allen, Elwood, Melvin, Harold, Bruce and Pauline Decker, all at home; seven grandchildren and two brothers, William Decker and Webster Decker, both of Garrett, and two sisters, Mrs. Irvin Gnagey, Garrett, and Mrs. Harry Stevanus, Meyersdale.

Personal Items

James Miller, son of Sherman Miller, Trans-Meyersdale, left yesterday morning for Cumberland, Md., en route to Baltimore to begin a three-year enlistment in the U. S. Navy. He is a graduate of Meyersdale High School, class of 1947, and was president of his class during the senior year. He was active in football and basketball.

Mrs. Annie Meehan, North Street, returned Wednesday from a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mallery, Uniontown.

Frank Hoffmyer, who has been ill for some time, was removed to the Hazel McGilvery Hospital Wednesday for observation and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Beachy Reich, Baltimore, are visiting at the home of their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reich, and Mr. and Mrs. Belle Getty. Beachy is a student at the University of Maryland.

ters, Mrs. Gladys Galbraith, Mrs. Lillian Dayton, both of Keyser, and Mrs. Hazel Miller, Fairmont; one sister, Miss Bettie Hite and one brother, Joseph M. Hite, both of Luray. Four grandchildren also survive: William Patrick Dayton, Paul Taylor Dayton, Charles Reeves Taylor and David Hite Taylor.

Rites will be held at the residence, 123 East Piedmont Street, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. H. S. Hyerly, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Queens Point cemetery.

Comedy Opens Tuesday

Rehearsals are being held daily for the production of "She Forgot to Remember" a three-act comedy to be presented by the K-Klub and the K-Ettes, boys' and girls' Athletic Association of Keyser High School at the school auditorium February 10 and 11.

The comedy is under the direction of Coach Fred "Tack" Clark, member of the English and athletic departments, assisted by Miss Jeanette Daniel, physical education instructress, and Miss Irene Taylor, of the English department.

The cast includes Patricia "Pat" Pulliam, Jean Smith, Ruth Elaine Purinton, Patricia "Pat" Hartsfield, Mary Mac Bess, Peggy Oates, Wanda Simons, Marietta Jones, Mary Alice Combs, Charles Emery, Moncelle Berg, Neil Wensell, Lloyd Maine and John Spitzer.

Members of the production staff are Martha Ellen Watson, Joyce Baldwin and Eugene Michaels, business managers; stage manager is Eugene Michals and Eloise Oates is in charge of publicity.

Lt. Sheetz Funeral Planned

Mrs. Harriet Fisher Sheetz, 135 South Main Street, received word yesterday that the body of her husband, 1st Lt. Frederick Sheetz, Jr., who died in Alaska after the B-29 on which he was a navigator crashed near Nome on December 23, has arrived in the United States.

Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Full military honors will be accorded at the grave. The body will be escorted by Lt. Charles Hart, of Ladd Field, Alaska.

Soap Box Derby Cancelled

Because the number of contestants in Soap Box Derbys in Keyser in previous years was far below the required number, Keyser will not have a Soap Box Derby in 1948, according to a letter received by Edgell L. Grayson, president of the Yeomen Club, from Byron E. Scott, general manager of the All-American Soap Box Derby.

Scott said in his letter to Grayson that only cities who would guarantee a large number of contestants were reinstated this year.

The Soap Box Derby had been sponsored in previous years by The Yeomen Club, Ludwick's Garage and the News-Tribune.

Brief Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Peters were called to Cumberland Sunday by the death of her brother, Wilson G. Grant. Interment was in the Hillcrest Burial Park.

Mr. and Mrs. James Glass announce the birth of a daughter at the Potomac Valley Hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rinker at Potomac Valley Hospital yesterday morning.

Recent admissions to the local hospitals include Henry Smiley, Westernport; Charles N. Nelson, Jr., Mrs. Bessie Rogers, Mrs. Melvin Kesner, all of Keyser and John Delawder, Beryl.

KEMPTON P-TA PLANS VALENTINE SOCIAL

By BURNETTA ARNOLD

Kempton, W. Va.—The Kempton Parent-Teacher Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night with a covered dish supper and Valentine party. Persons attending are expected to bring a covered dish and a valentine.

Brief Mention

Mrs. Valeria Scripp Burdock has announced that the March of Dimes campaign will continue until February 15 in this community. More than $70 was raised at the social held recently at the school.

The United Mine Workers of America held their weekly meeting at Kempton School and selected Judd Gilmore, Omer Smith, Darrell Lantz and Albert Tasker to make a business trip to Cumberland.

Kempton School will be host to Rev. Mr. Morrow, Davis, this afternoon and tonight when he begins showing a series of movies.

Paul Carr and Peter Ritter visited their wives at Philippi hospital.

Mrs. Delmont Simmons and family visited Table Rock, Md.

Otago Province, New Zealand, will shortly celebrate its centennial.

A Senator may soon rock Washington with charges that a prominent writer has been an unregistered lobbyist, at a four-figure fee, for a prominent distiller. . . . Capital buzz is that the wartime practice of wire tapping has been revived. . . . Lee Pressman, who recently resigned as counsel to the CIO to work for Wallace, may become chief counsel for the United Electrical Workers just to keep his hand in the labor picture. . . . Hollywood to open a full-scale campaign in Washington to reduce the 20% amusement tax. . . . For the Interesting If True Department: Petrillo and the record companies reached a satisfactory agreement at the same time as the radio and FM accords were announced. However, the record companies begged to hold off public announcement of lifting of the ban for at least six months in order to dispose of the large backlog of recordings now in storerooms.

Philippine Red Cross

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine Red Cross expects to fill its quota of 1,500,000 pesos ($750,000) in its first fund drive in February, says its president, Mrs. Manuel Quezon, widow of the late president. The organization has been separated from the American Red Cross less than a year and in that brief time has been called upon to help in 80 typhoons and 30 major fires.

Ridgeley And AHS Win; LaSalle Plays Fort Hill Tonight

Piedmont High Lions Beaten By 45-33 Score

Ridgeley Scores 5th Conference Triumph

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High Blackhawks continued to sweep through all Potomac Valley Conference opposition as they romped over the Piedmont Lions, 45 to 33, before some 400 spectators at Ridgeley last night.

The Hawks, still a far cry from the cage machine which opened the season, thus chalked up their fifth straight PVC triumph, their third win since losing to Fort Hill and their 11th victory in 12 starts this season.

Brehany Scores 23 Points

Ridgeley completely demolished Coach "Huck" Miers' Lions with a 17-point barrage in the second period, then spent the second half trying to increase their margin of victory and watching the scoring duel between Bill Brehany and Kenny Ward. Brehany won 23 points on 11 baskets and a foul conversion while Ward had 20 points on nine baskets and two gift throws.

The Lions, who played without Paul Steidings who was injured, held the Hawk's big Paul Lindsay scoreless from the field. Lindsay contributed only two foul conversions and got off only four shots, three of them rebound trys which missed. Joe Moss helped fill in on Hawk scoring with 13 points.

Moss's rebound tip-in gave Ridgeley a 2-0 lead in the first minute of play. Ward's lay-up with 5:30 left tied the score but Lindsay's gift toss and Brehany's one-hander sent the Hawks in front again at 5-2. Ward's foul shot and Brehany's lay-up scored Ridgeley to 7-3 but Bill Smith and Evers Smith knotted the count again with set shots. Roy Comer's one-hander from the left side gave the Hawks a 9-7 quartertime lead.

Ward's gift toss, Lindsay's free throw and baskets by Brehany and Ward left Ridgeley ahead at 12-10 as the second quarter began. The Hawks suddenly regained their shooting eye and Moss and Brehany each pumped three twin-pointers through the hoop to raise the score to 24-10, Ridgeley. Evers Smith's set shot and Brehany's one-hander closed the half with Ridgeley riding on top of a 26-12 score.

Piedmont closed the gap to 31-19 mid-way in the third period but "Fats" Wilson's jump-pivot goal and Moss's lay-up left Ridgeley with a 35-19 lead as the final period started.

Lead By 20 Points

Ridgeley ran their lead to 40-20 before Piedmont's Kenny Ward found the range and narrowed the count to 45-30. The Hawk second team poured onto the floor and Piedmont added three more tallies before the whistle for the final count of Ridgeley's 45, Piedmont 33.

Joe Moss, Bill Brehany and Roy Comer were outstanding for the Hawks while Kenny Ward, Evers Smith and diminutive Jack Grady were the Lions' best. Lineups:

79 NATIONS WILL SEEK DAVIS CUP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall made the draw today for the 29 tennis-playing nations which would like to take the Davis Cup away from the champion United States.

While foreign ambassadors and assorted dignitaries watched, Marshall reached into the big Davis Cup. Slowly he pulled out the 29 names, one by one.

The United States, as the champion, has nothing to do while the 20 contenders fight it out among themselves this summer. It then meets the successful challenger for the cup.

Australia, which gave the U. S. a tough fight in the finals last summer, is competing in the so-called American zone.

And apparently it is expected to be just as though this summer. For only three other nations chose to compete in this division.

Cuba drew Australia in the first round, while Mexico will play Canada.

Lanier Signs Contract To Return To Mexico

HAVANA, Feb. 5. (AP)—Max Lanier, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, signed a contract tonight with Jorge Pasquel, head of the Mexican Baseball League, to play in Mexico again next season.

Previous Pasquel had signed Catcher Jim Steiner, at one time property of the Cleveland Indians, for another season below the border. Lanier and Steiner have been playing for Almendares in Cuba this winter, and both are expected to be with the Vera Cruz team in Mexico.

Terms were not disclosed by Pasquel.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (INS)—Once again the sports writers have been asked to name some players to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

And once again we pass the buck right on to you fans. You name them and we'll abide by your decision.

You are asked to name 10 who were active from 1922 to 1946, inclusive. And you are told the candidates "shall be chosen for integrity, sportsmanship, character, their contribution to their teams and to baseball in general."

That definition covers a lot of ground and enables you to name a great many players.

After mulling through the records for hours we came up with 10 we thought were deserving of a niche in the hall of fame. But if you can think of others to replace them we'll pass your selections along. Here are the 10 we like:

Bill Dickey, Herb Pennock, Mel Ott, Gabby Hartnett, Tony Lazzeri, Pie Traynor, Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx, Charley Gehringer, and a personal enemy with whom we never got along, Bill Terry.

Here's our thumbnail reasons for their selection:

Dickey had a .314 mark for his life-time batting average and hit 200 homers. He rates with Mickey Cochrane as top catcher of all time. Cochrane already has been selected.

Mel Ott hit 511 homers and his B. A. was .306. A fine fielder and thrower and a model player.

Herb Pennock, the stylish southpaw, who wan 240 and lost 161 over a 23-year span. Called by Ty Cobb the greatest of all left handers.

Gabby Hartnett, an inspirational catcher who hit .298 over a long stretch of years.

Tony Lazzeri, a great second sacker and "the brains of the Yanks" who averaged .292 with the stick.

Pie Traynor, admittedly the best third baseman of modern times, who averaged .320 for 17 years.

Al Simmons, a grand outfielder who hit .334 for 20 years and walloped 307 homers.

Jimmy Foxx, a star first baseman, and a handy man anywhere, who hit 500 homers and averaged .334.

Charley Gehringer, than whom there never was a smoother second baseman, whose life-time average with the stick was .321.

And our ancient foe, Bill Terry, who rated tops as a first baseman and who averaged .341 with a snappy .401 to 1930 to lead the National League.

Those men rate a spot in the Hall of Fame. Yet how can you leave off Earl Combs who hit around .340 as a lead-off man for the Yanks and whom Miller Huggins always called his ideal ball player?

What about Ed Roush who in his heydey was the best outfielder in the National League? What about Sunny Jim Bottomley whose record for 12 runs batted in in one game still stands?

How can you leave off Dizzy Dean or Rabbit Maranville or Joe Medwick? And what about truly grand stars like Lefty Gomez, Fred Fitzsimmons, Travis Jackson, Dick Bartell, Paul Waner, Red Faber, Burleigh Grimes, Dazzy Vance, Al Lopez, Eppa Rixey and Adolfo Luque?

We could name others we think worthy of a spot in the Hall of Fame but we'll leave that up to you fans. What say?

CLEVELAND INDIANS SIGN JOE GORDON

CLEVELAND, Feb. 5. (AP)—Joe Gordon, Cleveland Indians' stellar second baseman, has signed on the dotted line.

Tribe President Bill Veeck announced receipt of Gordon's contract and said Joe got a "substantial salary boost." Gordon came to the Indians last season in a trade with the New York Yankees involving pitcher Allie Reynolds. "The Flash" went on to finish second in the league's homer race and gain the all-star team.

Gordon's contract came in with pitcher Steve Gromek's, raising the Indians' signed to 27 of 37 on the roster.

Campers Beat Barton, 47-27, In League Tilt

Sterne Tops Scorers; AHS Bags 4th In Row

By MERVIN TRAIL

Allegany High's Campers made it four in a row last night when they defeated the Barton High Braves at Campobello by the score of 47-27 in a W. M. I. League contest.

It was the Blue and White's fifth victory in six starts in the county league. Allegany's season record is 11 victories and three losses.

Barton showed up exceptionally well in the first quarter and led the locals, 9-8, but the visitors fell apart in the second stanza and at half time were on the short end of a 24-15 score.

Excelling with a snappy brand of passwork and accurate shooting, Barton held its own with A. H. S. in the first period and after the score had been tied at 7-7 the visitors forged ahead on Tichnell's basket. When the second period got underway fielders by Inskeep and Brennan gave the Bartonites a 13-8 edge but here Allegany found itself and caught Coach Footen's team at 13-13 on field goals by Ronnie Sterne and Bob Lookabaugh and a foul conversion by the latter.

Inskeep bounced back to give Barton the lead at 15-13. Then Ronnie Sterne scored with a set shot to deadlock the count at 15-15. After Don Lilya and Sterne connected for fielders the Campers were never headed.

Sterne was Allegany's scoring ace with 16 tallies while Lilya was runner-up with 12. Joe Inskeep paced Barton with eight markers. Lineups:

Sauer Arrives Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5. (AP)—George Sauer, Navy's new football coach, will arrive here tomorrow to take over his duties.

He will meet his squad and the press Saturday morning.

Joe Fulks of the Philadelphia Warriors of the Basketball Association of America set a league record recently against Boston when he took 52 shots from the floor. He made only 12.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—As this is written New York apparently is in the foothills of another snowstorm; the kind of storm which makes sports seem a very minor activity at the most.

All you think about is to wonder can you get home, and the comfort of the fireside once you do get home. Baseball, and football, and boxing, and track seem very remote indeed.

Particularly football, and with snow up to your hips it is quite difficult to promote a very great interest in the fact that the New York Yankees of the All-America Conference have signed 15 collegians for delivery next August.

There will be basketball, and track, and hockey, and fights, and golf before football rolls around again, but the Yankee announcement is interesting inasmuch as it shows the underlying pride and jealousy existing between the two pro circuits—the All-America Conference and the more venerable National League.

In announcing the signing of the 15 college stars the Yankees were careful to point out that 10 of the players were on the National League draft, or reserve list, and that consequently it was necessary to outbid the National League club for their services.

It also was emphatically pointed out that the reason the New York club had not made a show out of going after big-name stars was the fact that it was not rebuilding, but merely adding strength where needed. The intimation was that, if a man such as Johnny Lujack was needed, the Yankees would have gone out and got him, with money no object.

This obviously was a barb aimed at the National League, which this year has been stealing the All-America's stuff. Last year the All America made a great show of signing the most publicized college players, with money, apparently, no object.

This year the shoe has been on the other foot, to coin a phrase The National League has upzipped the pocketbook and signed most of the so-called name players.

It was a challenge, no less. The All-America Conference had made its bid for recognition by signing outstanding college players of other years. With millions of dollars reputedly behind it, the All - America sought to force the long-established National League to recognize the new circuit as its equal.

The National League consistently has refused to do this. Consequently, it became a question of which league could throw dollars down the drain the longest.

The All-America, with its wealthy backers of most clubs, set about to bankrupt the National League clubs by acquiring star players at huge salaries.

But the National League was stubborn. It still believes it can out-last its so-called upstart rival. It is obvious that it intends to make this year the show-down year. It went out after the big-name college players, and got most of them, thus Showing the All-America that when it came to a battle of dollars it could match its rival.

The Yankees, in boasting that 10 of their new men were on the National League preferred list, and that thy did not need the name players anyway, are offering a rebuttal.

Orioles May Lose Baltimore Home

Suit Would Toss Team Out Of The Stadium

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—An injunction suit seeking to throw the Baltimore Orioles of the International Baseball League out of the Municipal Stadium will be heard March 8.

If successful, the suit would make the Orioles homeless. They have been playing in the Municipal Stadium since July 4, 1944, when their ball park burned down.

Herb Armstrong, Oriole business manager, said the club was not even speculating on what loss of the suit would mean. He added it already had "tied things up," preventing the Orioles from signing a lease for the season which opens late in April.

The suit brought by residents of the stadium area asks that the City Park Board be restrained from leasing to the Orioles. In addition to school athletic contests, the stadium is used by the Baltimore Colts of the All-America Professional Football Conference and the Navy football team.

The suit was invited by Mayor Thomas D'Alensandro after unofficial protests by residents that the Oriole baseball games, particularly at night, were creating a nuisance.

The mayor urged a court decision before the city got started rebuilding the stadium. The voters already have approved a $2,500,000 loan for improvements and will be asked to okay the same amount this year.

NYU Wins 14th

BOSTON, Feb. 5 (INS) The New York University basketball team remained undefeated tonight when it brushed past a weak Boston University quintet, 61 to 44, before 2,000 fans at Boston Garden.

The Violets looked ragged, however, as they rung up their 14th consecutive victory of the season. At half time they led, 34 to 31, after blowing a 10-point lead.

DAVIS-FORT HILL GAME RESCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY 21

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill High School last night announced that the Sentinels will play Davis High School at Davis, W. Va., Saturday, February 21.

This game was originally set for Wednesday night but was postponed on account of a heavy snowstorm which made traveling hazardous.

Cavanaugh said that Fort Hill's game with Hagerstown, postponed on January 30, will be played in Hagerstown, Monday, February 16.

Expenses In Golf Double And Triple, Ben Hogan Asserts

Made $25,000 In 1947 But It Cost $20,000

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 5. (AP)—Don't let those big winnings fool you, says Ben Hogan—the profit has fallen out of golf.

Belting Ben, here to play in the Texas Open and one of the favorites, as usual, had some pertinent observations regarding the links game at this time.

"I made about $25,000 last year," he said, "and it cost me $20,000 to do it."

Hogan declared that while golf prizes were about the same expenses had doubled and tripled. "I make money out of golf all right but not all on the course," he said. "Endorsements, radio broadcasts, equipment sales and other activities net me considerable."

Little Ben now is writing a newspaper column and will have a book out soon.

Another pertinent observation was that there are more good golfers today than ever before. "There will be no more of those one-man winning streaks, he declared; "that is, until there's another war. Don't look for any player to take ten or twelve tournaments in a row. The competition is too strong."

Hogan pointed to the fact that in five tournaments this year there were five different winners—Hogan at Los Angeles, Lloyd Mangrum in the Bing Crosby pro-amateur, E. J. Harrison in the Richmond, Calif., open, Bobby Locke at Phoenix and Stewart (Skip) Alexander at Tucson.

All are entries in the $10,000 Texas Open which starts tomorrow at 6,400-yard par 36-35—71 Brackenbridge Park course.

There will be 18 holes Saturday when the field will be cut to the low 60 and ties for the final 36 holes Sunday.

Elroy Marti of Houston laid down a 64 in today's pro-amateur for the lowest card of the day. This brought the team of Marti and Jack Berry, San Antonio amateur, a best ball of 61.

Hogan didn't play in the pro-amateur but shot a practice round. Locke had a 69 and Demaret didn't post a score. He and his partner, Whitey Sturman of Dallas, had a best ball of 68.

Gentry To Aid Ward, New Colorado Coach

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb 5. (AP)—Dallas Ward, newly-signed football coach at Colorado University, today picked Eugene W. "Buzz" Gentry, long a successful high school coach, as an assistant.

Ward did not reveal salary terms.

Gentry has been rated as one of the best coaches ever to work in the St. Paul, Minn., City League. Before entering military service he developed a championship team at St. Paul Central High and last year he was at St. Paul Monroe, which finished second.

Fort Hill High School and LaSalle High School will clash in basketball for the 45th time since 1927 tonight at 8 o'clock on the Fort Hill court.

It will be the final game of the season's series between the schools and the Sentinels of Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh are favored to win by a convincing score. The Hilltoppers defeated the Explorers in the series opener last month the score of 52-39.

In the 44 games played to date LaSalle has won 24 and Penn Avenue-Fort Hill teams have copped 20. Five games were decided by the margin of a single point, LaSalle taking three and Fort Hill two. The series between the schools started in 1927.

Clifton Van Roby and Clifford Fearer will officiate.

In the preliminary game at 6:50 p. m., between the Fort Hill and LaSalle Reserves, Vernon Wharton and Bill Dean will officiate.

Four Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for tonight. Elk Garden visits Circleville, Piedmont is at Fort Ashby, Moorefield is host to Romney and Petersburg invades Mathias.

Bruce High of Westernport is slated to play Beall in a W.M.I. League game in Frostburg at 8 o'clock.

In the W.M.I. Girls' League Bruce will play at Fort Hill and Allegany meets Central in Lonaconing this afternoon. Both contests are scheduled for 3:45 o'clock.

Other games on tap for tonight include:

Hancock at Paw Paw.
Conemaugh Township at Bedford.
Parsons at Bedford.
Davis at Thomas.

Mangrum Leads Money Winners

Bobby Locke, Second, Ben Hogan Is Third

CHICAGO, Feb. 5—(AP)—Little Lloyd Mangrum, who slumped last year after winning the 1946 National Open, is swinging in front of the professional golfing brigade after the first month of 1948 competition with earnings of $5,783.

In 19 rounds of play, according to Professional Golfers' Association statistics, Mangrum also is tops in skill with an average of 68.88 strokes per round which gave him $4.43 every time he tapped the ball last month.

Runner-up to Mangrum is South Africa's Bobby Locke with $5,095 and a 69.16 average.

Ben Hogan, 1947 leader at this time with $6,233, ranks third with $4,512 for 15 rounds in which he averaged 69.27 strokes. Other leading cash collectors include Johnny Palmer, $3,390; Jimmy Demaret, $3,248; Dutch Harrison, $3,071; Skip Alexander, $2,062; and Chandler Harper, $2,033.

AHS Reserves Score Over Barton, 42-21

Ridgeley And AHS Win; LaSalle Plays Fort Hill Tonight

Piedmont High Lions Beaten By 45-33 Score

Ridgeley Scores 5th Conference Triumph

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High Blackhawks continued to sweep through all Potomac Valley Conference opposition as they romped over the Piedmont Lions, 45 to 33, before some 400 spectators at Ridgeley last night.

The Hawks, still a far cry from the cage machine which opened the season, thus chalked up their fifth straight PVC triumph, their third win since losing to Fort Hill and their 11th victory in 12 starts this season.

Brehany Scores 23 Points

Ridgeley completely demolished Coach "Huck" Miers' Lions with a 17-point barrage in the second period, then spent the second half trying to increase their margin of victory and watching the scoring duel between Bill Brehany and Kenny Ward. Brehany won 23 points on 11 baskets and a foul conversion while Ward had 20 points on nine baskets and two gift throws.

The Lions, who played without Paul Steidings who was injured, held the Hawk's big Paul Lindsay scoreless from the field. Lindsay contributed only two foul conversions and got off only four shots, three of them rebound trys which missed. Joe Moss helped fill in on Hawk scoring with 13 points.

Moss's rebound tip-in gave Ridgeley a 2-0 lead in the first minute of play. Ward's lay-up with 5:30 left tied the score but Lindsay's gift toss and Brehany's one-hander sent the Hawks in front again at 5-2. Ward's foul shot and Brehany's lay-up scored Ridgeley to 7-3 but Bill Smith and Evers Smith knotted the count again with set shots. Roy Comer's one-hander from the left side gave the Hawks a 9-7 quartertime lead.

Ward's gift toss, Lindsay's free throw and baskets by Brehany and Ward left Ridgeley ahead at 12-10 as the second quarter began. The Hawks suddenly regained their shooting eye and Moss and Brehany each pumped three twin-pointers through the hoop to raise the score to 24-10, Ridgeley. Evers Smith's set shot and Brehany's one-hander closed the half with Ridgeley riding on top of a 26-12 score.

Piedmont closed the gap to 31-19 mid-way in the third period but "Pata" Wilson's jump-pivot goal and Moss's lay-up left Ridgeley with a 35-19 lead as the final period started.

Lead By 20 Points

Ridgeley ran their lead to 40-20 before Piedmont's Kenny Ward found the range and narrowed the count to 45-30. The Hawk second team poured onto the floor and Piedmont added three more tallies before the whistle for the final count of Ridgeley's 45, Piedmont 33.

Joe Moss, Bill Brehany and Roy Comer were outstanding for the Hawks while Kenny Ward, Evers Smith and diminutive Jack Grady were the Lions' best. Lineups:

29 NATIONS WILL SEEK DAVIS CUP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall made the draw today for the 29 tennis-playing nations which would like to take the Davis Cup away from the champion United States.

While foreign ambassadors and assorted dignitaries watched, Marshall reached into the big Davis Cup. Slowly he pulled out the 29 names, one by one.

The United States, as the champion, has nothing to do while the 29 contenders fight it out among themselves this summer. It then meets the successful challenger for the cup.

Australia, which gave the U. S. a tough fight in the finals last summer, is competing in the so-called American zone.

And apparently it is expected to be just as though this summer. For only three other nations chose to compete in this division.

Cuba drew Australia in the first round, while Mexico will play Canada.

Lanier Signs Contract To Return To Mexico

HAVANA, Feb. 5. (AP)—Max Lanier, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, signed a contract tonight with Jorge Pasquel, head of the Mexican Baseball League, to play in Mexico again next season.

Previous Pasquel had signed Catcher Jim Steiner, at one time property of the Cleveland Indians, for another season below the border. Lanier and Steiner have been playing for Almendares in Cuba this winter, and both are expected to be with the Vera Cruz team in Mexico.

Terms were not disclosed by Pasquel.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (INS)—Once again the sports writers have been asked to name some players to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

And once again we pass the buck right on to you fans. You name them and we'll abide by your decision.

You are asked to name 10 who were active from 1922 to 1946, inclusive. And you are told the candidates "shall be chosen for integrity, sportsmanship, character, their contribution to their teams and to baseball in general."

That definition covers a lot of ground and enables you to name a great many players.

After mulling through the records for hours we came up with 10 we thought were deserving of a niche in the hall of fame. But if you can think of others to replace them we'll pass your selections along. Here are the 10 we like:

Bill Dickey, Herb Pennock, Mel Ott, Gabby Hartnett, Tony Lazzeri, Pie Traynor, Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx, Charley Gehringer, and a personal enemy with whom we never got along, Bill Terry.

Here's our thumbnail reasons for their selection:

Dickey had a .314 mark for his life-time batting average and hit 200 homers. He rates with Mickey Cochrane as top catcher of all time. Cochrane already has been selected.

Mel Ott hit 511 homers and his B. A. was .306. A fine fielder and thrower and a model player.

Gabby Hartnett, an inspirational catcher who hit .298 over a long stretch of years.

Tony Lazzeri, a great second sacker and "the brains of the Yanks" who averaged .292 with the stick.

Pie Traynor, admittedly the best third baseman of modern times, who averaged .320 for 17 years.

Al Simmons, a grand outfielder who hit .334 for 20 years and walloped 307 homers.

Jimmy Foxx, a star first baseman, and a handy man anywhere, who hit 500 homers and averaged .334.

Charley Gehringer, than whom there never was a smoother second baseman, whose life-time average with the stick was .321.

And our ancient foe, Bill Terry, who rated tops as a first baseman and who averaged .341 with a snappy .401 to 1930 to lead the National League.

Those men rate a spot in the Hall of Fame. Yet how can you leave off Earl Combs who hit around .340 as a lead-off man for the Yanks and whom Miller Huggins always called his ideal ball player?

What about Ed Roush who in his heydey was the best outfielder in the National League? What about Sunny Jim Bottomley whose record for 12 runs batted in in one game still stands?

How can you leave off Dizzy Dean or Rabbit Maranville or Joe Medwick? And what about truly grand stars like Lefty Gomez, Fred Fitzsimmons, Travis Jackson, Dick Bartell, Paul Waner, Red Faber, Burleigh Grimes, Dazzy Vance, Al Lopez, Eppa Rixey and Adolfo Luque?

We could name others we think worthy of a spot in the Hall of Fame but we'll leave that up to you fans. What say?

CLEVELAND INDIANS SIGN JOE GORDON

CLEVELAND, Feb. 5. (AP)—Joe Gordon, Cleveland Indians' stellar second baseman, has signed on the dotted line.

Tribe President Bill Veeck announced receipt of Gordon's contract and said Joe got a "substantial salary boost." Gordon came to the Indians last season in a trade with the New York Yankees involving pitcher Allie Reynolds. "The Flash" went on to finish second in the league's homer race and gain the all-star team.

Gordon's contract came in with pitcher Steve Gromek's, raising the Indians' signed to 27 of 37 on the roster.

V.F.W. Women Lose

Fisher and Robinette's women's shuffleboard team defeated the V.F.W. women's team last night by the score of 122 to 63. Mrs. William Lynn was high scorer for the winners with 30 points while Mrs. V. Kerns topped the V.F.W. with 16.

Women's teams desiring games with Fisher and Robinette are requested to phone 1817.

YOUNGSTOWN BEATS ZANESVILLE, 61-51

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 5 (AP)—Leo Mogus meshed 15 points tonight to lead Youngstown to a 61-51 victory over Zanesville in an All-American Basketball League game.

The local cagers led all the way as they bagged their 10th straight home victory and 15th win in 18 league starts. Hal Auspurger paced Zanesville with 13 tallies.

Campers Beat Barton, 47-27, In League Tilt

Sterne Tops Scorers; AHS Bags 4th In Row

By MERVIN TRAIL

Allegany High's Campers made it four in a row last night when they defeated the Barton High Braves at Campobello by the score of 47-27 in a W. M. I. League contest.

It was the Blue and White's fifth victory in six starts in the county league. Allegany's season record is 11 victories and three losses.

Barton showed up exceptionally well in the first quarter and led the locals, 9-8, but the visitors fell apart in the second stanza and at half time were on the short end of a 24-15 score.

Excelling with a snappy brand of passwork and accurate shooting, Barton held its own with A. H. S. in the first period and after the score had been tied at 7-7 the visitors forged ahead on Tichnell's basket. When the second period got underway fielders by Inskeep and Brennan gave the Bartonites a 13-8 edge but here Allegany found itself and caught Coach Footen's team at 13-13 on field goals by Ronnie Sterne and Bob Lookabaugh and a foul conversion by the latter.

Inskeep bounced back to give Barton the lead at 15-13. Then Ronnie Sterne scored with a set shot to deadlock the count at 15-15. After Don Lilya and Sterne connected for fielders the Campers were never headed.

Sterne was Allegany's scoring ace with 16 tallies while Lilya was runner-up with 12. Joe Inskeep paced Barton with eight markers. Lineups:

Sauer Arrives Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5. (AP)—George Sauer, Navy's new football coach, will arrive here tomorrow to take over his duties.

He will meet his squad and the press Saturday morning.

Joe Fulks of the Philadelphia Warriors of the Basketball Association of America set a league record recently against Boston when he took 52 shots from the floor. He made only 12.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—As this is written New York apparently is in the foothills of another snowstorm; the kind of storm which makes sports seem a very minor activity at the most.

All you think about is to wonder can you get home, and the comfort of the fireside once you do get home. Baseball, and football, and boxing, and track seem very remote indeed.

Particularly football, and with snow up to your hips it is quite difficult to promote a very great interest in the fact that the New York Yankees of the All-America Conference have signed 15 collegians for delivery next August.

There will be basketball, and track, and hockey, and fights, and golf before football rolls around again, but the Yankee announcement is interesting inasmuch as it shows the underlying pride and jealousy existing between the two pro circuits—the All-America Conference and the more venerable National League.

In announcing the signing of the 15 college stars the Yankees were careful to point out that 10 of the players were on the National League draft, or reserve list, and that consequently it was necessary to outbid the National League club for their services.

It also was emphatically pointed out that the reason the New York club had not made a show out of going after big-name stars was the fact that it was not rebuilding, but merely adding strength where needed. The intimation was that, if a man such as Johnny Lujack was needed, the Yankees would have gone out and got him, with money no object.

This obviously was a barb aimed at the National League, which this year has been stealing the All-America's stuff. Last year the All America made a great show of signing the most publicized college players, with money, apparently, no object.

This year the shoe has been on the other foot, to coin a phrase The National League has upzipped the pocketbook and signed most of the so-called name players.

It was a challenge, no less. The All-America Conference had made its bid for recognition by signing outstanding college players of other years. With millions of dollars reputedly behind it, the All - America sought to force the long-established National League to recognize the new circuit as its equal.

The National League consistently has refused to do this. Consequently, it became a question of which league could throw dollars down the drain the longest.

The All-America, with its wealthy backers of most clubs, set about to bankrupt the National League clubs by acquiring star players at huge salaries.

But the National League was stubborn. It still believes it can out-last its so-called upstart rival. It is obvious that it intends to make this year the show-down year. It went out after the big-name college players, and got most of them, thus Showing the All-America that when it came to a battle of dollars it could match its rival.

The Yankees, in boasting that 10 of their new men were on the National League preferred list, and that thy did not need the name players anyway, are offering a rebuttal.

Orioles May Lose Baltimore Home

Suit Would Toss Team Out Of The Stadium

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—An injunction suit seeking to throw the Baltimore Orioles of the International Baseball League out of the Municipal Stadium will be heard March 8.

If successful, the suit would make the Orioles homeless. They have been playing in the Municipal Stadium since July 4, 1944, when their ball park burned down.

Herb Armstrong, Oriole business manager, said the club was not even speculating on what loss of the suit would mean. He added it already had "tied things up," preventing the Orioles from signing a lease for the season which opens late in April.

The suit brought by residents of the stadium area asks that the City Park Board be restrained from leasing to the Orioles. In addition to school athletic contests, the stadium is used by the Baltimore Colts of the All-America Professional Football Conference and the Navy football team.

The suit was invited by Mayor Thomas D'Alensandro after unofficial protests by residents that the Oriole baseball games, particularly at night, were creating a nuisance.

The mayor urged a court decision before the city got started rebuilding the stadium. The voters already have approved a $2,500,000 loan for improvements and will be asked to okay the same amount this year.

NYU Wins 14th

BOSTON, Feb. 5 (INS) The New York University basketball team remained undefeated tonight when it brushed past a weak Boston University quintet, 61 to 44, before 2,000 fans at Boston Garden.

The Violets looked ragged, however, as they rung up their 14th consecutive victory of the season. At half time they led, 34 to 31, after blowing a 10-point lead.

Pence, Bell Are 4th And 5th In Pro League Scoring Race

Quinlan Leads Circuit; Leo Mogus Is Second

Robert "Bob" Pence and Lou Bell of the Cumberland Dukes are fourth and fifth, respectively, in the All-American Basketball League scoring race, according to league statistics for games played through January.

Pence has hooped 73 field goals and 33 free throws for a total of 179 points while Bell has connected for 75 fielders and 19 foul goals for 169 tallies.

Jimmie "Muscles" Quinlan, elongated center of the Wheeling Puritans, is leading the individual scoring race with 213 points.

Quinlan has poured 73 field goals through the hoops and cashed in on 67 charity throws to lead Leo Mogus of Youngstown by six points, Mogus has 80 field goals and 47 free throws.

Kenny Walters of Zanesville is third with 190 points.

After Bell and Pence come Jimmy Ruch of Wheeling with 166 and Charles Butler of Youngstown with 162. Leading scorers:

DAVIS-FORT HILL GAME RESCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY 21

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill High School last night announced that the Sentinels will play Davis High School at Davis, W. Va., Saturday, February 21.

This game was originally set for Wednesday night but was postponed on account of a heavy snowstorm which made traveling hazardous.

Cavanaugh said that Fort Hill's game with Hagerstown, postponed on January 30, will be played in Hagerstown, Monday, February 16.

Expenses In Golf Double And Triple, Ben Hogan Asserts

Made $25,000 In 1947 But It Cost $20,000

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 5. (AP)—Don't let those big winnings fool you, says Ben Hogan—the profit has fallen out of golf.

Belting Ben, here to play in the Texas Open and one of the favorites, as usual, had some pertinent observations regarding the links game at this time.

"I made about $25,000 last year," he said, "and it cost me $20,000 to do it."

Hogan declared that while golf prizes were about the same expenses had doubled and tripled. "I make money out of golf all right but not all on the course," he said. "Endorsements, radio broadcasts, equipment sales and other activities net me considerable."

Little Ben now is writing a newspaper column and will have a book out soon.

Another pertinent observation was that there are more good golfers today than ever before. "There will be no more of those one-man winning streaks, he declared; "that is, until there's another war. Don't look for any player to take ten or twelve tournaments in a row. The competition is too strong."

Hogan pointed to the fact that in five tournaments this year there were five different winners—Hogan at Los Angeles, Lloyd Mangrum in the Bing Crosby pro-amateur, E. J. Harrison in the Richmond, Calif., open, Bobby Locke at Phoenix and Stewart (Skip) Alexander at Tucson.

All are entries in the $10,000 Texas Open which starts tomorrow at 6,400-yard par 36-35—71 Brackenbridge Park course.

There will be 18 holes Saturday when the field will be cut to the low 60 and ties for the final 36 holes Sunday.

Elroy Marti of Houston laid down a 64 in today's pro-amateur for the lowest card of the day. This brought the team of Marti and Jack Berry, San Antonio amateur, a best ball of 61.

Hogan didn't play in the pro-amateur but shot a practice round. Locke had a 69 and Demaret didn't post a score. He and his partner, Whitey Sturman of Dallas, had a best ball of 68.

Gentry To Aid Ward, New Colorado Coach

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb 5. (AP)—Dallas Ward, newly-signed football coach at Colorado University, today picked Eugene W. "Buzz" Gentry, long a successful high school coach, as an assistant.

Ward did not reveal salary terms.

Gentry has been rated as one of the best coaches ever to work in the St. Paul, Minn., City League. Before entering military service he developed a championship team at St. Paul Central High and last year he was at St. Paul Monroe, which finished second.

Fort Hill High School and LaSalle High School will clash in basketball for the 45th time since 1927 tonight at 8 o'clock on the Fort Hill court.

It will be the final game of the season's series between the schools and the Sentinels of Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh are favored to win by a convincing score. The Hilltoppers defeated the Explorers in the series opener last month the score of 52-39.

In the 44 games played to date LaSalle has won 24 and Penn Avenue-Fort Hill teams have copped 20. Five games were decided by the margin of a single point, LaSalle taking three and Fort Hill two. The series between the schools started in 1927.

Clifton Van Roby and Clifford Fearer will officiate.

In the preliminary game at 6:50 p. m., between the Fort Hill and LaSalle Reserves, Vernon Wharton and Bill Dean will officiate.

Four Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for tonight. Elk Garden visits Circleville, Piedmont is at Fort Ashby, Moorefield is host to Romney and Petersburg invades Mathias.

Bruce High of Westernport is slated to play Beall in a W.M.I. League game in Frostburg at 8 o'clock.

In the W.M.I. Girls' League Bruce will play at Fort Hill and Allegany meets Central in Lonaconing this afternoon. Both contests are scheduled for 3:45 o'clock.

Other games on tap for tonight include:

Hancock at Paw Paw.

Conemaugh Township at Bedford.

Parsons at Bedford.

Davis at Thomas.

Mangrum Leads Money Winners

Bobby Locke, Second, Ben Hogan Is Third

CHICAGO, Feb. 5—(AP)—Little Lloyd Mangrum, who slumped last year after winning the 1946 National Open, is swinging in front of the professional golfing brigade after the first month of 1948 competition with earnings of $5,783.

In 19 rounds of play, according to Professional Golfers' Association statistics, Mangrum also is tops in skill with an average of 68.88 strokes per round which gave him $4.43 every time he tapped the ball last month.

Runner-up to Mangrum is South Africa's Bobby Locke with $5,095 and a 69.16 average.

Ben Hogan, 1947 leader at this time with $6,233, ranks third with $4,512 for 15 rounds in which he averaged 69.27 strokes. Other leading cash collectors include Johnny Palmer, $3,390; Jimmy Demaret, $3,248; Dutch Harrison, $3,071; Skip Alexander, $2,062; and Chandler Harper, $2,033.

United States Advances From 7th To 3rd Place In Winter Olympics

Gretchen Fraser And Dick Button Capture Titles

Americans Score 32 Points On 7th Day

By ROBERT PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 5 (INS)—The United States zoomed from seventh to third place in the Winter Olympic standings today when a pretty housewife and a slender schoolboy became the first Americans ever to win skiing and figure skating titles in the Olympic Games.

Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, of Vancouver, Wash., zig-zagged down a snowy St. Moritz slope in a women's special slalom to win America's first gold medal in these games and to provide the biggest surprise to date.

The cheers for the pert little lady had scarcely ceased to echo when Richard Totten ("Dick") Button, of Englewood, N. J., moved on dancing feet to America's first Olympic figure skating championship.

They beat back the world's best in a day of freizied activity which included a victory for Italy and a second place for the United States in the skeleton bobsleds, and a defeat for the United States AHA team in the unrecognized hockey matches.

Captivates Crowd

Mrs. Fraser's triumph on the ski slopes was the one that captivated a crowd which had given America little chance in the skiing. The 28-year-old matron finished second yesterday in a similar event.

She alone seeemed unsurprised at her accomplishment today, and as friends pummeled her when her victory was announced and photographers lined up for pictures, she was concerned mostly over the redness of her nose from the sniffles.

Her braided hair hung in two limp pigtails and she was dusted with powdery snow as she replied to questions and sought to primp for the photographers.

With a big smile, Mrs. Fraser said she hadn't yet felt a thrill over the unprecedented victory and added:

"I'm still waiting for that thrill —all I know is I'm exhausted and I've got a head cold."

Button's Victory Expected

In contrast to the slightly dishevelled winner of the zigzag ski event, Button was immaculate in tight-fitting black jacket, with black velvet collar, and black trousers, as he outskated the best in the world—as expected.

Today's free figures are his special dish and after he had won Monday's imposed figures it generally was agreed he couldn't miss, barring accident.

Button's closest rival — also as usual—was Hans Gerschwiler, of Switzerland, the world's champion, who finished second in both the imposed and the free figures. He wound up nearly 10 points behind the 18-year-old prospective Yale student.

Barbara Scott Leads

There was no surprise either when Canada's Barbara Ann Scott completed the imposed figures half of women's figure skating clearly in front of her field.

Gretchen Merrill, of Boston, U. S. champion and America's chief hope in the event, was in sixth place and all but out of it with the free figures yet to come.

At the end of the day, the standings by nations in unofficial point totals was: Switzerland, 69; Sweden, 62; United States, 52½; Norway, 48½; Austria, 46; France, 39; Finland, 38; Italy, 24; Britain, 7; Holland, 6; Hungary, 5; Belgium, 3, and Canada ¼.

U. S. Scores 32 Points

The United States picked up a total of 32 points for the day. The bulk of them came from the 10 points earned for each of those two thrill-studded wins in skiing and figure skating.

Mrs. Fraser was followed in the slalom by Antionette Meyer, of Switzerland, in second place, a half second behind the winner, and Erika Mahringer, of Austria, third. Americans other than Mrs. Fraser were out of it.

Button's edge over Gerschwiler in the figure skating was 191.077 against 181.122.

They were followed by Edi Rada, of Austria, then America broke in again. John Lettingarver, of St. Paul, Minn., was fourth, Ede Kiraly, of Hungary, fifth, and James Grogan, of Oakland Cal., sixth.

Italy took the skeleton bobsledding event with Nino Bibbia by a margin of one and two-tenths seconds over Jack Heaton, the defending champion from New Haven, Conn. John Crammond, of England, was third after the six runs.

Here America picked up more points again, when Sgt. Wilbur Martin of the United States Army and Kalispell, Mont., took fourth place.

The United States could do no better than a seventh by Jack Reddish, of Salt Lake City, Utah, in the men's slalom, won by Edi Reinalter, of Switzerland. James Coutett, of France, and Henri Oreiller, of France, were second and third.

The United States was virtually knocked out of the non-olympic hockey matches by Canada, 12 to 3, for the AHA's second defeat. Britain beat Poland, 7 to 2, and Switzerland won from Sweden, 8 to 1.

WINS SKI EVENT— Mrs. Gretchen Fraser of Vancouver, Wash., smiles at St. Moritz, Switzerland, after becoming the first American woman ever to win olympic skiing medals. The pretty housewife provided a big surprise yesterday by winning the women's special slalom. On Wednesday Mrs. Fraser took second place in the women's Alpine combination skiing event.

United States Advances From 7th To 3rd Place In Winter Olympics

Gretchen Fraser And Dick Button Capture Titles

Americans Score 32 Points On 7th Day

By ROBERT PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 5 (INS)—The United States zoomed from seventh to third place in the Winter Olympic standings today when a pretty housewife and a slender schoolboy became the first Americans ever to win skiing and figure skating titles in the Olympic Games.

Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, of Vancouver, Wash., zig-zagged down a snowy St. Moritz slope in a women's special slalom to win America's first gold medal in these games and to provide the biggest surprise to date.

The cheers for the pert little lady had scarcely ceased to echo when Richard Totten ("Dick") Button, of Englewood, N. J., moved on dancing feet to America's first Olympic figure skating championship.

They beat back the world's best in a day of freizied activity which included a victory for Italy and a second place for the United States in the skeleton bobsleds, and a defeat for the United States AHA team in the unrecognized hockey matches.

Captivates Crowd

Mrs. Fraser's triumph on the ski slopes was the one that captivated a crowd which had given America little chance in the skiing. The 28-year-old matron finished second yesterday in a similar event.

She alone seeemed unsurprised at her accomplishment today, and as friends pummeled her when her victory was announced and photographers lined up for pictures, she was concerned mostly over the redness of her nose from the sniffles.

Her braided hair hung in two limp pigtails and she was dusted with powdery snow as she replied to questions and sought to primp for the photographers.

With a big smile, Mrs. Fraser said she hadn't yet felt a thrill over the unprecedented victory and added:

"I'm still waiting for that thrill —all I know is I'm exhausted and I've got a head cold."

Button's Victory Expected

In contrast to the slightly dishevelled winner of the zigzag ski event, Button was immaculate in tight-fitting black jacket, with black velvet collar, and black trousers, as he outskated the best in the world—as expected.

Today's free figures are his special dish and after he had won Monday's imposed figures it generally was agreed he couldn't miss, barring accident.

Button's closest rival — also as usual—was Hans Gerschwiler, of Switzerland, the world's champion, who finished second in both the imposed and the free figures. He wound up nearly 10 points behind the 18-year-old prospective Yale student.

Barbara Scott Leads

There was no surprise either when Canada's Barbara Ann Scott completed the imposed figures half of women's figure skating clearly in front of her field.

Gretchen Merrill, of Boston, U. S. champion and America's chief hope in the event, was in sixth place and all but out of it with the free figures yet to come.

At the end of the day, the standings by nations in unofficial point totals was: Switzerland, 69; Sweden, 62; United States, 52½; Norway, 48½; Austria, 46; France, 39; Finland, 38; Italy, 24; Britain, 7; Holland, 6; Hungary, 5; Belgium, 3, and Canada ¾.

U. S. Scores 32 Points

The United States picked up a total of 32 points for the day. The bulk of them came from the 10 points earned for each of those two thrill-studded wins in skiing and figure skating.

Mrs. Fraser was followed in the slalom by Antignette Meyer, of Switzerland, in second place, a half second behind the winner, and Erika Mahringer, of Austria, third. Americans other than Mrs. Fraser were out of it.

Button's edge over Gerschwiler in the figure skating was 191.077 against 181.122.

They were followed by Edi Rada, of Austria, then America broke in again. John Lettingarver, of St. Paul, Minn., was fourth, Ede Kiraly, of Hungary, fifth, and James Grogan, of Oakland Cal., sixth.

Italy took the skeleton bobsledding event with Nino Bibbia by a margin of one and two-tenths seconds over Jack Heaton, the defending champion from New Haven, Conn. John Crammond, of England, was third after the six runs.

Here America picked up more points again, when Sgt. Wilbur Martin of the United States Army and Kalispell, Mont., took fourth place.

The United States could do no better than a seventh by Jack Reddish, of Salt Lake City, Utah, in the men's slalom, won by Edi Reinalter, of Switzerland. James Coutett, of France, and Henri Oreiller, of France, were second and third.

The United States was virtually knocked out of the non-olympic hockey matches by Canada, 12 to 3, for the AHA's second defeat. Britain beat Poland, 7 to 2, and Switzerland won from Sweden, 8 to 1.

WINS SKI EVENT— Mrs. Gretchen Fraser of Vancouver, Wash., smiles at St. Moritz, Switzerland, after becoming the first American woman ever to win olympic skiing medals. The pretty housewife provided a big surprise yesterday by winning the women's special slalom. On Wednesday Mrs. Fraser took second place in the women's Alpine combination skiing event.

Man Breaks Fall Of Three At Fire

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Running to the rescue of occupants trapped in a burning house, neighbor George L. Jones was hit today by three persons who plunged from upper floors.

Mrs. Mary Paddy, 43, and her son, George, 13, died in the fire while a crowd on the street below watched in horror.

Her night clothes aflame, Mrs. Paddy screamed and toppled dead from a third-floor window, an instant after George fell back into the blazing bedroom.

Jones had just picked himself up after breaking the fall of Mueller's pajama-clad wife, Betty, 22, who dropped from an improvised bed-sheet rope.

The rope slipped as Mueller tried to lower his wife to the street. Mueller, a Johns Hopkins University student, was attempting to fasten the sheets to the window frame when struck by Mrs. Paddy.

Jones and Mueller were treated for back injuries; Mrs. Mueller for shock, cuts and bruises.

Seven Of Ten Voters Favor Halt In Trade Between U. S., Russia

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 5 — Lend - lease shipments to Russia by the American government are opposed by a large majority of American voters. Popular coolness toward the Soviets has also reached the point where even the sale of products by private American business firms to Rissia is questioned by the majority.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin recently complained that "American regulating trade agencies" are discriminating against trade to his country.

A survey completed just before the ambassador stated his case shows that seven out of ten American voters want business firms in this country to stop shipments to Russia at once. Five of the seven hold very strong views on the subject.

Public sentiment on commercial relations with the Soviet is almost identical with opinion on official U. S. government exports as reported by the Institute early last December.

A representative cross-section of voters throughout the country was asked this question:

"American business firms are now selling oil, machinery, and industrial products to Russia. Do you think business firms should stop selling these things to Russia—or should they continue to sell these things to her?

The national averages:

Stop selling	72%
Continue Selling	15
No opinion	10
Qualified	3

A separate but comparable cross-section of voters was asked a question concerning strictly lend-lease shipments as follows:

"The U. S. government has been sending oil, machinery and industrial products to Russia under our lend-lease program. Do you think the government should stop sending these things to Russia — or should it continue to send these things to her?"

Stop	83%
Continue selling	8
No opinion	6
Qualified	3

The principal qualifications in both cases are: "send smaller amounts"; "yes, if necessary"; 'yes, if it won't hurt our economy."

Business and professional voters interviewed are less strongly opposed to American-Soviet private trade than manual workers, which is in odd contrast to Russian epithets about U. S. capitalists. The following table shows the vote by occupation on the question of trade with Russia by private American firms.

Occupation	Stop	Continue	No opinion	Qualified
Prof. & Bus.	69%	21%	5%	5%
Farmers	76	9	13	2
White Collar workers	71	20	6	3
Manuel workers	73	12	12	3

The question of two what extent American goods should be sold to the Russians has been raised several times during hearings on the European Recovery Program (the Marshall Plan).

While testifying in support of ERP last week Philip Read, chairman of the General Electric Corportion declared that G. E. was sending now only general-purpose goods under old contracts. He said no new contracts are anticipated after current orders are filled.

In Washington it is reported that the munitions board has set up a foreign trade section whose purpose will be to screen foreign shipments to make sure material does not go abroad that is needed for defense or that could aid a possible enemy nation.

Smoke Signals For Heart Trouble

LONDON—(AP)—The Lancet, British medical journal, says doctors should "think twice" before ordering sufferers of heart disease to quit smoking.

Complete abstinence from tobacco is advisable in the more acute forms of heart disease, the journal said. Otherwise, the patient should "take the same line as the normal person —if smoking upsets him, he should give up."

The Lancet's article admonished that if smoking makes the patient cough "he will be better without it" since coughing puts considerable strain on the damaged heart.

Equity Suits Filed

Three suits were filed in equity in Circuit Court here yesterday as follows: Elsie M. Murray vs Ernest A. Murray; Mary Warnick va Lewis Warnick; and James H. Johnson vs Margaret S. Johnson.

Man Breaks Fall Of Three At Fire

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Running to the rescue of occupants trapped in a burning house, neighbor George L. Jones was hit today by three persons who plunged from upper floors.

Mrs. Mary Paddy, 43, and her son, George, 13, died in the fire while a crowd on the street below watched in horror.

Her night clothes aflame, Mrs. Paddy screamed and toppled dead from a third-floor window, an instant after George fell back into the blazing bedroom.

Jones had just picked himself up after breaking the fall of Mueller's pajama-clad wife, Betty, 22, who dropped from an improvised bedsheet rope.

The rope slipped as Mueller tried to lower his wife to the street. Mueller, a Johns Hopkins University student, was attempting to fasten the sheets to the window frame when struck by Mrs. Paddy.

Jones and Mueller were treated for back injuries; Mrs. Mueller for shock, cuts and bruises.

Seven Of Ten Voters Favor Halt In Trade Between U. S., Russia

CARD OF THANKS

Your kindness and sympathy is more deeply appreciated than any words of thanks we can ever express, for the beautiful floral tributes and for the donation of cars for the funeral.

CLARENCE CLITES FAMILY

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Alberta Snyder, who passed away 11 years ago, February 6, 1937.

February brings sad memories
Of Mother, who has gone to rest;
She will never be forgotten
By the ones who loved her best.
Her heart was the truest in all the world,
Her love the best to recall,
For no one on earth can take your place,
Your are still the dearest Mother of all.

Her Children, SUE, ADA, MABEL, and ROBERT.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Law Offices of Clarence Shutter,
Law Building, Cumberland, Maryland.
Elsie M. Murray, Plaintiff vs. Ernest A. Murray, Defedant, No. 20515 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married at Somerset, Pennsylvania, on the 13th day of December, 1933; that no children were born of this marriage; that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 28th day of June, 1942, without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than two years next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and his present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.
It is thereupon this 5th day of February, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 8th day of March, 1948, give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 24th day of March, 1948, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

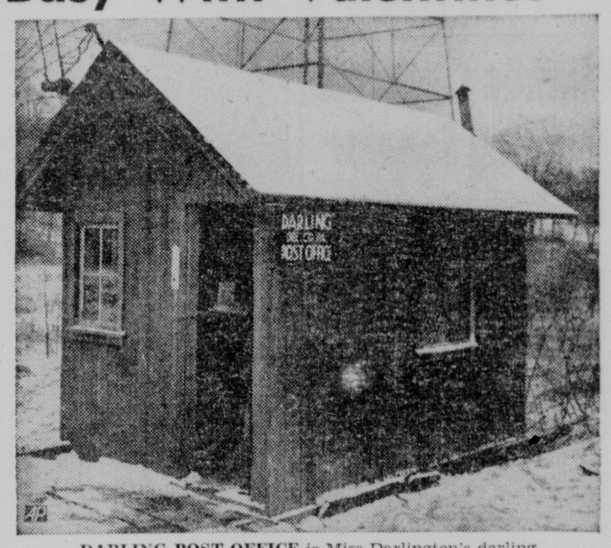
Darling Post Office Busy With Valentines



DARLING POST OFFICE is Miss Darlington's darling.

AP Newsfeatures

DARLING, Pa.—One of the smallest post offices in the United States is a darling.

But everyone who sees Darling wonders if Darling is really Darling. It's located just across the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad's West Chester branch and the railroad station is marked Darlington.

Darlington became Darling for post office purposes because Pennsylvania has two other Darlingtons, both near Pittsburgh.

Miss Martha S. Darlington, Darling postmaster, operates a one-woman mail service in the nine-by-eleven-foot post office and her eight-hour day lengthens to longer hours around Valentine's Day. Then amorous boys and girls throughout the country send letters to the post office. Their enclosed valentines are postmarked "Darling" and forwarded to their darlings by Miss Darlington.

Three hundred yards from Darling post office is the Darlington home, the original family homestead built on land granted to the Darlington and Sharpless families by William Penn in 1682.

DEATHS

MRS. JUDITH WILLISON

Mrs. Judith Willison, 66, died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at her home on Martin's Mountain, near Flintstone, after an illness of six months.

Born in Flintstone, July 18, 1881, she was a daughter of the late Jerros and Deborah Wilson Perrin. Mrs. Willison was a member of the Flintstone Methodist Church.

The widow of the late Norval F. Willison, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Paul Buchholtz, LaVale; Mrs. Robert W. Yonker, Flintstone; and Mrs. Franklin G. Norris, Piney Plains; five sons, Howard C. and George W. Willison, Flintstone; Walter W. and Frederick P., at home, and A. Woodrow Willison, Rawlings, and 13 grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home until Saturday at 2 p. m. when a funeral service will be conducted by Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor of the Flintstone Methodist Circuit. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows Cemetery, Flintstone.

CARL KRAUSE

FROSTBURG.—Carl Krause, 46, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Krause, Frostburg, died yesterday after suffering a heart attack in Canton, Ohio, where he was employed as a foreman for the Timken Roller Bearing Company.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Stella Reidler, Lonaconing, and three children, Betty, Bobbie and an infant son.

The body will arrive here and will be taken to the Durst Funeral Home for a funeral service Sunday.

CHARLES LEON

Charles Leon, 51, former construction worker, died last night at 9:10 o'clock at his home on Willowbrook Road after an illness of two years.

He was a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles.

His widow, Mrs. Margaret Bircks Leon, survives.

MRS. PARKER RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Margaret Parker, widow of John Parker, Frostburg, who died Wednesday, will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at her home, 32 Linden Street, Frostburg. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Carpenter Will Take Herb Pennock's Job

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5 (AP) — Owner-President Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies, and admitted baseball novice, today assumed "complete control" of the National League club—"except on the playing field."

The 32-year-old millionaire stepped into the general manager's shoes vacated by the death of Herb Pennock a week ago.

"This will be a permanent job," Carpenter said in an interview. "I was always the policy man of the club as president and will now simply combine policy with operation."

On the baseball diamond, however, Manager Ben Chapman "will be the boss—completely."

"Chapman's job is to win with the material he has," Carpenter declared. "If he wants to run the bases backwards, that's okay with me."

Bancroft Will Manage Girls' Baseball Team

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Dave Bancroft, former star major league shortstop, has been signed as manager of the Chicago Colleens, new entry in the All-American Girls Baseball League.

Bancroft starred with the Philadelphia Phils and New York Giants a quarter of a century ago, playing on the Phils' only pennant-winning club in 1915 and on three Giant championship teams under John Mc Graw in the early twenties.

Snow Loader Is Taken Off Job In Truck Dispute

Slows Removal Of Snow At Oakland

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND — The record snowfall and storm here Wednesday caused another storm to break in Oakland yesterday — between the town and the Independent Truckers' Association. The latter organization was objecting to the use of what they termed "out-of-state" trucks in hauling the snow away from Oakland's business streets, and as a result the snow loader of Owen Martin's, being used by the town, was called off the job.

Martin said he would order the loader back to work if the town used local trucks.

A. G. Hesen, mayor, said one of Albert Kresge's coal trucks was ordered to work Wednesday afternoon and yesterday, which Kresge's was offering to the town at no cost. This, added to the town's trucks already in use, were enough for the job, Hesen said, and no other trucks were authorized to report for work.

The Truckers Association, which Wednesday night went on record as objecting to the use of out-of-state trucks, had four trucks on the job this morning one of them being owned by Edward G. Schmidt, a member of the association and also a member of the city council, and driven by Roy Martin. Martin said Schmidt did not know the truck was in use. When these trucks were not authorized to work, the strike resulted. Martin declared they had received authorization Wednesday to go to work yesterday, but Hesen said no authorization had been given.

Hesen also said the county loader would be obtained as soon as possible and that the removal of snow would continue. "If no other way, we will load by hand and use a wheelbarrow," Hesen said.

Will Build Nine Houses

Announcement that he planned to construct a row of nine houses on his property facing fourth Street, was made this week by Joseph W. Hinebaugh. At the same time he declared that plans for his hotel on the corner of his lot opposite Hawkinson Tread Service, were being abandoned for the present due to the shortage of good material and the excessive cost.

The row of houses, all connected, would be brick veneer construction and each home will contain five rooms and bath. Construction is to start sometime in March. He appeared before the city council this week and asked for sewer and water lines and applied for a permit to construct these homes.

Librarian Resigns

The resignation of Miss Eleanor Ray as librarian for the Garrett County Free Library was submitted to the library board at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The resignation will take effect Saturday, February 14.

Miss Ray has accepted a position as librarian at Teacher's College, Springfield, S. D., a position she had held for four years before coming to Oakland in July, 1946.

F. E. Rathbun, chairman of the advisory board, said a committee which included him, Bernard I Gonder and Mrs. F. D. Bittle, was named to find a successor.

Another committee including Gonder and Rathbun was named to secure approval of proposed changes in the site of the new library building, to be constructed, from D. Cal Crim, Cincinnati, who had given $3,000 for purchase of the site on Second Street.

Strawser-Bell Wedding

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Twila Lee Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bell, Mt. Lake Park, to Norman E. Strawser, Terra Alta, W. Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Strawser.

The double ring ceremony took place in the U. B. Church, Loch Lynn, on January 24 at 8 p. m. in the presence of many friends and relatives. Rev. George W. Simpson, pastor, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Kisner, Corinth, W. Va.

Howard S. Bell, the bride's brother, and Judith Ann Kisner acted as ring bearers. A wedding reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. The couple are now residing in "Linger Inn," Rural Route No. 3, Terra Alta, W. Va.

Hardesty Appointment Completed

Appointment of R. Bowen Hardesty as assistant county superintendent of schools was officially completed at a meeting of the County Board of Education this week. At the same time the Board of Education directed that it be made a matter of record that Hardesty is to be appointed as county superintendent of schools upon the retirement of F. E. Rathbun, present incumbent. Both acts had the unanimous approval of the board, and also that of Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools. Rathbun's retirement becomes effective in December of this year. Hardesty began his duties on Monday.

Mrs. Glotfelty Dies

Relatives here were informed of the death of Mrs. Clara May Glotfelty, 69, Spokane, Wash., wife of Franklin O. Glotfelty, which occurred last Friday, January 30, in a Spokane hospital, following an attack of pneumonia.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turney, Oakland, and was born at Accident September 8, 1878. She joined the Lutheran Church there when a young girl. She left Oakland in 1920.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Ellery Plotts, Parkridge, Ill.; Harry and Carl Glotfelty, both of Spokane; Ray Glotfelty, Seattle; four grandchildren, Janis K., Joanne and Alfred Ray Glotfelty and Frederick G. Schoch; also the following sisters and brother: Mrs. James Glotfelty, McHenry; Mrs. Alma Hansen and Mrs. James Fazzalari, and Oscar Turney, Oakland. A funeral service was conducted Monday at a funeral home in Spokane. Interment was in Riverside Park in Spokane.

G. B. Hoke New Manager Of Bedford Hotel

G. Bland Hoke has been appointed manager of Bedford Springs Hotel at Bedford, Pa., the owners announce. Although the hotel does not open until mid-May, Hoke takes over immediately.

Hoke, a former assistant manager of the Williamsburg Inn, operated several officers' clubs while in the Navy during World War II.

Guests Introduced

Fletcher introduced a number of out-of-town guests, including Eldred Rinehart, Hagerstown, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Washington County; Dan Heller, a committee member; Martin Ingram, state's attorney of that county; Roger Hershey, Hagerstown industrialist.

Judge Ernest A. See, Keyser, W. Va.; Gen. D. John Markey, Frederick; State Senator Lawrence Fraley of Garrett County; Walter Dawson and Neil Fraley, former state's attorneys of that county; and Miss Grace Shaffer, Frostburg.

The Lions Club Quartet, including Edgar Ilke, Robert Stallings, Robert Moreland and Rudolph Kompanek, sang two selections "The Whiffenpoof Song" and "Sweet Miss Mary." Mrs. Jack Seibler was the accompanist.

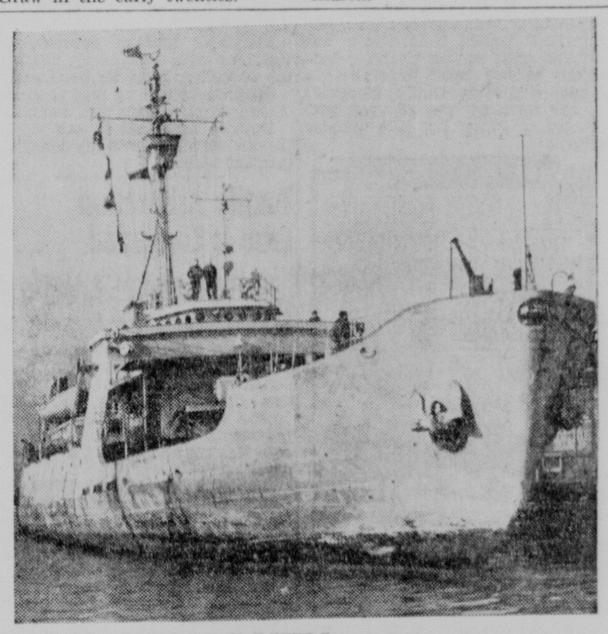
The invocation and benediction were given by Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church. The turkey dinner was served by ladies of the church.

Danes Get More Planes Than Bargained For

COPENHAGEN, (AP)—The Danish aircraft factory, Kramme and Zeuthen, has 30 aircraft in stock which cannot be exported because importing countries have cancelled all import licenses.

Although the raw materials for the planes were allocated on the condition that the planes were exported, there is a possibility that the 30 craft will be put on the Danish market, where they will easily find buyers.

Denmark is aviation-minded, and during 1947 the country's civil airfleet was increased by 54 new planes to 124, only three of which date from before the war.



SOUTHERN DUTY—The icebreaker Storis, back from Greenland for repairs, has been ordered to tackle Chesapeake Bay ice packs before heading for Alaska.

The 1947 Notre Dame football squad was the first to compile an undefeated, untied record since the team of 1930, but it was the 10th undefeated, untied squad in the school's history.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Law Offices of Clarence Shutter, Law Building, Cumberland, Maryland.

Elsie M. Murray, Plaintiff vs. Ernest A. Murray, Defedant, No. 20515 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married at Somerset, Pennsylvania, on the 13th day of December, 1933; that no children were born of this marriage; that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 28th day of June, 1942, without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than two years next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and his present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 5th day of February, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 8th day of March, 1948, give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 24th day of March, 1948, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

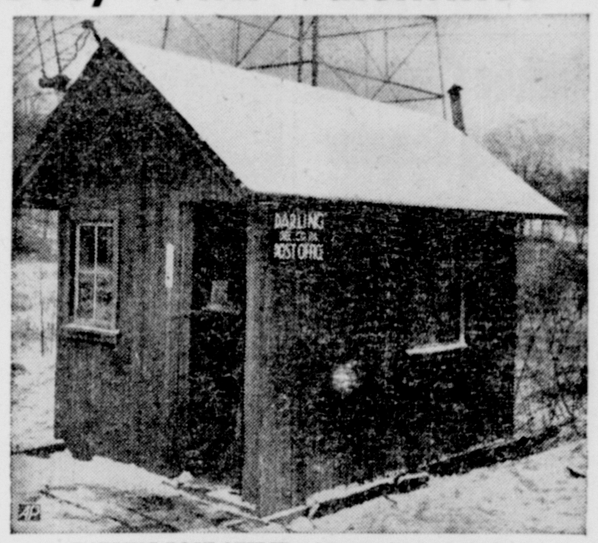
Darling Post Office Busy With Valentines



DARLING POST OFFICE is Miss Darlington's darling.

AP Newsfeatures

DARLING, Pa.—One of the smallest post offices in the United States is a darling.

But everyone who sees Darling wonders if Darling is really Darling. It's located just across the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad's West Chester branch and the railroad station is marked Darlington.

Darlington became Darling for post office purposes because Pennsylvania has two other Darlingtons, both near Pittsburgh.

Miss Martha S. Darlington, Darling postmaster, operates a one-woman mail service in the nine-by-eleven-foot post office and her eight-hour day lengthens to longer hours around Valentine's Day. Then amorous boys and girls throughout the country send letters to the post office. Their enclosed valentines are postmarked "Darling" and forwarded to their darlings by Miss Darlington.

Three hundred yards from Darling post office is the Darlington home, the original family homestead built on land granted to the Darlington and Sharpless families by William Penn in 1682.

DEATHS

MRS. JUDITH WILLISON

Mrs. Judith Willison, 66, died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at her home on Martin's Mountain, near Flintstone, after an illness of six months.

Born in Flintstone, July 18, 1881, she was a daughter of the late Jerros and Deborah Wilson Perrin. Mrs. Willison was a member of the Flintstone Methodist Church.

The widow of the late Norval F. Willison, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Paul Buchholtz, LaVale; Mrs. Robert W. Yonker, Flintstone; and Mrs. Franklin G. Norris, Piney Plains; five sons, Howard C. and George W. Willison, Flintstone; Walter W. and Frederick P., at home, and A. Woodrow Willison, Rawlings, and 13 grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home until Saturday at 2 p. m. when a funeral service will be conducted by Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor of the Flintstone Methodist Circuit. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows Cemetery, Flintstone.

CARL KRAUSE

FROSTBURG.—Carl Krause, 46, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Krause, Frostburg, died yesterday after suffering a heart attack in Canton, Ohio, where he was employed as a foreman for the Timken Roller Bearing Company.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Stella Reidler, Lonaconing, and three children, Betty, Bobbie and an infant son.

The body will arrive here and will be taken to the Durst Funeral Home for a funeral service Sunday.

CHARLES LEON

Charles Leon, 51, former construction worker, died last night at 9:10 o'clock at his home on Willowbrook Road after an illness of two years.

He was a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles.

His widow, Mrs. Margaret Bircks Leon, survives.

MRS. PARKER RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Margaret Parker, widow of John Parker, Frostburg, who died Wednesday, will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at her home, 32 Linden Street, Frostburg. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Carpenter Will Take Herb Pennock's Job

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5 (AP) — Owner-President Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies, and admitted baseball novice, today assumed "complete control" of the National League club—"except on the playing field."

The 32-year-old millionaire stepped into the general manager's shoes vacated by the death of Herb Pennock a week ago.

"This will be a permanent job," Carpenter said in an interview. "I was always the policy man of the club as president and will now simply combine policy with operation."

On the baseball diamond, however, Manager Ben Chapman "will be the boss—completely."

"Chapman's job is to win with the material he has," Carpenter declared. "If he wants to run the bases backwards, that's okay with me."

Bancroft Will Manage Girls' Baseball Team

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Dave Bancroft, former star major league shortstop, has been signed as manager of the Chicago Colleens, new entry in the All-American Girls Baseball League.

Bancroft starred with the Philadelphia Phils and New York Giants a quarter of a century ago, playing on the Phils' only pennant-winning club in 1915 and on three Giant championship teams under John Mc Graw in the early twenties.

G. B. Hoke New Manager Of Bedford Hotel

G. Bland Hoke has been appointed manager of Bedford Springs Hotel at Bedford, Pa., the owners announce. Although the hotel does not open until mid-May, Hoke takes over immediately.

Hoke, a former assistant manager of the Williamsburg Inn, operated several officers' clubs while in the Navy during World War II.

Snow Loader Is Taken Off Job In Truck Dispute

Slows Removal Of Snow At Oakland

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND — The record snowfall and storm here Wednesday caused another storm to break in Oakland yesterday — between the town and the Independent Truckers' Association. The latter organization was objecting to the use of what they termed "out-of-state" trucks in hauling the snow away from Oakland's business streets, and as a result the snow loader of Owen Martin's, being used by the town, was called off the job.

Martin said he would order the loader back to work if the town used local trucks.

A. G. Hesen, mayor, said one of Albert Kresge's coal trucks was ordered to work Wednesday afternoon and yesterday, which Kresge's was offering to the town at no cost. This, added to the town's trucks already in use, were enough for the job, Hesen said, and no other trucks were authorized to report for work.

The Truckers Association, which Wednesday night went on record as objecting to the use of out-of-state trucks, had four trucks on the job this morning one of them being owned by Edward G. Schmidt, a member of the association and also a member of the city council, and driven by Roy Martin. Martin said Schmidt did not know the truck was in use. When these trucks were not authorized to work, the strike resulted. Martin declared they had received authorization Wednesday to go to work yesterday, but Hesen said no authorization had been given.

Hesen also said the county loader would be obtained as soon as possible and that the removal of snow would continue. "If no other way, we will load by hand and use a wheelbarrow," Hesen said.

Will Build Nine Houses

Announcement that he planned to construct a row of nine houses on his property facing fourth Street, was made this week by Joseph W. Hinebaugh. At the same time he declared that plans for his hotel on the corner of his lot opposite Hawkinson Tread Service, were being abandoned for the present due to the shortage of good material and the excessive cost.

The row of houses, all connected, would be brick veneer construction and each home will contain five rooms and bath. Construction is to start sometime in March. He appeared before the city council this week and asked for sewer and water lines and applied for a permit to construct these homes.

Librarian Resigns

The resignation of Miss Eleanor Ray as librarian for the Garrett County Free Library was submitted to the library board at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The resignation will take effect Saturday, February 14.

Miss Ray has accepted a position as librarian at Teacher's College, Springfield, S. D., a position she had held for four years before coming to Oakland in July, 1946.

F. E. Rathbun, chairman of the advisory board, said a committee which included him, Bernard I Gonder and Mrs. F. D. Bittle, was named to find a successor.

Another committee including Gonder and Rathbun was named to secure approval of proposed changes in the site of the new library building, to be constructed, from D. Cal Crim, Cincinnati, who had given $3,000 for purchase of the site on Second Street.

Strawser-Bell Wedding

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Twila Lee Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bell, Mt. Lake Park, to Norman E. Strawser, Terra Alta, W. Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Strawser.

The double ring ceremony took place in the U. B. Church, Loch Lynn, on January 24 at 8 p. m. in the presence of many friends and relatives, Rev. George W. Simpson, pastor, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Kisner, Corinth, W. Va.

Howard S. Bell, the bride's brother, and Judith Ann Kisner acted as ring bearers. A wedding reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. The couple are now residing in "Linger Inn," Rural Route No. 3, Terra Alta, W. Va.

Hardesty Appointment Completed

Appointment of R. Bowen Hardesty as assistant county superintendent of schools was officially completed at a meeting of the County Board of Education this week. At the same time the Board of Education directed that it be made a matter of record that Hardesty is to be appointed as county superintendent of schools upon the retirement of F. E. Rathbun, present incumbent. Both acts had the unanimous approval of the board, and also that of Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools. Rathbun's retirement becomes effective in December of this year. Hardesty began his duties on Monday.

Mrs. Glotfelty Dies

Relatives here were informed of the death of Mrs. Clara May Glotfelty, 69, Spokane, Wash., wife of Franklin O. Glotfelty, which occurred last Friday, January 30, in a Spokane hospital, following an attack of pneumonia.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turney, Oakland, and was born at Accident September 8, 1878. She joined the Lutheran Church there when a young girl. She left Oakland in 1920.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Ellery Plotts, Parkridge, Ill.; Harry and Carl Glotfelty, both of Spokane; Ray Glotfelty, Seattle; four grandchildren, Janis K., Joanne and Alfred Ray Glotfelty and Frederick G. Schoch; also the following sisters and brother: Mrs. James Glotfelty, McHenry; Mrs. Alma Hansen and Mrs. James Fazzalari, and Oscar Turney, Oakland. A funeral service was conducted Monday at a funeral home in Spokane. Interment was in Riverside Park in Spokane.

The 1947 Notre Dame football squad was the first to compile an undefeated, untied record since the team of 1930, but it was the 10th undefeated, untied squad in the school's history.

Speaker Sounds Warning Against "World WPA"

Rep. Short Cites Proposed Aid Plan

"Friendship that has to be purchased isn't to be trusted," Rep. Dewey Short, Missouri Republican and ranking majority member of the House Committee on Armed Services, said last night in reference to aid to foreign countries.

Rep. Short addressed 325 persons at the annual Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee, held in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

He was introduced by Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Allegany). Paul M. Fletcher, committee chairman, presided.

"The more we give to foreign countries, the more they will want," Rep. Short said. "Callous, indiscriminate giving is an ignoble philanthropy. We don't want a world WPA to make mendicants and beggars out of those countries."

He declared that the United States has always lived up to its obligations as the most powerful nation on earth by offering relief in peace and war to needy countries, sending food, clothing and medicine to areas struck by disaster and "feeding not only our allies but our conquered foes, the Germans and Austrians, after the first World War."

Cites Foreign Aid

Recalling that America sent billions of dollars' worth of lend-lease supplies to England and Russia during World War II, a sum greater than the nation spent in the first World War, Rep. Short said that since V-J Day America has given more than 20 billions to foreign nations.

"Our resources are not inexhaustible," he warned pointing out that in the past year the United States has been forced to become a net importer of oil, bringing about 40,000 barrels of oil into the country daily, with the supply still insufficient to meet the country's needs.

Although he made no specific recommendations as to the amount of aid which should be sen abroad under the Marshall plan for European recovery, Rep. Short said the amount given should be placed on a one-year basis, not a five-year schedule, which would bind American taxpayers and Congress for too long a period.

"America produces only 12 per cent of the world's food, and the world is a little too big for us to feed," he stated.

The speaker said he has nothing against the people of any nation nor their government, provided they are free to choose the type of government they want.

In a humorous aside, he commented:

American taxpayers, however, should not be expected to finance Britain's "costly experiment in state socialism," he said.

"If we send 17 to 21 billions to the 16 European countries which are asking aid, in a short time we'll be asked to aid Korea, China and Asia," he declared.

Opposes UMT Proposal

In a reference to proposed universal military training, Rep. Short said although he favors keeping America strong until the United Nations as the military force to back its decisions, the money which the training program would require could be put to better use elsewhere.

"The next war will be fought in the laboratories by pushing buttons," he said. "We would have to train our young men all over again."

"A lot of New Dealers who condoned Communism at home are recent converts to the belief that it is a menace. The Republican Congress has rid government departments of several hundred 'pinks'."

He attacked the late President Roosevelt for "secret deals" made at the Teheran, Cailro and Quebec conferences in violation of the Atlantic Charter, which pledged preservation of territorial rights. By those "deals," he said, Russia was awarded a large part of Finland and the Balkans, until now she has "more territory than Hitler ever dreamed of."

Since 1932, he said, there has been "one emergency after the other," stating that President Truman, "the spendthrift haberdasher," is imbued with the New Deal "liberal" policy—"liberal with other people's money."

Praises MacArthur

Expressing the belief that no country will attack America in the near future, Rep. Short praised Gen. MacArthur's "magnificent" work in the occupation of Japan by declaring "if one of our erstwhile allies should turn on us, I believe the Japanese would wear American uniforms and fight on our side."

Three factors which have made this country great, although it has only six per cent of the world's population and only seven per cent of the world's area, are Christian religion and faith in God; the American form of government, which is a constitutional republic; and the basic economic philosophy of competition in private enterprise, Rep. Short said.

The country's greatest danger "is from the inside," he declared in warning that Communism feeds on rancor and disregard. He quoted a Lincoln address of 1837:

"If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of free men, we must live through all time, or die by suicide."

Describing the life of Lincoln as an example of the rise to greatness which is possible only in this

Temperature Reading

Temperatures in Cumberland remained below freezing all day yesterday with a maximum of 31 above zero reported. Low for the day was 21, with 24 reported at midnight. While residents were busy clearing away another seven inches of snowfall, which brought the week's total to better than a foot, the weatherman predicted three more inches on the way for today. Light snow was falling in this section at midnight.

Markey Confident Of Being Senator

Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, Walkersville Republican, said yesterday he "feels confident right will prevail" and that when the final phase of the current Senate investigation of the 1946 Maryland Senatorial election is completed he will be declared the "duly elected senator from Maryland."

Markey, who opposed Democrat Herbert R. O'Conor in the 1946 Senatorial election and lost by a small margin in the official count, challenged Sen. O'Conor's election.

Here last night to attend the Lincoln Day dinner at which Rep. Dewey Short was the speaker, Markey was reluctant to discuss his case because it is now in the hands of the Senate Investigating Committee.

When asked about his preference for the Republican presidential nomination, Markey said he has made no commitments of any kind and is of the opinion an uninstructed delegation from Maryland will serve the best interests of the Republican party.

University Of Md. Alumni May Form Association Here

Several Graduates Express Interest

It was indicated locally yesterday that a plan is being considered for the re-organization of a chapter or branch of the University of Maryland Alumni Association for Cumberland and Western Maryland.

Following the visit of "Big Jim" Tatum, Maryland football coach, and his address before the Junior Association of Commerce Wednesday night, a number of graduates of the University began considering such a movement, it was reported.

Tatum personally contacted some of the well known alumni, and suggested that some steps be taken toward this end. Tatum said he is interested in seeing the many university alumni in this area take an active part in the university's affairs, and believes that such an organization can do much to boost the university here, as well as bring the university closer to the lives of the residents of this end of the state.

No concrete plans have developed, several alumni said yesterday, but the idea has been advanced and is being considered seriously.

The Alumni Association here has become inactive if not completely non-existent, it is claimed, and little has been done or heard from the group, as such, for the past decade and a half.

Tatum promised local alumni interested in the project that he would send a complete list of all University of Maryland graduates living in this area here in a few days.

BROTHERS TO JOIN ENGINEER OUTFIT

Six young men of the Cumberland area, including two brothers, who enlisted in the Army and Air Force, have gone to Baltimore for processing, according to Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, officer in charge of the local recruiting station.

The brothers are Roy Franklin Droll, 21, and Joseph William Droll, 29, Beryl, W. Va., both of whom enlisted for three years with the 554th Engineer Pontoon Bridge Company at Fort Monroe, Va. The former, who served 18 months with the signal corps, enlisted as technician fifth grade, while the latter, who served 30 months in the Navy, enlisted as private first class.

Other enlistees, all of whom signed for three years, are Benjamin Harrison Gordon, Jr., 30, Rawlings, who requested assignment to the Signal Corps of the Second Army, and who is a veteran of 30 months' service with the Ninth Infantry Division; James Carl Crable, 18, 26 Church Street, Lonaconing, Air Force unassigned.

Richard Lee Hershberger, 18, 19 Church Street, Lonaconing, Air Force unassigned; and Jack Lewis Yost, 18, 308 Park Street, city, Air Force unassigned.

Held On Liquor Charge

Charles E. Cushwa, an agent of the Federal Alcoholic Tax Unit, said Margaret Smith, Hancock, was charged with selling alcoholic beverages at her home without a license, and James Smith, identified as her husband, was charged with possessing liquor for sale without a license.

Teachers Are Asked To Lead Fight For Use Of Natural Resources Here

Dr. Clark Plans Staff Conference Here Today

Declaring that people with vision can transform any area, Dr. Harold Clark, Teachers College, Columbia University, called upon Allegany County educators and civic leaders last night to institute a vigorous plan for the development of the natural resources of Western Maryland.

Dr. Clark, who spoke at Allegany High School auditorium before county principals and teachers and representatives of local civic organizations, asserted that America has not yet begun to scratch the surface in the use of its natural resources for the betterment of the people.

He cited Denmark as a good example of how some countries with meager resources manage to utilize extensively what nature has given to them.

It is within the realms of the schools, he said, to develop the type of thinking which will lead to an intelligent use of what nature has given us for the enrichment of the economic, cultural and spiritual life of our people.

In a speech before school leaders yesterday morning at Fort Hill High School, Dr. Clark called for the teaching of better ideals in the community and said instructors should teach the necessary skills, when possible, through problems facing the community.

Dr. Clark yesterday visited schools of the Georges Creek section and will visit other county schools today in order to get an over-all picture of the county's educational life.

The two-day conference will end this afternoon with a staff meeting to be held in the office of the Board of Education.

Blue Cross Soon Will Pay Doctor

BALTIMORE, Feb. (AP)—The Blue Cross Plan with which one out of four Marylanders insure themselves against unexpected hospital bills will be expanded this fall to take over the doctor's bill for a monthly fee.

The new plan—Maryland Medical Service—will be effective in September on a statewide basis. It supplements Maryland Hospital Service, which was organized 10 years ago, and will be available only to hospital service members.

This is how the two insurance plans will work:

Maryland Hospital Service now makes it possible for subscribers to pay monthly fees and receive in return 21 days of hospitalization in a semi-private room in any one year, plus costs of operating room, laboratory and X-ray service.

Maryland Medical Service will pay doctor's bills.

The subscriber will pay a monthly fee to be approved the the State Insurance Commission and receive in return 21 days of medical attention in any year, or an operation if required.

Rates will be fixed just as the hospital rates are fixed, with group plans through employers and individual plans for the individual or family.

Subscribers will be free to choose their own physicians and surgeons.

Final testimony in a dispute between the company and the union as to the distribution of a one-cent wage adjustment in last May's Celanese contract settlement will be held here early in March.

A three-day session ended yesterday afternoon leaving still undiscussed certain jobs within two departments at the plant, and the case was continued until a mutually agreed date is set.

The case involved about $180,000 but prior agreement had already been reached on about 30 per cent of that amount provided to settle wage inequalities charged by the union.

Coleman To Head Unity Conference

William Boyd Coleman, representing Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, was elected president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference at a meeting in Allegany Trades Council hall last night.

Other officers named were W. J. Jones, Boilermakers Union, first vice president; Jean Bourckel, Railway Trainmen, second vice president; G. Edwin Parker, Railway Trainmen, treasurer, and Paul L. Burley, Bus Drivers, secretary.

Trustees will be John F. Chisholm, Rubber Workers; J. H. Humbertson, Machinists Local 212, and Steve Freno, Blacksmiths.

Laymen To Meet On Heart Disease

In observance of "National Heart Week," a discussion of heart diseases will feature a meeting of the Allegany County Lay Health Council next Tuesday, February 10, at 8 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson, local specialist, will discuss the effects of rheumatic fever on the heart.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, public health nurse, will present a typical case history involving a heart ailment.

Dr. Jacobson is chairman of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever Association, which is planning to hold a fund-raising campaign next week in observance of "National Heart Week," which opens Sunday.

Funds will be used for research regarding the prevention and cure of rheumatic fever, which kills more school age children in the United States each year than any other disease.

Health Department officials disclosed yesterday it is hoped to establish a cardiac clinic in Allegany County in the near future, for the first time.

The public is invited to attend the Tuesday night meeting. Mrs. Arthur Evans, county chairman of the lay health group, will conduct the business meeting.

Friend Baby Improving

James Friend, 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Friend, Bowman's Addition, who underwent an emergency operation January 21 at Memorial Hospital was reported on the road to recovery last night.

A physician said the child was brought to his office by his parents, suffering from diphtheria. The baby was rushed to the hospital, where another physician performed the emergency operation, opening the baby's throat and inserting a silver tube to enable him to breathe.

Veterans Urged To Take Interest In City Politics

Kloran Tells Amvets To Register, Vote

James Kloran, chairman of the Veterans Committee on Civic Affairs, spoke at the meeting of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, last night, and urged that members of the post take an active interest in getting new voters registered and getting more people out to vote.

Kloran, long active in veterans organizations here and a veteran of both World Wars, said registration days are February 16 and February 23.

"Too seldom," Kloran said, "is attention called to the necessity to register if you want to vote." There are many young people, and a few older folks in the city, who have not registered and are eligible. These are the people who should take an interest in civic and governmental affairs.

"Too often," Kloran continued, "has it been the practice of professional politicians to say little about registration days and they seldom make any real effort to get people to register. This is because they are afraid of the possible power of the ballot, when the young people, especially the young veterans and their wives, go to the polls and vote."

Post Commander Norman Gerdeman announced that the nominating committee will make its report at the next meeting, February 19, and at that time additional nominations for post officers may be made from the floor.

The annual post election will be held March 13 from 11 a. m. until 7 p. m. at the post home, he announced. Members of the nominating committee include Frank Riehl, Turner Summers, Robert Baker, Joseph Harvey and William Smith.

Gerdeman announced a public dance at the post home Saturday from 9 to 12 o'clock, with music by Bill Gray's Orchestra. Members are admitted without charge.

The membership approved plans to install kitchen equipment in the kitchen at the new post homes, and cater to dinners, banquets, etc. The post recently moved into the old Belvedere Theater building, 139 Baltimore Street, and has completely renovated ond redecorated the quarters. Open house nights are being planned, members of the house committee said, to be held once each month.

Wastepaper Drive Hits 44 Tons

A total of approximately 44 tons of wastepaper has been collected this week, it was announced last night.

200 Bedford Road Residents Attend Water Meeting

Fey Outlines Plan For 8-Inch Lines

Upwards of 200 residents of the Bedford Road area met last night at the Bedford Road Volunteer Firemen's Hall to discuss plans for obtaining city water from the city of Cumberland for the community.

W. C. Wolford presided at the meeting and introduced John T. Fey, local attorney, who has been representing the 385 families of the community in their negotiations with the city.

Fey explained that the city has offered to run a series of eight inch lines from the main water conduit from the dam to Bedford Road, with one of these eight inch lines intersecting the main line at about every half mile. Residents, working in small community groups, would then be permitted to lay smaller lines to tie into these main feeders, and pipe water to their homes.

For Immediate Needs

The attorney said the plan is not intended to lend much toward the development of the area in the future, but is intended to get city water to as many homes as possible now.

Fey declared the cost will be from $250 to $325 per family, including the cost of laying individual lines, interceptor lines from the eight inch mains, meter charges and tappage fees. In addition to this charge, each family will pay for water used at a regular rate, just as consumers in the city are billed.

There was little opposition to the proposal, and residents generally indicated they want city water and expect it to cost something. A few present urged further consideration, with the idea of laying a main line parallel with Bedford Road, so that the entire area can have sufficient water for future expansion.

Paul Mertens, president of the fire company, particularly urged that the main line along the road be laid, rather than feeders at intervals. He said, "I believe we must plan for the future growth of the community, because when water is available people who own lots here will begin building. Money spent now on a partial plan will be wasted, and we will have to spend more money in the future. If the present mayor and council won't work out a long-range plan we can afford, maybe another mayor and council will."

Need Definite Plan

Calvin Keiter suggested that petitions be circulated among the residents so it can be determined how many persons will co-operate with a plan to lay the eight-inch intersecting lines now, and will use city water.

Fey said he will prepare the necessary petitions and forms and place them in the hands of the community water committee so that the program can be pursued further. He declared, "We must go to the city officials with some kind of definite plan."

It was indicated that further meetings will be held at dates to be announced.

YMCA Attendance Shows Increase

Total attendance for all activities at Central YMCA during 1947 amounted to 255,091, an increase of about 47,000 persons over 1946, Robert L. Sisson, general secretary, said yesterday.

The figures were prepared for the annual report to the National YMCA Council.

A total of 1,253 swimming lessons were given, and 449 passed beginner's swimming tests. Ninety separate groups held 652 sessions in "Y" activities during the year, while 45 groups under the joint auspices of the "Y" and outside organizations held 210 sessions.

News Briefs

South End Fire Company extinguished a flue fire at the home of L. L. Jewell, 937 Maryland Avenue at 8:45 last night. There was no damage.

NO ONE IS INJURED IN BUS-CAR CRASH

State Police reported that both vehicles were going west and that the school bus was attempting to turn around at the intersection when the accident happened. Davis apparently failed to see Strawderman's signal, officers said, and attempted to pass, striking the left front section of the bus, then going into a snow bank on the left side of the road, and skidding back to the right side of the highway into another snow bank.

There was no damage to the school bus, and about $100 damage to the car. No one was injured in the accident, police reported. No charges were preferred. Trooper Harry Bosley investigated.

A. And P. Clerks Accept $3 Wage Increase Offer

New Contract Will Provide $35 Minimum

Members of Local 886, Retail Food Clerks, AFL, employed at the A. and P. Super-Market here, last night accepted a contract proposal which will provide a $3 weekly across-the-board wage increase, J. N. Mayberry, Baltimore, international representative of the union, announced.

The new contract, which will become effective March 1, will provide for a $2.50 flat increase for all members retroactive to December 20, 1947, which will amount to a flat $3 boost, he said.

All 73 workers of the store affiliated with Local 886 will receive an increase under the agreement and the new starting rate has been increased to $35 a week, he said.

The agreement, reached amicably at a meeting between union and company representatives in Altoona, Pa., Tuesday, also contains a number of conditions which will benefit all employes, Mayberry said.

Although all major issues have been settled, the step-up scale is still in the process of negotiations, he said.

Sufficient application cards were signed last night, he added, for the union to petition the NLRB for a union shop election as required by the Taft-Hartley Law. The present contract includes a union shop clause.

Mike Roth, representative of the Meat Cutters Union, which represents meat department employes, said the contract for Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, does not expire until August.

Also present at the ratification meeting were C. E. Stutzman, acting business manager for the union, William Krapf, president of Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, and Roth.

Piedmont Garage Damaged By Fire

Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, slightly damaged a three-car garage on West Fairview Street, Piedmont, last night. The blaze was found by firemen in a pit of the unoccupied garage and did not spread to the other two garages where cars were parked.

The fire was discovered about 10:30 o'clock and when firemen arrived, they reported, they found the lock on the garage had been broken.

Tri-Town Company No. 1, Piedmont, and Potomac Company No. 2, Westernport, put out the fire.

3 Enlist In Navy

Three area men enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting station in the past week, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader.

John Junior Adams, son of Mrs. Mary J. Adams, Mexico Farms, reenlisted for three years. He has a previous service record of 50 months. He was transferred to the Naval Receiving Station at Washington, D. C., for assignment.

William Lewis Myers, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers, Nikep, enlisted for three years as an apprentice seaman.

Charles Edward Vinci, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vinci, Nikep, enlisted for three years as an apprentice seaman.

Myers and Vinci were sent to Great Lakes Training Center, Ill., for recruit training.

Patch Tests Given

Tuberculosis patch tests were given yesterday morning to pupils of the Mt. Royal School by Miss Margaret Morrissey, public health nurse, to determine if any of the children have positive reactions.

Health Department officials said the patch test, if positive, does not necessarily indicate that the child has tuberculosis, but that it does mean that an investigation into the child's health and home conditions is warranted. X-rays are also made as a further check.

The patch test program was sponsored by the school Parent-Teachers Association. Members of the P-TA who assisted in the work include Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. Herman Hoffman, Mrs. W. Royce Hodges, Jr., Mrs. John Groobey, and Mrs. Lewis Millholland, Jr.

Playground Group Meets

The Cumberland Playground Association met last night at 7:30 at the City Hall. It was announced that a letter had been written by the group to Rep. J. Glenn Beall, concerning the proposed use of a war surplus building at Constitution Park, as part of the Association's program.

Motorist Forfeits Bond

Albert W. Klavuhn, Route 1, city, forfeited $6.45 bond in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of passing on a curve on Route 40 in LaVale Tuesday. Trooper Harry S. Bosley preferred the charge.

More Snowfall Is Predicted In Tri-State Area

Storm Expected To Reach Here By Noon

With temperatures below freezing all day yesterday, and the city and Tri-State area blanketed under 12 to 18 inches of snow, the weatherman last night predicted upward of three more inches of snow for the area early today.

City, county and state road crews worked diligently all night Wednesday and all day Thursday clearing streets, roads and highways, but only main arteries were reported open last night, and State Police said most roads were covered with ice and snow in spots and advised the use of chains and care in driving.

In the city, numerous streets are still clogged with snow as are some secondary roads in outlying sections. The heavy snowfall and limited equipment, created a problem for city, county and state street and highway officials, but efforts were made to open as many lanes as possible.

Only Few Complaints

Officials said there were only a few complaints, and traffic last night was moving at a faster pace than earlier in the day. Buses and trains were reported arriving and departing on fairly normal schedules.

A number of streets in the city last night were roped off and the youngsters enjoyed several hours of sled riding, with no mishaps reported. In some neighborhoods, residents, armed with red lanterns, personally patrolled the streets.

While many residents were still busy digging out sidewalks and driveways, the weather man made himself unpopular again by predicting more snowfall in Maryland. The Baltimore weather bureau said the storm would hit Western Maryland before noon today, and by nightfall would cover the whole state.

The storm was reported moving in from the Far West, but sections of West Virginia late last night had begun to feel it. At Romney, W. Va., it was reported sleeting and snowing, and at Augusta, W. Va., snow was reported. Mercury there was down to 10 above zero. It was reported snowing hard at Huntington, W. Va., and the storm was sweeping rapidly across the state.

Temperature here at a late hour last night was reported at 24 above zero. Maximum for the day was 31 and minimum 21. Comparable mercury reading prevailed throughout the area.

Heavy Fall In Garrett

The most recent in a series of blizzards left Garrett County under 11 inches of snow by yesterday morning, with drifts as deep as 20 inches. Heavy falls were also reported in the northeast and north central sections, with 10 to 11 inches recorded at Conowingo, Cecil County, and nine inches at Benson in Harford County. Cambridge and Salisburg suffered nothing worse than rain, but the rest of Maryland fell victim to sleet and quickly froze. All highways were open yesterday, but the roads commission said 180 trucks were at work spreading cinders.

George E. McCabe, Coast Guard captain of the Port of Baltimore, said the Cutter Chinook reported slow navigation in the upper Chesapeake Bay, where it was escorting the Tanker Sylvia to Philadelphia in quest of emergency fuel for Maryland.

McCabe said there was heavy packed ice between Grove Point and the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, with a north wind blowing ice floes southward and toward the western shore. The lower bay was reported 60 to 80 per cent under broken ice, except at Sandy Point, where the ice was packed.

He also disclosed that dragging operations for a coast guard plane missing since Jan. 24 had been suspended, but a 56-foot patrol boat with special sounding gear continued the search yesterday.

MAN MISSING TEN YEARS DECLARED DEAD

Floyd E. Brant, one-time resident of this city, was declared legally dead yesterday in a decree signed in Circuit Court by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

A petition had been filed a couple of months ago by Morgan C. Harris, attorney for Dorothy E. Brant, 6 Elder Street, here, asking that Brant, her father, be declared dead.

Testimony was taken and notices published of the action, and no indication that Brant is alive or can be located has materialized.

Miss Brant claims that her father left Cumberland on or about September 1, 1937, after indicating that he planned to go elsewhere to live. Other relatives appear to know nothing of his whereabouts, and he has not been heard from by any of the family since, the Court was informed.

Brewery Worker Is Treated At Hospital

Charles Garner, 27, 11 North was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday at noon for an injury of the right big toe. The Cumberland Brewing Company worker said hew as hurt Wednesday when a tank upset and rolled on his foot.

William Nightingale, 17, Jackson Street, Lonaconing, was examined at the same hospital after he fell while playing basketball, injuring his right hip.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicholson, 19 Cresap Street, a son, last night.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spiker, 150 Oak Street, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mallow, Route 2, Flintstone, a daughter, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore, 110 Wilson Street, Oakland, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Testa, Route 4, this city, a son, yesterday.

CORONATION SCENE—Shown here is one of the colorful scenes in Allegany High School student's dramatic production, "Joan of Lorraine," which will be presented at the high school auditorium tonight for the second time. The play was presented to an enthusiastic audience Wednesday, and a repeat performance is scheduled for tonight. Harold C. Wickard, well known for his dramatic directing ability, has staged and directed the production. He is loud in his praise of the talent portrayed by his student cast.

Speaker Sounds Warning Against "World WPA"

Rep. Short Cites Proposed Aid Plan

"Friendship that has to be purchased isn't to be trusted," Rep. Dewey Short, Missouri Republican and ranking majority member of the House Committee on Armed Services, said last night in reference to aid to foreign countries.

Rep. Short addressed 325 persons at the annual Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee, held in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

He was introduced by Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Allegany). Paul M. Fletcher, committee chairman, presided.

"The more we give to foreign countries, the more they will want," Rep. Short said. "Callous, indiscriminate giving is an ignoble philanthropy. We don't want a world WPA to make mendicants and beggars out of those countries."

He declared that the United States has always lived up to its obligations as the most powerful nation on earth by offering relief in peace and war to needy countries, sending food, clothing and medicine to areas struck by disaster and "feeding not only our allies but our conquered foes, the Germans and Austrians, after the first World War."

Cites Foreign Aid

Recalling that America sent billions of dollars' worth of lend-lease supplies to England and Russia during World War II, a sum greater than the nation spent in the first World War, Rep. Short said that since V-J Day America has given more than 20 billions to foreign nations.

"Our resources are not inexhaustible," he warned pointing out that in the past year the United States has been forced to become a net importer of oil, bringing about 40,000 barrels of oil into the country daily, with the supply still insufficient to meet the country's needs.

Although he made no specific recommendations as to the amount of aid which should be sen abroad under the Marshall plan for European recovery, Rep. Short said the amount given should be placed on a one-year basis, not a five-year schedule, which would bind American taxpayers and Congress for too long a period.

"America produces only 12 per cent of the world's food, and the world is a little too big for us to feed," he stated.

The speaker said he has nothing against the people of any nation nor their government, provided they are free to choose the type of government they want.

In a humorous aside, he commented:

"I should be a Communist, because I've got nothing and I'm willing to share it with everyone."

American taxpayers, however, should not be expected to finance Britain's "costly experiment in state socialism," he said.

"If we send 17 to 21 billions to the 16 European countries which are asking aid, in a short time we'll be asked to aid Korea, China and Asia," he declared.

Opposes UMT Proposal

In a reference to proposed universal military training, Rep. Short said although he favors keeping America strong until the United Nations as the military force to back its decisions, the money which the training program would require could be put to better use elsewhere.

"The next war will be fought in the laboratories by pushing buttons," he said. "We would have to train our young men all over again."

Referring to the present threat of Communism in this conntry, the speaker said:

"A lot of New Dealers who condoned Communism at home are recent converts to the belief that it is a menace. The Republican Congress has rid government departments of several hundred 'pinks'."

He attacked the late President Roosevelt for "secret deals" made at the Teheran, Cailro and Quebec conferences in violation of the Atlantic Charter, which pledged preservation of territorial rights. By those "deals," he said, Russia was awarded a large part of Finland and the Balkans, until now she has "more territory than Hitler ever dreamed of."

Since 1932, he said, there has been "one emergency after the other," stating that President Truman, "the spendthrift haberdasher," is imbued with the New Deal "liberal" policy—"liberal with other people's money."

Praises MacArthur

Expressing the belief that no country will attack America in the near future, Rep. Short praised Gen. MacArthur's "magnificent" work in the occupation of Japan by declaring "if one of our erstwhile allies should turn on us, I believe the Japanese would wear American uniforms and fight on our side."

Three factors which have made this country great, although it has only six per cent of the world's population and only seven per cent of the world's area, are Christian religion and faith in God; the American form of government, which is a constitutional republic; and the basic economic philosophy of competition in private enterprise, Rep. Short said.

The country's greatest danger "is from the inside," he declared in warning that Communism feeds on rancor and disregard. He quoted a Lincoln address of 1837:

"If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of free men, we must live through all time, or die by suicide."

Describing the life of Lincoln as an example of the rise to greatness which is possible only in this

Markey Confident Of Being Senator

Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, Walkersville Republican, said yesterday he "feels confident right will prevail" and that when the final phase of the current Senate investigation of the 1946 Maryland Senatorial election is completed he will be declared the "duly elected senator from Maryland."

Markey, who opposed Democrat Herbert R. O'Conor in the 1946 Senatorial election and lost by a small margin in the official count, challenged Sen. O'Conor's election.

Here last night to attend the Lincoln Day dinner at which Rep. Dewey Short was the speaker, Markey was reluctant to discuss his case because it is now in the hands of the Senate Investigating Committee.

When asked about his preference for the Republican presidential nomination, Markey said he has made no commitments of any kind and is of the opinion an uninstructed delegation from Maryland will serve the best interests of the Republican party.

University Of Md. Alumni May Form Association Here

Several Graduates Express Interest

It was indicated locally yesterday that a plan is being considered for the re-organization of a chapter or branch of the University of Maryland Alumni Association for Cumberland and Western Maryland.

Following the visit of "Big Jim" Tatum, Maryland football coach, and his address before the Junior Association of Commerce Wednesday night, a number of graduates of the University began considering such a movement, it was reported.

Tatum personally contacted some of the well known alumni, and suggested that some steps be taken toward this end. Tatum said he is interested in seeing the many university alumni in this area take an active part in the university's affairs, and believes that such an organization can do much to boost the university here, as well as bring the university closer to the lives of the residents of this end of the state.

No concrete plans have developed, several alumni said yesterday, but the idea has been advanced and is being considered seriously.

The Alumni Association here has become inactive if not completely non-existent, it is claimed, and little has been done or heard from the group, as such, for the past decade and a half.

Tatum promised local alumni interested in the project that he would send a complete list of all University of Maryland graduates living in this area here in a few days.

BROTHERS TO JOIN ENGINEER OUTFIT

Six young men of the Cumberland area, including two brothers, who enlisted in the Army and Air Force, have gone to Baltimore for processing, according to Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, officer in charge of the local recruiting station.

The brothers are Roy Franklin Droll, 21, and Joseph William Droll, 29, Beryl, W. Va., both of whom enlisted for three years with the 554th Engineer Pontoon Bridge Company at Fort Monroe, Va. The former, who served 18 months with the signal corps, enlisted as technician fifth grade, while the latter, who served 30 months in the Navy, enlisted as private first class.

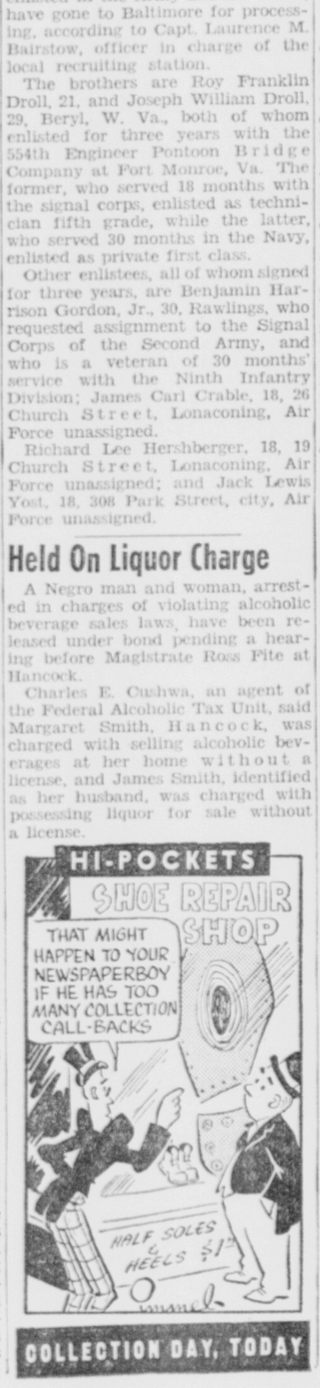
Other enlistees, all of whom signed for three years, are Benjamin Harrison Gordon, Jr., 30, Rawlings, who requested assignment to the Signal Corps of the Second Army, and who is a veteran of 30 months' service with the Ninth Infantry Division; James Carl Crable, 18, 26 Church Street, Lonaconing, Air Force unassigned.

Richard Lee Hershberger, 18, 19 Church Street, Lonaconing, Air Force unassigned; and Jack Lewis Yost, 18, 308 Park Street, city, Air Force unassigned.

Held On Liquor Charge

A Negro man and woman, arrested in charges of violating alcoholic beverage sales laws, have been released under bond pending a hearing before Magistrate Ross Fite at Hancock.

Charles E. Cushwa, an agent of the Federal Alcoholic Tax Unit, said Margaret Smith, Hancock, was charged with selling alcoholic beverages at her home without a license, and James Smith, identified as her husband, was charged with possessing liquor for sale without a license.



Temperature Reading

Temperatures in Cumberland remained below freezing all day yesterday with a maximum of 31 above zero reported. Low for the day was 21, with 24 reported at midnight. While residents were busy clearing away another seven inches of snowfall, which brought the week's total to better than a foot, the weatherman predicted three more inches on the way for today. Light snow was falling in this section at midnight.

Teachers Are Asked To Lead Fight For Use Of Natural Resources Here

Dr. Clark Plans Staff Conference Here Today

Declaring that people with vision can transform any area, Dr. Harold Clark, Teachers College, Columbia University, called upon Allegany County educators and civic leaders last night to institute a vigorous plan for the development of the natural resources of Western Maryland.

Dr. Clark, who spoke at Allegany High School auditorium before county principals and teachers and representatives of local civic organizations, asserted that America has not yet begun to scratch the surface in the use of its natural resources for the betterment of the people.

He cited Denmark as a good example of how some countries with meager resources manage to utilize extensively what nature has given to them.

It is within the realms of the schools, he said, to develop the type of thinking which will lead to an intelligent use of what nature has given us for the enrichment of the economic, cultural and spiritual life of our people.

In a speech before school leaders yesterday morning at Fort Hill High School, Dr. Clark called for the teaching of better ideals in the community and said instructors should teach the necessary skills, when possible, through problems facing the community.

Dr. Clark yesterday visited schools of the Georges Creek section and will visit other county schools today in order to get an over-all picture of the county's educational life.

The two-day conference will end this afternoon with a staff meeting to be held in the office of the Board of Education.

Blue Cross Soon Will Pay Doctor

BALTIMORE, Feb. (AP)—The Blue Cross Plan with which one out of four Marylanders insure themselves against unexpected hospital bills will be expanded this fall to take over the doctor's bill for a monthly fee.

The new plan—Maryland Medical Service—will be effective in September on a statewide basis. It supplements Maryland Hospital Service, which was organized 10 years ago, and will be available only to hospital service members.

This is how the two insurance plans will work:

Maryland Hospital Service now makes it possible for subscribers to pay monthly fees and receive in return 21 days of hospitalization in a semi-private room in any one year, plus costs of operating room, laboratory and X-ray service.

Maryland Medical Service will pay doctor's bills.

The subscriber will pay a monthly fee to be approved the the State Insurance Commission and receive in return 21 days of medical attention in any year, or an operation if required.

Rates will be fixed just as the hospital rates are fixed, with group plans through employers and individual plans for the individual or family.

The physician or surgeon will collect his bill from the Maryland Medical Service, thus eliminating bad debts.

Maryland Medical Service fixes the fees with machinery available for appealing from its decisions.

Subscribers will be free to choose their own physicians and surgeons.

Final testimony in a dispute between the company and the union as to the distribution of a one-cent wage adjustment in last May's Celanese contract settlement will be held here early in March.

A three-day session ended yesterday afternoon leaving still undiscussed certain jobs within two departments at the plant, and the case was continued until a mutually agreed date is set.

The case involved about $180,000 but prior agreement had already been reached on about 30 per cent of that amount provided to settle wage inequalities charged by the union.

Coleman To Head Unity Conference

William Boyd Coleman, representing Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, was elected president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference at a meeting in Allegany Trades Council hall last night.

Other officers named were W. J. Jones, Boilermakers Union, first vice president; Jean Bourckel, Railway Trainmen, second vice president; G. Edwin Parker, Railway Trainmen, treasurer, and Paul L. Burley, Bus Drivers, secretary.

Trustees will be John F. Chisholm, Rubber Workers; J. H. Humbertson, Machinists Local 212, and Steve Freno, Blacksmiths.

Laymen To Meet On Heart Disease

In observance of "National Heart Week," a discussion of heart diseases will feature a meeting of the Allegany County Lay Health Council next Tuesday, February 10, at 8 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson, local specialist, will discuss the effects of rheumatic fever on the heart.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, public health nurse, will present a typical case history involving a heart ailment.

Dr. Jacobson is chairman of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever Association, which is planning to hold a fund-raising campaign next week in observance of "National Heart Week," which opens Sunday.

Funds will be used for research regarding the prevention and cure of rheumatic fever, which kills more school age children in the United States each year than any other disease.

Health Department officials disclosed yesterday it is hoped to establish a cardiac clinic in Allegany County in the near future, for the first time.

The public is invited to attend the Tuesday night meeting. Mrs. Arthur Evans, county chairman of the lay health group, will conduct the business meeting.

Friend Baby Improving

James Friend, 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Friend, Bowman's Addition, who underwent an emergency operation January 21 at Memorial Hospital was reported on the road to recovery last night.

A physician said the child was brought to his office by his parents, suffering from diphtheria. The baby was rushed to the hospital, where another physician performed the emergency operation, opening the baby's throat and inserting a silver tube to enable him to breathe.

Veterans Urged To Take Interest In City Politics

Kloran Tells Amvets To Register, Vote

James Kloran, chairman of the Veterans Committee on Civic Affairs, spoke at the meeting of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, last night, and urged that members of the post take an active interest in getting new voters registered and getting more people out to vote.

Kloran, long active in veterans organizations here and a veteran of both World Wars, said registration days are February 16 and February 23.

"Too seldom," Kloran said, "is attention called to the necessity to register if you want to vote." There are many young people, and a few older folks in the city, who have not registered and are eligible. These are the people who should take an interest in civic and governmental affairs.

"Too often," Kloran continued, "has it been the practice of professional politicians to say little about registration days and they seldom make any real effort to get people to register. This is because they are afraid of the possible power of the ballot, when the young people, especially the young veterans and their wives, go to the polls and vote."

Post Commander Norman Gerdeman announced that the nominating committee will make its report at the next meeting, February 19, and at that time additional nominations for post officers may be made from the floor.

The annual post election will be held March 13 from 11 a. m. until 7 p. m. at the post home, he announced. Members of the nominating committee include Frank Riehl, Turner Summers, Robert Baker, Joseph Harvey and William Smith.

Gerdeman announced a public dance at the post home Saturday from 9 to 12 o'clock, with music by Bill Gray's Orchestra. Members are admitted without charge.

The membership approved plans to install kitchen equipment in the kitchen at the new post homes, and cater to dinners, banquets, etc. The post recently moved into the old Belvedere Theater building, 139 Baltimore Street, and has completely renovated ond redecorated the quarters. Open house nights are being planned, members of the house committee said, to be held once each month.

Wastepaper Drive Hits 44 Tons

A total of approximately 44 tons of wastepaper has been collected this week, it was announced last night.

200 Bedford Road Residents Attend Water Meeting

Fey Outlines Plan For 8-Inch Lines

Upwards of 200 residents of the Bedford Road area met last night at the Bedford Road Volunteer Firemen's Hall to discuss plans for obtaining city water from the city of Cumberland for the community.

W. O. Wolford presided at the meeting and introduced John T. Fey, local attorney, who has been representing the 385 families of the community in their negotiations with the city.

Fey explained that the city has offered to run a series of eight inch lines from the main water conduit from the dam to Bedford Road, with one of these eight inch lines intersecting the main line at about every half mile. Residents, working in small community groups, would then be permitted to lay smaller lines to tie into these main feeders, and pipe water to their homes.

For Immediate Needs

The attorney said the plan is not intended to lend much toward the development of the area in the future, but is intended to get city water to as many homes as possible now.

Fey declared the cost will be from $250 to $325 per family, including the cost of laying individual lines, interceptor lines from the eight inch mains, meter charges and tappage fees. In addition to this charge, each family will pay for water used at a regular rate, just as consumers in the city are billed.

There was little opposition to the proposal, and residents generally indicated they want city water and expect it to cost something. A few present urged further consideration, with the idea of laying a main line parallel with Bedford Road, so that the entire area can have sufficient water for future expansion.

Paul Mertens, president of the fire company, particularly urged that the main line along the road be laid, rather than feeders at intervals. He said, "I believe we must plan for the future growth of the community, because when water is available people who own lots here will begin building. Money spent now on a partial plan will be wasted, and we will have to spend more money in the future. If the present mayor and council won't work out a long-range plan we can afford, maybe another mayor and council will."

Need Definite Plan

Calvin Keiter suggested that petitions be circulated among the residents so it can be determined how many persons will co-operate with a plan to lay the eight-inch intersecting lines now, and will use city water.

Fey said he will prepare the necessary petitions and forms and place them in the hands of the community water committee so that the program can be pursued further. He declared, "We must go to the city officials with some kind of definite plan."

It was indicated that further meetings will be held at dates to be announced.

YMCA Attendance Shows Increase

Total attendance for all activities at Central YMCA during 1947 amounted to 255,091, an increase of about 47,000 persons over 1946, Robert L. Sisson, general secretary, said yesterday.

The figures were prepared for the annual report to the National YMCA Council.

In addition, the "Y" conducted personal interviews with 490 individuals, regarding church activities, personal problems and social welfare.

A total of 1,253 swimming lessons were given, and 449 passed beginner's swimming tests. Ninety separate groups held 652 sessions in "Y" activities during the year, while 45 groups under the joint auspices of the "Y" and outside organizations held 210 sessions.

News Briefs

South End Fire Company extinguished a flue fire at the home of L. L. Jewell, 937 Maryland Avenue at 8:45 last night. There was no damage.

NO ONE IS INJURED IN BUS-CAR CRASH

A car driven by C. T. Davis, Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday collided with a school bus operated by Harry Strawderman, Route 3, city, at the intersection of the Vocke Road with Route 40 at Allegany Grove.

State Police reported that both vehicles were going west and that the school bus was attempting to turn around at the intersection when the accident happened. Davis apparently failed to see Strawderman's signal, officers said, and attempted to pass, striking the left front section of the bus, then going into a snow bank on the left side of the road, and skidding back to the right side of the highway into another snow bank.

There was no damage to the school bus, and about $100 damage to the car. No one was injured in the accident, police reported. No charges were preferred. Trooper Harry Bosley investigated.

A. And P. Clerks Accept $3 Wage Increase Offer

New Contract Will Provide $35 Minimum

Members of Local 886, Retail Food Clerks, AFL, employed at the A. and P. Super-Market here, last night accepted a contract proposal which will provide a $3 weekly across-the-board wage increase, J. N. Mayberry, Baltimore, international representative of the union, announced.

The new contract, which will become effective March 1, will provide for a $2.50 flat increase for all members retroactive to December 20, 1947, which will amount to a flat $3 boost, he said.

All 73 workers of the store affiliated with Local 886 will receive an increase under the agreement and the new starting rate has been increased to $35 a week, he said.

The agreement, reached amicably at a meeting between union and company representatives in Altoona, Pa., Tuesday, also contains a number of conditions which will benefit all employes, Mayberry said.

Although all major issues have been settled, the step-up scale is still in the process of negotiations, he said.

Sufficient application cards were signed last night, he added, for the union to petition the NLRB for a union shop election as required by the Taft-Hartley Law. The present contract includes a union shop clause.

Mike Roth, representative of the Meat Cutters Union, which represents meat department employes, said the contract for Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, does not expire until August.

Also present at the ratification meeting were C. E. Stutzman, acting business manager for the union, William Krapf, president of Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, and Roth.

Piedmont Garage Damaged By Fire

Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, slightly damaged a three-car garage on West Fairview Street, Piedmont, last night. The blaze was found by firemen in a pit of the unoccupied garage and did not spread to the other two garages where cars were parked.

The fire was discovered about 10:30 o'clock and when firemen arrived, they reported, they found the lock on the garage had been broken.

J. G. Schramm, West Fairview Street, owner of the garage, estimated damage would be about $25, and said is it covered with insurance.

Tri-Town Company No. 1, Piedmont, and Potomac Company No. 2, Westernport, put out the fire.

3 Enlist In Navy

Three area men enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting station in the past week, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader.

John Junior Adams, son of Mrs. Mary J. Adams, Mexico Farms, reenlisted for three years. He has a previous service record of 50 months. He was transferred to the Naval Receiving Station at Washington, D. C., for assignment.

William Lewis Myers, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers, Nikep, enlisted for three years as an apprentice seaman.

Charles Edward Vinci, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vinci, Nikep, enlisted for three years as an apprentice seaman.

Myers and Vinci were sent to Great Lakes Training Center, Ill., for recruit training.

Patch Tests Given

Tuberculosis patch tests were given yesterday morning to pupils of the Mt. Royal School by Miss Margaret Morrissey, public health nurse, to determine if any of the children have positive reactions.

Health Department officials said the patch test, if positive, does not necessarily indicate that the child has tuberculosis, but that it does mean that an investigation into the child's health and home conditions is warranted. X-rays are also made as a further check.

The patch test program was sponsored by the school Parent-Teachers Association. Members of the P-TA who assisted in the work include Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. Herman Hoffman, Mrs. W. Royce Hodges, Jr., Mrs. John Groobey, and Mrs. Lewis Millholland, Jr.

Playground Group Meets

The Cumberland Playground Association met last night at 7:30 at the City Hall. It was announced that a letter had been written by the group to Rep. J. Glenn Beall, concerning the proposed use of a war surplus building at Constitution Park, as part of the Association's program.

Motorist Forfeits Bond

Albert W. Klavuhn, Route 1, city, forfeited $6.45 bond in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of passing on a curve on Route 40 in LaVale Tuesday. Trooper Harry S. Bosley preferred the charge.

More Snowfall Is Predicted In Tri-State Area

Storm Expected To Reach Here By Noon

With temperatures below freezing all day yesterday, and the city and Tri-State area blanketed under 12 to 18 inches of snow, the weatherman last night predicted upward of three more inches of snow for the area early today.

City, county and state road crews worked diligently all night Wednesday and all day Thursday clearing streets, roads and highways, but only main arteries were reported open last night, and State Police said most roads were covered with ice and snow in spots and advised the use of chains and care in driving.

In the city, numerous streets are still clogged with snow as are some secondary roads in outlying sections. The heavy snowfall and limited equipment, created a problem for city, county and state street and highway officials, but efforts were made to open as many lanes as possible.

Temperature here at a late hour last night was reported at 24 above zero. Maximum for the day was 31 and minimum 21. Comparable mercury reading prevailed throughout the area.

Heavy Fall In Garrett

The most recent in a series of blizzards left Garrett County under 11 inches of snow by yesterday morning, with drifts as deep as 20 inches. Heavy falls were also reported in the northeast and north central sections, with 10 to 11 inches recorded at Conowingo, Cecil County, and nine inches at Benson in Harford County. Cambridge and Salisburg suffered nothing worse than rain, but the rest of Maryland fell victim to sleet and quickly froze. George E. McCabe, Coast Guard captain of the Port of Baltimore, said the Cutter Chinook reported slow navigation in the upper Chesapeake Bay, where it was escorting the Tanker Sylvia to Philadelphia in quest of emergency fuel for Maryland.

McCabe said there was heavy packed ice between Grove Point and the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, with a north wind blowing ice floes southward and toward the western shore. The lower bay was reported 60 to 80 per cent under broken ice, except at Sandy Point, where the ice was packed.

He also disclosed that dragging operations for a coast guard plane missing since Jan. 24 had been suspended, but a 56-foot patrol boat with special sounding gear continued the search yesterday.

MAN MISSING TEN YEARS DECLARED DEAD

Floyd E. Brant, one-time resident of this city, was declared legally dead yesterday in a decree signed in Circuit Court by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

A petition had been filed a couple of months ago by Morgan C. Harris, attorney for Dorothy E. Brant, 6 Elder Street, here, asking that Brant, her father, be declared dead.

Testimony was taken and notices published of the action, and no indication that Brant is alive or can be located has materialized.

Miss Brant claims that her father left Cumberland on or about September 1, 1937, after indicating that he planned to go elsewhere to live. Other relatives appear to know nothing of his whereabouts, and he has not been heard from by any of the family since, the Court was informed.
